All University Fund

Campaign's First Week Nets $6000 For Four Charities

All University Fund solicitations reached $6000 the first week of the drive, Phyllis Colbert, AUF president, announced Monday.

Miss Colbert said that she expected the amount to be approximately $8000 by the completion of the second week of AUF campaigning. "I am particularly enthused about the tremendous cooperation we are receiving from the students, they seem more interested and willing to help this year than they have in past years." The drive will officially close Thursday, but money can be sent to the AUF office in the Union Building at any time during the year.

Faculty and Booth solicitations have been completed and solicitations for independent students living in Lincoln is almost finished. Fraternity and sorority donations should reach over $3500, Miss Colbert said, and the Lincoln drive should amount to $1100.

Coed board members made three trips to Omaha last week to contact University medical students at the College of Medicine. Their efforts netted approximately $140.

AUF Board contributions totaled $111 and Ag campus donations are approaching $400. Chuck Tompkins, AUF board member in charge of Sellen Quadrangle solicitations reported that he was getting "splendid help" from his workers at the dorm and he said that he hoped to collect $500.

Fraternities who have Ugliest Man on the Campus candidates will start active campaigning for their favorites this week. UMOG will be elected at the general election Tuesday and will be presented at the Missouri-Nebraska Football game, Oct. 30.

AUF is dividing this year's total between Cancer Society, Mental Health Foundation, World University Service and the Lincoln Community Chest.

To Discuss 'Peacetime Atom'

Voight To Address Banquet Honoring Foreign Students

The annual Friendship Dinner to honor foreign students on campus will be held Nov. 2 in the Union Ballroom.

Guest speaker for the evening will be A. F. Voight, assistant director of the Institute for Atomic Research at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

Voight in a 40-minute speech, "Atoms for Peace," will discuss the peacetime uses of atomic energy and the opinions of other countries on the various proposed disarmament programs.

The Friendship Dinner is jointly sponsored by the Religious Welfare Council and the Nebraska Council on World Affairs.

Price of the tickets is $1.50. They will be distributed by NUCWA workers and representatives of the Religious Welfare Council to the organized houses. Tickets will go on sale Monday in Union booths.

The burmese menu will consist of a rice dish covered with chicken, a salad of bananas and brown sugar chunks, a stiff strawberry

Union To Sponsor Dancing Lessons

The second in a series of five dance lessons will be held in the Union Ballroom from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

An estimated 200 persons attended last week's lessons given by Donna McCandless, professional Lincoln dance instructor and a graduate of the University. Miss McCandless has given the lessons at the Union since 1947.

The remaining three lessons will be held November 9, 16, and 18 and will include the fox trot, waltz and jitterbug. Next semester a group of lessons will be conducted for intermediate and advanced students to follow up the beginning lessons.

Green To Discuss UMT, Farming Issue In Speech

Candidate Pledged To 90 Per Cent Parity

James F. Green, Democratic candidate for the short-term U. S. Senate seat vacated by the death of Hugh Butler, will speak tonight at 8 p.m. at Love Library Auditorium.

Green's speech will be the first in a proposed series of political speeches sponsored by The Nebraskan and the University Conventions Committee.

The speech was originally scheduled for the Union Ballroom at the same time. Due to a conflict in dates, the Convocation will be held in Love Library. There has been no change in time.

Dr. Leroy Laase, chairman of the department of speech and dramatic art, will be the chairman of the convocation. Dick Fellman, Nebraskan staff member, will preside over the meeting.

Green has been asked to discuss the issues of Universal Military Training and the farm problem. The farm problem has been a dominating issue during the pre-election campaigning.

The question of UMT was selected since it is currently under discussion by military leaders and the selective service laws are due for revision during the next session of Congress.

After Green's talk, there will be a chance for public question of the farm problem, Green has said he is "pledged to the maintenance of 90 per cent of parity price supports. Business and industry have other compensatory advantages."

"There is no need for UMT at the present time," Green said. "I would like to see the draft discontinued, but this cannot be done until such a time as the national and international situation allows."

"The present approach," he said, "needs to stress a build up of reserve strength."

Green is an Omaha attorney and a former chairman of the Democratic Party in Douglas County. A past commander of the Omaha American Legion Post, he ran twice for the post of national commander.

JAMES GREEN

Reynolds To Address Biz Ad Group

Senator Sam Reynolds will be guest speaker at the Biz Ad Honors Banquet, Tuesday, Oct. 26. Senator Reynolds was appointed as the U.S. Senator from Nebraska upon the death of the late Senator Hugh Butler.

Jerry Jensen, president of the Business Administration Student Council and toastmaster for the evening program, announced today that Reynolds will give a non-political speech on his experiences in Washington.

Reynolds, in addition to his position as a Nebraska senator, is vice president and general manager of the Reynolds-Udpike Coal Company of Omaha. He has also served as civil defense director for the Omaha area and directed the flood fight there in April of 1952.

Other events scheduled for the banquet will be the presentation by Nathan Gold, of the Gold Key Awards to ten outstanding freshmen in the college of Business Administration. Homer B. Kenison, president of Beta Gamma Sigma, will present the new members of the national honorary fraternity of business administration.

Dr. Earl S. Fullbrook, dean of the college, will make awards to scholarship winners in the college. The banquet is to be held in the Union ballroom at 6 p.m. and is open to all University students. Tickets for the banquet are now on sale by all members of the Biz Ad student council, by Dean Fullbrook's office and are also available at the Union ticket booth.

NU Chancellor Urges Study Of Population

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin has suggested to the University Board of Regents that a study of future population trends be studied as a measure of their significance on the state and nation's educational and manpower facilities.

The Regents agreed that the study should be made, but Dr. Robert Devoe expressed the opinion that the study should be made by such a group as the American Council of Education where "necessary facilities" are available.

Faculty appointments made: Norman E. Landgren, assistant in agricultural economics.

Wilber L. Bluhm, agricultural extension assistant.

Arlen E. Lutz, agricultural extension assistant county agent at large.

John S. Russell, assistant in agronomy.

Kazys K. Alminas, undergraduate teaching assistant in chemistry.

Dorothy Zimmerman, instructor in English.

T. S. Yao, assistant professor in poultry husbandry.

Doyle H. Free, instructor in poultry husbandry.

Norris Heinemann, assistant in educational television.

Howell Memorial

Plaque Presentation To Open NU Theatre

Dedication services for the new $400,000 Howell Memorial Theatre will be held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, before an invited audience.

The program will consist of a preview performance of "Death of a Salesman" at 2 p.m., followed by the presentation of a bronze plaque bearing an inscription of dedication to H. Alice Howell, who worked in the University Theatre program for 40 years.

Dr. Leroy T. Laase, chairman of the department of speech and dramatic arts, will preside. Mrs. Gorge Abel of Lincoln, a University Theatre alumna and theatre assistant under Miss Howell, will deliver a short dedication address.

Searl Davis of Plattsmouth, a University Theatre alumnus, will present the memorial plaque, and John K. Selleck, general business manager and comptroller, will accept it for the University.

After the ceremonies at the front of the stage, a tour of the new facilities will be conducted by members of University Masquers. Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi, of which Miss Howell was a member, will serve as ushers.

Miss Howell served the University theatre from 1900 to 1940, holding the titles of professor of dramatic art and director of University Players.

She formed the first student dramatic group, the Dramatic Club in 1900, and in 1915 she organized the University Players.

With her retirement in March, 1940, the University Players also was retired, and the University Theatre, the present organization, was formed.

During the first season of the new Howell Theatre five plays will be presented: "The Death of a Salesman," "The Madwoman of Chailot," "The Consul," "Mourning Becomes Electra," and "The Shoemakers' Holiday."

NUCWA Coffee Hour Scheduled

The Nebraska University Council on World Affairs will hold a coffee hour for foreign students, faculty members, and University students in Parlor B, Tuesday from 3 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The coffee hours will serve as a means of having foreign students and American persons become better acquainted and as a kick-off for United Nations Week, which extends from Oct. 24 to 30.

Freshmen Women are especially invited to attend, Sharon Mangold, president, said, since they will be able to become more acquainted with NUCWA before the Activities Mart.

Gamma Phi Beta Wins Carnival

The Wheels Spun To Victory

The "Gamma Phi Wheels" booth took top honors at Penny Carnival Friday with their booth entitled "Roll a Mobile For a Gamma Phi Wheel."

AOPi's, DG's Place

The Gamma Phi Beta's were the winners of the Coed Counselor Penny Carnival Friday with their booth entitled "Roll a Mobile For a Gamma Phi Wheel."

The Gamma Phi booth, which consisted of rolling old-fashioned cars into openings in the side of a large old car, featured a quarter and awarded miniature wheels as prizes.

Second place winner was Alpha Omicron Pi, whose theme was "Score High with A O Pi." In their booth contestants threw footballs into megaphones, and were awarded pennants and footballs.

Delta Gamma's booth, "Save our Ship, USS-DG," won third place. Contestants threw hoops on the Delta Gamma anchor, and winners received badges reading "Our Hero."

Honorable mention was won by Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Phi.

Judges included Mary Jane Mulvaney, physical education instructor, James Pittinger, alumni secretary, and Dr. Wesley Poe of the Junior Division.

Foreign Student Applications Due

Interviews for foreign students wanting to serve on the Foreign Student Activities Committee will be held Tuesday.

Interested persons can pick up application blanks in the Student Council box in the Union basement noon Wednesday.

Blanks should be returned then to the same place. At the same time, an appointment can be made for an interview.

The committee is headed by Gail Katskee, and will plan tours and activities of special interest to foreign students.

CU Migration Rules Announced By AWS

Migration weekend rules for coeds have been announced by the Associated Women's Students Board.

Friday and Saturday nights spent in Colorado will not be counted as one of the six permissible overnights a semester.

Special permission must be obtained from housemothers to leave before Friday night. Parents' permission to leave for such a trip must also be obtained.

Conservatives Accent Youth

Britain's Labor Party was challenged Monday in its bid for a return to power as Prime Minister Winston Churchill put the accent on youth in a major reshuffle of his Conservative government.

The shake-up was the most far-reaching since World War II, and will bring in seven new faces besides shuffling 17 other ministerial posts. Churchill, who will be 80 next month, remained at the head of the government and indicated he would carry on until the 1955 elections if his health permits.

Anthony Eden continues as foreign secretary and does not get the position of deputy prime minister at this time. The move should end Conservative Party complaints that too many "old faces" were hanging on in the government.

Powell To Face Perjury

Clyde L. Powell, who stepped out as assistant FHA commissioner last spring, has had a criminal contempt charge filed against him by a special grand jury investigating alleged irregularities in the federal housing program.

The jury said Powell had refused to tell whether he took the official diaries for the years 1946-54 with him when he left the office. Powell had previously refused to give this information last week and had been directed by U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts.

Letts said Powell will be tried on the criminal contempt charge next Wednesday. In contempt cases, the punishment upon conviction is entirely within the discretion of the judge.

Hazel Deaths Mount

The death list left in the wake of Hurricane Hazel mounted as the possibility of more than 100 deaths in Canada increased after officials put 64 persons in the missing category. The bodies of 56 victims have been recovered.

One of the worst hurricanes ever to hit the North American continent, Hazel has taken 168 lives known to date. Nine new storm deaths in the United States boosted the toll to 91. The total for Haiti is 21.

In this country, North and South Carolina were the hardest hit. President Eisenhower Sunday ordered "blank-check" federal aid to large areas in both these states.

Stringfellow Resigns

Rep. Douglas Stringfellow (R-Utah) has resigned as a candidate for re-election after confessing his story of war heroism was a hoax.

In a surprise radio and television speech Saturday night, Stringfellow admitted to a Utah audience that he was never an OSS agent or hero in World War II. He did not resign from the seat he held in Congress since January of 1951.
