Huskers To Battle Oregon State Before Capacity Band Day Crowd

Starting Lineups
 Oregon State: L.E. Andrew Loehr, L.T. Bill Holloran (C), Bob Rizzert, L.G. Charles Bryant, Larry Stevens, C. Bob Oberlin, Bill Johnson, R.G. Robert Wagner, Ron Schbacker, R.T. Don Glantz, Wes Edler, R.E. Jack Briley, Ray Westfall, Q.B. Dan Brown, Jack Peterson, L.H. Ron Clark, Tom Burr, R.H. Willie Greenlaw, Bob Sutton, P.B. Bob Smith
 Officials: Referee, W. P. Astle, Oregon State; umpire, Carl Koenig; judge, Bo McAllis-Oklahoma A & M; linesman, Bert Beresford, Colorado.

Oregon State and Nebraska will meet here Saturday in an sectional battle before a capacity Band Day crowd. Kickoff is 2 p.m.
 The two teams have similar records and similar experiences in their early games. Oregon has won one game in three, defeating Idaho, 13-0, in an opener. Washington and Oregon State defeated the Huskers.
 Nebraska has one victory in three, defeating Iowa State, 13-0. The Cornhuskers bowed to Oregon State and Kansas State.
 Both clubs have been haunted by fumbles all through their early games.
 The Cornhuskers worked this week to smooth an offense that sputtered throughout the first two games.

punts only four yards.
Defense Good
 Defensively, the Nebraska eleven played its best game against Kansas State, permitting but one sustained march by the Wildcats, but that one provided a victory at 7 to 3. The Huskers had held a 3-0 advantage well into the fourth period.

ing efforts of the Huskers, they have averaged 229 yards a game in net yards gained.
 Oregon State, according to Don Strasheim who scouted them for the Cornhuskers, has three teams of about equal caliber. The Beavers, however, do not substitute by teams, sending in fresh players by positions.
 age passers and both are excellent punters," Strasheim said. They are averaging 45 yards. Westfall had a 50-yard average as a punter in high school.
 Coach Bill Glassford indicated some shifts would be made in the Cornhusker backfield to strengthen the passing attack.

Comstock Moves Up
 Willie Greenlaw likely will be back with the first unit in order to have his left arm in readiness to throw passes. Dennis Korinek, who has averaged 15 yards per carry in nine rushes, will be moved to left halfback of the second unit which will bring Don Comstock back to right halfback with the same team.
 Coach Glassford said the Cornhusker line played the best game, offensively and defensively, that it has shown this season in losing to Kansas State. He pointed out that K-State was able to return

The Cornhuskers came out of the Wildcat fray with only the usual bumps and bruises. Andy Loehr, starting left end, was forced to take it easy in the early practice days of the week because of a leg hurt.
Band Day
 Saturday will be Band Day, the "In Ray Westfall and co-Captain Jim Withrow, the Oregon Staters have two better-than-averannual "splash of color" when several thousand high school music makers combine their talents for a halftime show along with the Cornhusker Band.

 Oregon State and Nebraska will be meeting for the eighth time. Nebraska has won five, lost two, in the series.
 A rally is scheduled for tonight following the regular route ending up on the Union steps.

Next Week NU To Face Buff Substitute Who Leads National Rushers

How's this for irony?
 The nation's number one rusher isn't even listed as a first-stringer. That's the interesting case of Colorado's sensational young sophomore, John "The Beast" Bayuk, who took over top spot in the nation with a 183-yard night at Arizona last week.
 The 221-pound bulldozer, who can smash over you or run away from you with deceptive speed, isn't the polished fullback that Emerson Wilson is. Wilson, a sensation himself last year as a sophomore when he topped the Buffs in rushing with 591 net yards, is a better operator in the spin series so vital to a single wing team. And he's a better defensive player by dint of a year's more experience.
 Bayuk now has 459 yards to his credit for a 6.7 average.
 One observer at Tucson compared John to the famed Minnesota star, Bronco Nagurski, after Saturday night's game. He was Pete Somers, who was a quarterback at Minnesota during the days of Nagurski.

 "Bayuk reminds me more of another All-American fullback at Minnesota—Sheldon Biese," said Somers. "They both run the same way, with speed and maneuverability. Of course, Bayuk has the power to run over a tackler, too, but not as much as Nagurski had."
 Bayuk, meanwhile, is taking his suddenly-acquired fame calmly. He has a big problem that's worrying him no end.
 "I've got to win a starting job before anything else," he grins. "As far as I'm concerned I'm still a second-stringer. I know I have a lot to learn before I'm as smooth as Em (Wilson) but I'm sure-going to try hard."
 There was never any question that he'd be tough enough to play college football.

What Is Real Nickname Given To Oregon State?

By "COKE" FRIEDMAN
 Sports Staff Writer
 Question for all you "authorities" on football. What is the nickname of the Oregon State team? Your reporter got answers to this question that ranged all the way from Ducks, to Bearcats to Drecks. (Last name courtesy of "Dude" D.)
 Sitting in the pressbox which is entirely enclosed I couldn't hear any of the roars of the crowd, but I was told afterward that the Nebraska rooters? BOOED their own team. If that is what is called "school spirit" then I am VERY proud to be able to attend Nebraska, cause Nebraska is one of the few schools which has that kind of "school spirit." Also wondered if when the crowd did cheer for Nebraska, were they cheering for the team coming out of the game, or were they cheering because a new team was going into the game?
 Heard a rumor that Tulaugis in Boulder is so crowded on football Saturdays that you have to have a reservation to get in. Hope it is just propaganda put out by the owner. Speaking of Tulaugis I wonder how many of those who are Saw Pev Evans, Don Glantz, and Bill Holloran all walking down the street together, and then realized I was sure glad that I was just a spectator at the games.
 Nickname is the "Beavers" for all those who are still wondering about the question that was directed to the football "authorities." Yes, I guessed wrong too!
 Should be a great spectacle at halftime this Saturday with bands from all over the state performing in the stadium. Some say that an even better spectacle is seen before the game from the porches of the respective frats, dorms, etc.
 Paragraph about school spirit mix you up a bit? What I meant to say was that most schools are for their teams, and very, very few boo their own teams.
SPECIAL CONGRATULATIONS GO TO MR. AND MRS. BILL TAYLOR, WHO HAVE JUST BECOME PARENTS. Their new son, Mark Douglas, was born on Monday, October 11, at the Lincoln General Hospital. Mrs. Taylor, the former Joyce Finney, was a Gamma Phi Beta here at Nebraska. Bill is one of the top guards on the University football team. So, for some rugged football this Saturday afternoon, keep your eye on Number 62.
 Bye now.
