

NUCWA Dinner To Feature 'Forkless' Burmese Menu

Voigt's 'Atoms For Peace' Speech, Dress Review To Highlight Event

A Burmese menu, an array of international apparel and a speech on progress in the use of atomic energy for peaceful pursuits will highlight the program of the traditional International Friendship Dinner Tuesday, 6 p.m., in the Union Ballroom.

Arranged by student members of Nebraska University Council on World Affairs and the City Campus Religious Council, the annual dinner program is designed to stimulate student interest in international affairs and to promote international understanding.

The address of the evening will be given by Dr. A. F. Voigt, assistant director of the Iowa State College Atomic Energy Research project. Voigt's address, entitled "Atoms for Peace," will relate the progress in the use of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

The theme of the fashion review is "International Journey." Marina Wischniewsky of Bavaria will begin

Glassford To Speak At Rally

The Nebraska-Kansas rally will be held at the Carillon Tower Wednesday night.

The rally parade will start at 6:45 from Selleck Quadrangle, stop momentarily at the Union, an continue on to the Carillon Tower. The speaker will be Bill Glassford.

Following the Orange Bowl theme, another Miss Miami Beach will hand the Kansas balloon to the team captain to be popped.

Before World War II staging rallies at Carillon Tower was an established tradition. Gradually the trend towards staging rallies in front of the Union was adopted.

The words for two of the Nebraska songs are given below to aid the new students.

THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE NEBRASKA

There is no place like Nebraska, dear old Nebraska U,
Where the girls are the fairest, the boys are the squarest of any old place that we knew.
There is no place like Nebraska, where they're all true blue.
We'll all stick together, in all kinds of weather
For dear old Nebraska U.

HAIL TO THE TEAM

The stadium rings as everyone sings the Scarlet and Cream
Fight on for victory, echo our loyalty, so on mighty men,
The eyes of the land upon every hand are looking at you.
Fight on for victory. Hail the men of Nebraska U.

the parade, wearing a traveling dress.

Others modeling are: Grazina Markevicius of Lithuania wearing a village frock one hundred years old; Valida Jansons of Latvia, wearing a costume featuring amber jewelry.

Costumes From France
Suzanne Ferraris of France wearing the costume "de nicoise," Carrie West, representing Spain, dressed as a Spanish senorita; Myrtle Mulcane of Panama in fiesta apparel; Fe Villafuerte of the Philippine Islands wearing a dress made from a material woven from pineapple fibers.

Nelson Chwange of China will display an all-silk topcoat. Middle Eastern costumes will be displayed by Leila Nagaty, John Zacharia and Subell Zacharia. Featuring a sheep skin hat which is worn in many Russian villages, Valerie Kremensky will model a Ukrainian costume.

Modeling a walking outfit popular on the Continent, Hans Steffen of Germany will end the journey.

Bananas And Rice Balls
The Burmese menu will consist of a rice dish covered with chicken, a salad of bananas and brown sugar chunks, a stiff strawberry jello, rice balls rolled in sugar, and tea.

Station KOLN-TV will interview Dr. Voigt at 3:15 Tuesday and following his television appearance Voigt will be transcribed by Lincoln radio stations.

Tickets Available
In 1945 Voigt was appointed to the staff of the Chemistry Department of Iowa State College and worked on atomic energy projects there. As Assistant to the Director of the Institute, Voigt is in charge of the radiation protection on "health physics" group, a group working on the purification of nuclear reactor fuels for a re-use.

Tickets have been distributed through the organized houses and religious groups by members of NUCWA and CCRC. Tickets may be obtained by calling Alice Todd at Telephone 2-7875 or 2-4896.

Applications Open For Civil Service
Applications for a civil service examination covering a wide range of activities in the fields of science and agriculture will be received up to Nov. 9.

The newly opened examination, Junior Agriculture Assistant Examination, offers a variety of positions.

Mr. O. W. Greene, official recruitment representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has detailed information on the examination. He will be available for consultation with applicants at Agricultural Hall 306 from 3 to 5 p. m. Friday.

Campaigning Increases

Last-minute campaigning rose to a thunderous crescendo Monday as President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson wound up a hard-fought campaign with appeals for voters to turn out in force for congressional and state elections Tuesday.

Republicans were regarded nationally as fighting an uphill battle to retain their slender edge in the House and the Senate, won in 1952. Democrats happily predicted a sweep of both houses and the taking over of six GOP governorships.

An air of uncertainty still remained, generated by disputes over the effectiveness of strenuous last-minute campaigning by Eisenhower and the depth of penetration of what the Democrats called "red smear" against some of their candidates.

The last time control of Congress changed in mid-term elections was in 1946 when the Republicans gained control during Harry Truman's first term.

Troops Sent To Algeria

Anti-French terrorist outbreaks in Algeria prompted French Premier Mendes-France to order three battalions of paratroopers into the area Monday. At least five soldiers and police have been assassinated.

Algerian authorities reported 30 or more bombings and deliberately set fires Sunday night resulting in more than half a million dollars in property damage. A communique Monday morning said "perfect calm" had been restored.

The outbreaks of violence were the first in Algeria, which is sandwiched between the violence-ridden protectorates of French Morocco and Tunisia. Extra French security forces have been made available to the French commander in Algiers.

Figures Don't Lie?

Manufacturers received more new orders in September than in any other month since mid-1953 when the business downturn first started, the Commerce Department said Sunday. They also said manufacturers' sales climbed slightly and that the backlog of "unfilled orders" rose for the first time in 19 months.

These figures have been used by the administration to support its stand that the economy is once again on the upswing. They have already reported a 358,000 unemployment drop in October, although employment failed to make an equal gain.

The Commerce Department attributed the spurt in manufacturers' orders largely to an increase in governmental military orders. Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks said last June the administration would give the economy "a little nudge" by stepping up defense orders.

China Desires Peace

Indian Prime Minister Nehru says China's Communist rulers want peace to carry out 15 or 20 years of intensive industrial development. Nehru just finished a 10-day visit to Peking.

"My visit to China has led me to believe the people of China are anxious to have peace and avoid war," he declared. He said Mao Tse-tung thought the Geneva agreements ending the Indochina war "had eased the world situation greatly, but of course it continues to be difficult and full of problems."

Theta Xi Skit Cops Top Honors; Delts, ZBT's Also Win Mention

Mary Gattis and Ron Clark reigned as Nebraska Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet at the Kosmet Klub fall revue Friday night.

Miss Gattis is a senior in Arts and Sciences and a member of Chi Omega. Clark is a senior in Teachers College and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and N Club. They both were presented after the show with the finalists.

The winning skit in the Fantastic Fables competition was Theta Xi's "Blonds Prefer College Men." A small-town boy went to college and came home not with a degree, but with a bevy of flashy blondes. Leonard Barker was skitmaster.

Second place went to Delta Tau Delta. Their skit, "Coal Black and the Seven Giants" presented an African version of a well-known fairy tale. Skitmaster was Dick Farmer.

Zeta Beta Tau skit, "Freddie The Freshman," took third place honors. Freddie was a college boy torn by temptations but chained to his books. Skitmaster was Marv Steinberg.

An award was presented to Phi Delta Theta choral group for their curtain acts.

Hank Cech was master of ceremonies, and Marv Stromer was show director.

Research Institute Proposed

An existing research building has been offered to the University "free and clear" as the first step toward the formation of an "Institute of Applied Research" by Regent J. Le Roy Welsh of Omaha.

Welsh outlined his proposal to the Board of Regents, pointing out that the institute would help to attract industry to Nebraska. The building is located near 70th and Adams in Lincoln.

"The proposal will be taken up in the near future," Bruce Nicoll, administrative assistant to the Chancellor, said.

There will probably be a campus committee to investigate the idea, Nicoll continued.

Nebraska Needs Research
Nebraska has everything but research to offer industry, Welsh said. The function of the new organization would be to apply the research done in colleges.

The building, which has a replacement value varying from $50,000 to $75,000, is owned by the Agriculture Research Foundation Inc., of which Welsh is president.

Welsh recommended Dr. Leo M. Christensen of Omaha to head the institute. Dr. Christensen will retire from his present position as head of the city's industrial development organization around the first of the year, Welsh said.

Homecoming Dance

Commanders Director Began Career At Five

Eddie Grady, young musical director of the Commanders, is one of the more versatile percussionists in modern day music.

EDDIE GRADY

His rise to the top of the music world is probably due to his wide and varied experiences. He has been playing since pre-grade school days, appearing with Paul Whiteman at the age of five in the "Children's Hour."

Between the ages of eight and 12 Grady studied drums with many of the country's leading teachers. He appeared on a radio program with Tommy Dorsey at the age of 12. He also played with the North Shore Company of New York.

When he was 13, Grady was signed by Warner Bros. to be featured in a series of musical shorts. The following year he studied piano, vibraphone, conducting and tympany. He began playing with leading dance bands at this time.

Grady joined the Army at the age of 17 and was in one of the Glenn Miller bands. After his discharge from the service he was associated with the Dorsey band.

He left Dorsey in 1952 and went to New York to play with Benny Goodman.

One morning, two years ago, Grady was called by Decca records to do a recording session. At this time he met Camarata, conductor and arranger for Decca, and the Commanders were formed.

The Commanders will be featured at the 1954 Homecoming dance, Nov. 13 at the Coliseum. Tickets may be purchased from Corn Cobs and Tassels for $3.

UMOC Proxy Drahota Takes Loehr's Place

Presentation of the Ugliest Man On Campus took on a new twist Saturday as last week's candidate for Miss Miami Beach, Gail Drahota, instead of Andy Loehr, stepped out of a convertible at the half-time of the game.

Loehr, who was elected in an all-campus election, could not be present because he was needed in the dressing room during the half.

"We couldn't present a beast, so why not a beauty?" Barb Flanagan, chairman of AUF special events committee, said.

Miss Drahota appeared in Loehr's football jersey, Carl Mammel, treasurer of AUF, presented her with a football helmet as a scepter.

Book Group Seeks New Formation

The organizational meeting of the Great Books Discussion Group will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Music Room of the Union.

The purpose of Great Books discussion group is to broaden a person's liberal education through a discussion every other week on a great book or an excerpt from it. There are Great Books groups in almost every town and city in the United States. Members discuss as there are no lectures.

Discussion leader will be Dr. Benjamin Burma, associate professor of geology.

Interested persons are invited to come, said Roger Wait, co-chairman.

Those who plan to come, however, are urged to read the "Apology" and "Crito" of Plato beforehand. The "Apology" is a brief defense of Socrates before and after he was condemned to death for heretical ideas. "Crito" is a short conversation between Socrates and his friend Crito in the former's death cell. Both works are short. Copies are available in the Humanities Reading Room.

Refreshments will be served.

Homecoming Game Tickets Still Available

Remaining tickets for the Homecoming game include 1,500 stadium priced at $3.50, 4,000 bleacher tickets at $2 and 3,000 knowhole at 50 cents.

According to A. J. Lewandowski, athletic business manager, ticket sales for the 1954 football season have shown a definite decrease from sales of the preceding year. This is due primarily to the low attendance of Nebraska's two home games and to the comparatively small number of season tickets sold.

If Nebraska should attend the Orange Bowl, the policy of handling tickets for students, faculty and general public must be set by Bill Orwig, director of athletics, and other faculty officials.

Season basketball tickets will be on sale between Nov. 15 and Dec. 11.

SC Appeal Procedure Outlined

The early season parking problem has been alleviated by the opening of a new lot in front of the Selleck Quadrangle. This new lot accommodates 150 autos.

According to the parking board of the Student Council, the problem should be completely eradicated by the opening of about 250 more spaces on that same lot in 3 or 4 days.

The parking lot in back of the Union will be enlarged by approximately 75 places as soon as a house located behind the Historical Society building is removed. These lots are open to students and faculty with unrestricted parking permits.

Students who have parking tickets may apply for an appeal at the office of the campus police in temporary L. According to Parking Board regulations. If the person requesting an appeal does not appear at the appeal session, another student may be sent in his place to make the appeal.

He may also call the police office requesting an excuse or extension of time in which to appeal. If he does not comply with the alternative, he loses his opportunity of appeal and his fine will again start to run after the missed appeal session.

The applicant or his representative must present his ticket at the appeal session. Appeal sessions will be held only at 4 p.m., Thursdays in room 305 of the Union.

NHSPA Convention

More than 300 Nebraska high school journalists will gather Friday on the University campus for the 23rd annual convention of the Nebraska High School Press Association.

The convention will include addresses by persons active in journalism at the University, competition in fourteen categories of newspaper and yearbook work and awards to outstanding high school newspapers and yearbooks throughout the state.

The Omaha World Herald will present plaques to outstanding printed and mimeographed newspapers of the state, and the Grand Island Independent will present their cup to the winner of the yearbook contest.

The Scottsbluff Star-Herald has contributed another trophy for competition in the yearbook category to increase opportunities for winning honors in that field.

Gold Keys
The first convention convocation will be held in the Union Ballroom Friday morning for welcoming addresses and the presentation of Gold Keys to University journalism student. Speakers will be Del Snodgrass, president of Sigma Delta Chi; Ray Magorian, president of Kappa Alpha Mu; Nancy Odum, president of Theta Sigma Phi, and Nancy Hemphill, president of Gamma Alpha Chi.

High school journalists will edit a special edition of The Nebraskan Friday afternoon.

Martin to Speak
The convention banquet will be held Friday evening in the Union Ballroom with Dr. John Martin, assistant professor of journalism, as the main speaker.

A variety program will be given in the Howell Memorial Theater following the banquet. Entertainers will include Jo Ann Chalupa, humorous reading; Joyce
