

KK Names Skit Finalists

Kappa Sigs, Sig Eps, ZBT's, Beta's, Theta Xi's, Delts, In

The six finalists to participate in the Kosmet Klub Fall Revue are Beta Theta Xi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Xi, Zeta Beta Tau, and Kappa Sigma. The theme of the Revue which is to be given Oct. 29, is "Fabulous Fables."

The Beta skit is titled "The Devil and Dean Greenhall," and tells of a student who sells his soul to the devil in order to have everything at college. Al Holbert is the skitmaster.

The Delts will present "Coal Black and the Seven Giants," a tale of the lovely Coal Black, who, lost in the forest, comes upon the hut of seven giants. She is followed there and poisoned by a witch. In charge of the skit is Dick Farner.

"Peter Rabbit" is the name of the hero of the Sig Epsilon entry, a real long-hair hare, whose piano playing is interrupted by the jazz music of the nearby "Cat patch." Bob Cotton directs the skit.

A pledge sneak from a fraternity of legionnaires is the theme of Kappa Sigma's "The Desert Sneak," directed by Jim Wengert. Only the wiles of the lovely house mother, Margo, can unite the activities and pledges of the desert fraternity.

"Blondes Prefer College Men," a skit directed by Len Barker is the Theta Xi entry, and it concerns a college boy in search of the perfect love.

Zeta Beta Tau will present "Freddie the Freshman," a skit about a boy who is accompanied through college by a monster, who tries to guard him from college's temptations. Marv Steinberg is skitmaster.

Two curtain acts will be given by a vocal group from Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

The show will open with the Beta skit and the Kappa Sigs will give the closing performance.

AWS Gives Migration, Down Rules

The AWS requirements regarding migration weekend and down nights have been announced.

Friday and-or Saturday nights spent in Colorado for migration will not be counted as one of the six overnights permitted a semester. A woman must get a special permission slip from her housemother to leave before Friday night and must have her parents permission to leave Lincoln for such a trip.

Since downs are being issued this week, AWS reminds women of the rules on downs.

If a woman receives a down in two or more hours, she may not go out after 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday until the down is removed. Downs are effective immediately after a woman receives them and remain in effect until the next down list is received by the housemother or until the down is removed.

The procedure for removing a down is as follows: 1. Talk to the instructor of the course in which the down is received. If the down is removable, complete the work and get a slip from the instructor indicating the down has been removed.

Second, record the removal with the Associate Dean of Women whose office is in Ellen Smith Hall. Third, file the removal with the housemother.

It is no longer necessary to have a down removed through the office of the Dean of Student Affairs. If the down is a mistake, one must still proceed according to the above rules to have it removed.

Chaplain's Workshop

A chaplain's workshop is being sponsored by the YWCA every Thursday at 3 p.m. in Ellen Smith Hall. The purpose of the workshop is to establish after hour meditation services in the sororities and women's residence halls.

Democratic Senatorial Race

Green Criticizes Farm Program, Backs UMT

By Roger Henkle, Staff Writer
Universal Military Training and the Republican Farm program were the major topics of a speech by Democratic senatorial candidate James F. Green at a University convocation Tuesday night.

Green criticized the proposals of the Eisenhower Administration to lower farm price parities and enforce acreage allotments on the farmers. He said he has found the farmers in Nebraska "most disturbed" over the acreage limitations on wheat which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson has been enforcing. There is relatively no surplus in the type of wheat most produced in the state, and it would be impractical for the farmer to plant some of his acres in fodder crops.

Candidate Green, who is being opposed by Republican Roman Hruska, went on to point out that the Republican approach to the farm situation is based on "an assumption that plenty is an evil thing." He declared that Nebraska's cereal grain reserves would last us only two years, and

Alpha Kappa Psi Plans Smoker, Lists Events

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional Business Administration fraternity, will hold a smoker Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Union Room 315. A program of guest speakers, social activities and an industrial tour has been planned for the year. Membership is limited to Biz Ad students with a 5.5 average.

Roger Graul, senior in Business Administration, is president.

that many bins in the state are nearly empty. He urged continuation of the high parity program, which, he said, "has not been an overall money-losing program proportionally."

Concerning UMT, Green favored a "minute-man" approach to national defense, in which he would use the "man at home" in reserve units. Although he suggested a six month's training program for all young men, he recommended it be broken up into ROTC programs and several summer camps, in order not to interfere with a college education.

He felt that the trouble with the present reserve system is that it tends to exclude young men from officer positions, and he agreed with President Eisenhower's suggestion that we must build up and utilize our reserves.

Green opposed what he called the "labeling of a candidate like a can of tomatoes." He feels that a representative should be just what his name applies and no party stooge.

James Green is a practicing lawyer in Omaha and a director of the Metropolitan Utilities District. In the past few years he has served as chairman of the Democratic Party in Douglas County, and acted in many high American Legion posts. He was twice a candidate for Legion National Commander.

Green spoke at the University under the supervision of the Conventions committee and The Nebraska. He was introduced by Dr. Leroy Laase and Dick Fellman.

Last year's UMOC was Tim Hamilton. The annual event is sponsored by the All University Fund. Men's organized houses whose entire membership has contributed to AUF may sponsor a candidate in the election.

Campaigning officially starts this week. Barb Flanagan, AUF special events chairman, announced. She said that in order to vote Tuesday, students must have their ID cards.

The voting which will take place in the Union will be for UMOC and Honorary Commandant. All University students are eligible to vote.

Chancellor, Glick To Talk Thursday

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin and Dr. Frank Z. Glick, director of the 11th annual Nebraska Social Work, will speak at the opening session of the 11th annual Nebraska Social Work Institute Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in Love Library Auditorium.

Sections of discussion at the two day meeting include: "Old Age and Survivors Insurance," "Vocational Rehabilitation of the Handicapped Person," "The Place of Institutions in a Child Care Program," "New Services in Group Work," "Casework with the Family," and Public Welfare Administration.

More than 100 persons are expected to attend the sessions.

Parking

The parking lots behind the men's dorm will be ready for use at the end of next week. Approximately 200 cars can be parked in both lots. It will be for all University faculty and students.

Dinner To Welcome Hardin Family To NU

Nebraskan, Cobs, KK Plan Banquet

Three student organizations have joined forces to sponsor a dinner honoring Chancellor Hardin, Nebraskan editor Tom Woodward, Kosmet Klub president Al Anderson and Corn Cob president Junior Knobel announced. The dinner will be held Sunday, Oct. 31 at 5:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Tickets costing $1.60 for the dinner will go on sale Wednesday morning and may be purchased from KK workers, Cob workers or members of The Nebraskan staff. Tickets will also be available at The Nebraskan office. Plans are being made for a ticket booth in the Union.

Ellsworth DuTeau, Alumni Association president, has tentatively been scheduled as the main speaker as part of the evening program that is to feature several top flight acts from the annual Union talent competitions.

Ticket Sales

Marial Wright and Art Dobson have been named as ticket sales co-ordinators for organized houses and will contact house presidents this week. Both have asked that each house send at least six persons to the dinner. This is the same number each house was asked to supply for the last student sponsored dinner honoring a University Chancellor when Dr. Gustavson left the University.

Woodward said the three organizations had made plans to sponsor the dinner early this month. He noted this was the first all-University student function to welcome the Hardins to the campus.

First Hardin Dinner

"This is the first function that I know of, where the Hardin family has been invited to attend a function presented by the entire student body. All we're doing is handling the details and doing what we can to get the student body interested in the occasion."

Woodward brought out the fact the dinner was being sponsored at a time when a great majority of students would be able to attend.

By having the dinner on Sunday evening, we have selected a time when a great many of the organized houses on the campus will not be serving evening meals," he said. "Also, we have planned a program that will be interesting and entertaining without lasting until late in the evening."

The Cast Rehearses

The four leading characters of "Death of a Salesman" rehearse a tense scene from the play. Seated, Morrill Clute is held back by Eugene Peyroux; Gloria Kollmorgen calms Richard Marrs.

'Death Of A Salesman'

Cast, Lighting, Sound, Ticket Sales Explained

The first major production held in the Howell Memorial Theater will open Oct. 26 and run through Oct. 30.

General admission tickets for "Death of a Salesman" are now on sale for $1.50 from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 to 11 p.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday at the University Theater-box office.

The procedure for season ticket holder's reservation making is to take the season ticket to the University Theater box office and obtain a seat ticket for the night.

"Death of a Salesman" is the story of the last days in the life of a salesman (Dick Marrs) as he seeks to discover by a series of soul-searching revelations of the past life he has lived with his wife (Gloria Kollmorgen), his sons (Morrill Clute and Eugene Peyroux), just where and how he has failed to win success and happiness.

Other members of the cast include: Lou Cohen as Bernard; Don Jensen, Charley; Bill Walton; Ben; Doris Growcock; The Woman; Glenna Berry, Miss Forsythe; Joyce Fangman, Letta.

Jack Chedester, Howard; Jack Parris, Stanley; Bill Wagner, the waiter, and Mary Lou Pittack, Jenny.

Director of the production is Dallas S. Williams, director of the University Theater. Sound and light supervisor is Frank Bock and scenery and stage and hand prop supervisor is John Tolch.

Written By Miller
"Death of a Salesman" was written by Arthur Miller and appeared on Broadway on Feb. 10, 1949, with Lee Cobb and Mildred Dunnock playing the leads. That year the tragedy won the majority of the theatrical awards, among them the Pulitzer Prize.

The setting for the tragedy is unusual in that the cut-away section of the house is shown. Scenery is so constructed that Willy can walk through the walls during his dream sequences. These dream sequences are similar to movie flashbacks.

Music for the performances will be provided by records of the background music played in the original Broadway production.

Speakers surrounding the audience will produce an effect of stereophonic sound. The lighting, like the set, is symbolic and illusionary.

When Willie is in a retrospective mood, the lighting is rosy pink; when Willie's thoughts are in the present, the lighting is in harsh hues of chilly amber. These lighting manipulations which correspond to Willie's moods are so gradual, frequent and such a mobile part of the entire production that one light change is produced almost every minute.

AWS 'Western Roundup' To Corral Coed Freshmen

The annual Associated Women Students Activities Mart, to be held Wednesday from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, will afford freshmen women their first chance to sign up for activities.

"Ride Along With the Western Roundup of Activities" is the theme of the mart, designed for all University coeds, but particularly for freshmen.

The AWS Board advises the coeds to visit all the booths and become acquainted with the activities of each organization before they sign up with specific groups. Coeds will circulate around the outside of the booths which will be arranged in a circle in the middle of the Ballroom. Each booth will consist of a table, and an 8-foot sign with braces will be put up by the organization. Groups may set up their booths after 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Organizations participating in the Mart are: Builders, Associated Women Students, All University Fund, Cornhusker, The Nebraskan, Home Economics Club, Red Cross, Tassel, Women's Athletic Association, Student Union, Methodist Wesley Foundation, Lutheran Youth Fellowship, Ag YWCA, NUCWA, Coed Counselors and Barb Activities Board for Women.

Junior Division Plans Second Study Series

Students joining the second Study Improvement course should register between Oct. 25 and 30 with a representative of Junior Division and Counseling Service in Temporary A.

Four sections of the course will be held, two on Mondays and Wednesdays and two on Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning the week of Nov. 1.

The Study Improvement course is for students who are primarily interested in improving their methods of studying. Such areas as planning time, specific methods of studying assignments, note-taking and preparation for examinations are included. Classes meet two hours a week for three weeks.

Mademoiselle College Board Contest Open

Mademoiselle magazine's College Board contest is now open for coeds who would like to have a chance to help write and illustrate the 1955 August issue.

Any woman undergraduate is eligible to enter the competition. Entries, which are due November 30, are 1500 word criticisms of Mademoiselle's August, September, October or November issue. Coeds should discuss the issue as a whole and then criticize one particular field in detail.

On a separate page, contestants should include name, class year, college and home addresses, major and minor extracurricular activities and summer jobs.

The winning critics will become Board members and write three assignments. The top twenty of the second elimination will become guest editors for the August magazine issue. The guest editors will spend June in New York writing for the issue.

Boulder Rally

A rally will be held in Boulder Saturday at 12:15 p.m. in front of the student union. Following the rally there will be a car parade.

The yell squad will lead the formation at the game of a spirit line consisting of all the migrating fans.

A pre-game skit will be given by the yell squad.

There will be no rally in Lincoln this week.

Burchfield Appointed Nebraskan Ag Editor

Gary Burchfield, Ag College sophomore, has been appointed Nebraskan Ag Editor by the Board of Student Publications. Burchfield was chosen from four applicants.

The resignation of Harriet Ruess, Nebraskan copy editor, was accepted by the board. A new copy editor will be appointed Friday from recommendations of the Nebraskan staff.

Music Sorority Week Climaxed By Choral, Instrumental Concert

The climax of Music Sorority Week this week will be the inter-sorority chorus concert Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

The national professional music sororities participating and their presidents are Delta Omicron, Gail Wellensack; Mu Phi Epsilon, Billie Croft; and Sigma Alpha Iota, Muriel Pickett.

The combined chorus will sing "We Praise Thee, O God," by Saten; "Dearest Lord Jesus," by Bach; and "How Like Unto A Flower," by Schumann with Frances Leacock conducting and Bonnie Young, as accompanist.

Carol Newell and Patricia Alford will be the accompanists and Carolyn Roxberg the conductor for "The Nutcracker Suite, Overture, Trepak, and Waltz of the Flowers," by Tchaikovsky.

A marimba solo, "Rhapsodie Fantasia," by Edwards, will be played by Shirley McPeck. Shirley Hertz and Bonnie Young will form a piano duo and play "Spanish Dance No. 1," by DeFalla, and "Cocaine," by Rachmaninoff. "Seabirds," by Blanchard; "Shenandoah," early American barge song; and "Music," by Read will be sung with Margie Hallas conducting and Barbara Jones as accompanist.

A chili feed for women music students will be held Wednesday at 5 p.m. at Lutheran Student House.

Young Democrats Plan Debate On McCarthy

University Young Democrats will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Social Sciences Building, Room 113.

"Should the Senate Censor McCarthy" will be the topic of a panel discussion. Don Dvorak will take the negative; John Pepper, the affirmative. A secretary will be elected during the business meeting. The meeting is open to all University students.
