Chi Omegas Crowned Volleyball Champions

Phyl Sast

As that famous old historian, George Gobel, once said, "Well there you are and here I am and here it is." Cheer, cheer for old Chi Omega, the new volleyball champions.

Excuses Due

Seventy-three people showed up for Rifle Club last week. Now here's the deal, brace yourself—you fakers who have missed two times, must see Miss Mulvaney and give her a legitimate excuse, and it had better be good like your mother got caught in the revolving doors of the new Hested store the same day your father lost his job selling papers so you had to fly home 500 miles to take care of the situation.

Nebraska Ball started Monday and everything seems to be under control. Last year's winners of the Nebraska Ball Tournament were the Delta Gammas and runner-ups were the Lutheran Student Association.

Co-Rec volleyball starts tomorrow night. There will be two games played a night for each team. Boys must come dressed for playing because there will be no locker rooms available for them. Here are the teams for tomorrow night. Notice carefully please and notify your partners. There will be a game at 7:15 and another at 8:00. You must be here for both: KAPPA ALPHA THETA No. 1 and DELTA TAU DELTA; ALPHA XI DELTA and SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON; CHI OMEGA No. 2 and SIGMA CHI; KAPPA DELTA No. 2 and THETA XI; GAMMA PHI BETA No. 3 and PHI DELTA THETA; WOMEN'S DORM No. 1 and MEN'S DORM.

Huskers Open Home Cage Season; Coyotes Invade Lincoln Saturday

The University's basketball team will open its 1954-55 home season Saturday at the Coliseum against the University of South Dakota. Game time is 8 p.m.

Stan Matzke is a doubtful starter as a result of a bruised elbow suffered as the Huskers were bowing to Iowa in the Huskers' opening game, 84-61.

Play of three sophomores, Rex Ekwall, Billy Wells and Doug Gilson indicated there are better days ahead for the Cornhuskers. The Cornhuskers will be meeting a fast-breaking, hard-running group of Coyotes built around six letter men.

Nebraska won from South Dakota here a year ago, 70-53.

New Coach

"I'm sure glad that one's over," said Dwane (Cloddy) Clodfelter, University of South Dakota basketball coach following the team's first win of the season over Omaha University, and Cloddy's first win in varsity intercollegiate competition. "It was tough, not knowing what to expect from the Omaha team, also playing the season's opener, but it's always a little easier if you can win that first one," Cloddy added.

The Coyotes, playing deliberate basketball, were a slow starting team, but broke the game wide open midway in the first half with a heavy scoring and passing barrage that left the Omahans bewildered and beaten as they left the floor at half-time trailing by 16 points. The final was 66 to 57 as Cloddy used 11 players.

Cloddy had words of praise for all the boys but is mindful of "a lot of defensive mistakes that resulted in too much fouling." The Coyotes committed 38 fouls which were converted into 27 Omaha points.

About the players, Cloddy says Jim Rath, Matt Alexander and Dick Hagerty did a good job running the team. Jim Stewart controlled the ball well. Stewart and Hagerty played much of the second half after Rath and Alexander fouled out. Hagerty was second high scorer with 13. Omaha came out of their zone defense in the last minutes and forced us into ball control," said Clodfelter.

In the forward wall Cloddy says hard-working Don Jongewaard did a lot of good board work, and while showing effects of a year's lay-off, is coming along better than expected.

Swimmers Oppose Grinnell In Debut

Nebraska's swimming team will get its first test Saturday against Grinnell College.

The squad making the trip will include Cal Bentz, Dave Gradwohl, Dave Lynch, Wyman Kenagy, Bob Sandstedt, Dean Honeman, George Boomer, Bill Tagney and Gordon Peterson.

Time trials this week will determine whether Hugh Barnard, Dick Hildek and Rich Hill will make the trip.
