

Court Fines Twenty-nine

Liquor Enforcement Places 27 Students On Probation

Lincoln Municipal Court has fined 29 University students for illegal possession of liquor since the beginning of the fall semester, Philip Colbert, Dean of Student Affairs said Thursday.

Of these 29, the University has given one a conduct warning, 27 have been put on conduct probation and one has been dismissed, Colbert said. The dismissed student was already on conduct probation for a previous offense.

Four Arrested Saturday
Most recently found guilty by the municipal court were four students picked up by civil officials Saturday.

One was a student at Creighton University in Omaha and the other three were students at the University. Their discipline has been handled in the same manner as the other 26 violators.

While on conduct probation, Colbert said, a student cannot be an officer in any University sponsored organizations such as Kosmet Klub or AUF. He also cannot represent the University officially in a capacity such as a member of an intercollegiate athletic team, a stock-judging team, the University Players, or travel with the band, he said.

However, this would not affect the student's position as an officer in a fraternity, sorority, organized co-op or other organizations not sponsored by the University.

Rules Defined

Colbert said that if persons over 21 years of age were picked up for drinking on property privately owned by an organized house, he could not be arrested by civil authorities since he would not be violating state laws prohibiting possession of liquor by minors or drinking on state property.

He would, however, be violating a rule set up by the Board of Regents. Fraternities, sororities and other organizations exist at the University only under the jurisdiction of the Regents. The student could then be disciplined by the Regents, Colbert said.

Haiti Dancers To Perform Parents Day

Jean Leon Destine and his Haitian dance group, will star in person in "Fiesta in Haiti" to be presented in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. on Oct. 30.

Tickets go on sale at the Union on Oct. 25. Price for students, with ID cards, is 75 cents. Adult tickets are $1.

Dances of Haiti are unlike that of any other country, for they combine the primitive rituals of Africa with the refined social dances of 18th century French court life. "Fiesta in Haiti" illustrates this mixture.

"Witch Doctor," a voodoo ceremony in which evil spirits are exercised from the body of the patient, and "La Martinique," a dance which reflects the French influence, are two of the dances on the scheduled program.

A historical ceremony entitled, "Revolt of the Slaves," in which the slaves swear to fight to the death for their country's freedom, is another dance sequence.

Accompanying Destine, will be Alphonse Cimber, internationally acclaimed the "genii of the drums."

Wilson Apologizes For Remarks

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson apologized Wednesday for his "inept remarks" about unemployment and appeared to have healed a rift with Illinois Gov. William Stratton. Wilson spoke to an audience of 1500 at a Republican rally Wednesday and said he was sorry for bringing up bird dogs at the same time he was talking about people.

He then accused "our left wing opponents" of "hitting below the belt" by "deliberate misrepresentation" of his now-famed remark about bird dogs and kennel dogs at a news conference in Detroit Monday.

President Celebrates Birthday

President Eisenhower celebrated his 64th birthday Thursday night at a small steak dinner with his family and close friends. The chef at the Brown Palace Hotel in Denver baked a small cake with a single candle for the occasion.

Sixteen guests, including Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud attended what a hotel spokesman said was "nothing pretentious." However, stacks of cakes, books and other gifts have deluged the President in his Denver White House.

The President planned a full day for his birthday, including a visit to his executive office on Lowry Air Force Base and the polishing of the text of his farm policy speech to be given Friday at Indianapolis.

Hutchins Blasts American Universities

The American university has been described as a sort of a luxury hotel where young people pass a few years and "accidentally emerge more enlightened than when they went in", by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former president and chancellor of the University of Chicago.

Hutchins said it is possible to get an education at an American university, but that it seldom happens. He said the whole standard of education has been pulled down by parents and taxpayers who insist that their children go to universities, but not necessarily to learn anything.

He claimed that American schools turn out the best engineers and doctors in the world but that they produce few real students. He also stated that American students do not develop independent habits of reading and studying.

Control of Congress Worries McCarthy

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) says Republicans have "been hurt a lot" by the Eisenhower administration farm program in the fight to retain control of Congress and that "whether we still can slip through, I don't know."
