Expert Colonel Fusboom

By DICK WATSON Sports Staff Writer

The following is taken from part of an exclusive interview with Colonel Fusboom, considered by many as the foremost authority on college football. He knows nothing of pro football and says of it,

To prove his authority as a football expert he asks only that you look at his record of predictions. He has picked 408 out of 411 so far this year. He missed on the Purdue-Notre Dame, Nebraska-Colcado and the Anaheim and Kuckamunga games.

"Would you care to say who you thought looked particularly good?" I zaked. "I'd have a hard time doing that. I was watching nine other games at the time and I missed a couple plays in the second quarter, but from what I saw it looked like a team effort to me. Ron Clark and that Smith boy were running harder than they have all year, but then the rest of those backs weren't easy to bring down. And listen son, that line of the same has really come in to its own in the last two games. They were ning holes in that Missouri forward wall that I could have run through. And on defense-son-those boys are really getting rough. A man's liable to get crushed when those gang tacklers hit you. Why they're playing like they smell orange blossoms. "Thank you for the interview Colonel," I said.

"Just a minute young man, there's something else I want to say, and you can print this. It's about those Nebraska fans. Why they haven't yelled like that since 1950 when that boy Reynolds was running around here. Those people like their football, espcially when it's good. They're going to have to enlarge that stadium if they win a few more games. It was so crowded Saturday the peanut man couldn't get up and down the aisles. "Since we've gotten started again Colonel, do you have any criticism of the game?' "Not really a criticism, son, Just a little advice. They had better polish a couple of those extra point kickers, it might win a ball game for them before the season is over."

"How about next week Colonel? Will you make a prediction?" "I will son, but this isn't for print cause I don't have my slide rule or my compass with me and it wouldn't be accurate, but Nebraska will win and the score will be 26 to 7. Of course you realize this could vary a point or two either way."

When I frowned a little at this prediction the Colonel said, "L know what you're thinking son, but you're wrong; those boys aren't going to let down. They have too much to lose."
