

Nebraska Teams Preparing For Vacation Action

Cagers To Compete In Big Seven Meet

After bringing their seasonal mark to an even 1-1, the Nebraska Cornhuskers travel to Bradley to meet the Braves this Saturday. The Peoria, Illinois five has a record of 2-0. After the Bradley trip, the Huskers move south to meet Memphis State and Alabama in a two-day jaunt. They return after Christmas vacation to meet Iowa State in the conference opener. They encounter Missouri in the opening round of the Big Seven pre-season tourney December 27.

For the Nebraskans, who moved from a 36-27 halftime margin to down South Dakota, 87-51, it will probably be the same lineup. That would find Rex Ekwall, Duane Buel, Willard Fagler, Doug Gibson and Arnold Boiche. They will be strengthened by the return of co-captain Stan Matzke and sophomore Billy Wells. Both men were injured in the opener against Iowa. Whether they will be able to go at full strength or not is still debatable. Three standouts in the SD-NU affair last Saturday were Chuck Smith, Ekwall and Fagler. Smith came in and led the team in scoring with 22 points. He was rebounding well, and his shooting was good. Ekwall, rookie sensation, played a veterans performance, being a demon on the boards, both offensively and defensively. Fagler, the other Husker captain, played his usual fine game. He was probably the outstanding player of the game. One injury was received in the Saturday tilt. Gordon Benson came up with a knee injury, and will undergo surgery.

New Coach

Bradley, with wins over Cincinnati and Iowa State to their credit, has been effected by a new ruling, banning freshmen from competing. This is a big blow to Forrest Anderson, making his debut after leading the Springfield quintet last year. With the loss of six seniors from the squad that went to the NCAA in 1954, the first-year men were being counted upon heavily to help rebuild the Braves' cage crew.

Old Reliable

As all the honors and recognition are being passed out among the various members of the Nebraska football team, one member has been underrated for his fine efforts during the 1954 campaign. A member of the starting eleven, he was always up front, leading the one charges making crucial tackles.

He is senior guard Bob Wagner, a big 6' 190 pound guard from Lincoln. Wagner teamed up many times with tackle Don Glantz to lead the right side of the Husker line. He was always a demon on defense. Wagner, a law student, was one of the returning lettermen.

Smith Proves Consistent On Husker First Eleven

One of the big reasons for the Cornhusker's good record and the Orange Bowl bid this season is Bob Smith, powerful 5-10, 195 pound fullback from Grand Island. Smith is the leading scorer for Nebraska with 26 points. He has carried the ball more than any other back, with an average of 5.1 yards per carry.

Consistent Starter

Bob has started practically every game for four years. He entered the University when freshmen were eligible to play varsity football and started most of the games as a freshman. He has been a permanent fixture in the Nebraska lineup since then. During his first three seasons Smith played halfback, but this year Coach Glassford shifted him to the fullback position.

Bob attended Valley High School his freshman and sophomore years and Grand Island High as a junior and senior. At Grand Island, he was named to the All-Big Ten team and was All-State halfback his senior year.

All-Big Seven

This season Bob has been named to many All-Big Seven teams, after winning honorable mention last year.

Orange Bowl Bound Huskers Begin Toiling For Blue Devils

Nebraska's Cornhuskers will resume practice today for the Orange Bowl game against Duke.

The team will leave Lincoln the morning of Dec. 26 by chartered plane for Miami. They will be quartered at the Flamingo Hotel and will practice at Flamingo Park.

The Huskers, barring practice injuries, should be close to full strength.

Dennis Korinek, halfback, and second leading scorer this season, although forced to sit out the Hawaii game, may be able to play against Duke. Korinek suffered a broken jaw in the Oklahoma game. It has healed more rapidly than expected and Korinek insists he'll be ready for the Husker's big test.

The rest of the Husker second unit consisting of Don Comstock, Don Erway and John Edwards will see plenty of action in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Well Traveled

There has been no middle road for the Cornhuskers this season. Described by one sports writer as the "Gridiron Vagabonds of 1954" still another declared "There may be better football teams but none will go farther than Nebraska this season." He was thinking in terms of mileage traveled after the Hawaiian and Miami trips.

Nebraska, as the home team, will wear red jerseys and Duke will be attired in white.

The 10-game statistics show the Cornhuskers have traveled 2,657 yards on the ground as against 1,990 for opponents.

Throughout the season which included games against Minnesota, es for 701 yards.

Upset Predictions

Relegated by the early prophecies to the second division of the Iowa State, Kansas State, Oregon State, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, Pittsburgh, Oklahoma and Hawaii the Huskers have preferred the ground route. However, the Huskers have completed 42 of 100 pitch-

Big Seven Conference the Huskers finished a surprise second.

In two of the few games in which they were favored they lost. As underdogs, they performed best. The early line has them 13½ points down to Du'e.

Seventeen Score

One of the oddities of the Nebraska season has been the number of players who have scored points. The final averages show that 17 Huskers have six or more of the 226 points to their credit.

Coach Glassford has used the unit system throughout the season. Difference in the first and second units when at full strength has been slight. The first unit has played the first quarter and the second unit taking over in the second quarter no matter the situation.

The first unit has ten seniors and one sophomore. The second has four seniors, two juniors and five sophomores.

The Cornhuskers are deeper in quick-starting backs than they have been in several seasons.

Switching of Rex Fischer from quarterback to a halfback position in the Hawaii game indicates that the Husker coaches are already starting plans for next season. Fischer was at halfback in his sophomore year and switched to quarterback this season as the Huskers moved into the Split T offense. However, a practice injury before the season started, relegated Fischer to the bench until the final three games.

Coach Glassford believes the Hawaiian junket was a great help in preparation for the Orange Bowl contest. The squad was able to practice and play in similar climate to that of Miami.

Delts Roll

Beta Team Hits ATO's; Sig Eps Win

By BOB JUBER

Intramural Sports Writer
In basketball games played the latter part of last week only a few points separated the winners from the losers. Delta Tau Delta took a 50-45 decision from the Phi Gams. Bob Cook led the Delts with 14 points. The Phi Gams had the high scorer in Ed Schmitt, but his 19 points weren't enough to turn the tide of victory.

Baptists Win

Baptist rolled over Inter-Varsity, 34-32 and Hitchcock C won over forfeited to Canfield B and Tau Kappa Epsilon won by forfeit over Delta Sigma Phi.

In one of the weeks better games Beta Theta Pi edged a fighting Alpha Tau Omega team, 44-41. The ATO attack was led by the games leading scorer, Bob Brown who racked up 24 points. Lyle Martin led the Beta barrage with 18 points and Tom Healy led the rebounding for the winners.

The Sig Eps blasted Sigma Nu 37-17. Bob Brumm led the Sig Eps with 9 points and Bob Larson scored the same for Sigma Nu. The Phi Psi edged Farm House 45-44 behind a 14 point outburst by Ted Westervelt. Jack Asheng scored 22 points for Farm House.

DU knocked off Kappa Sigma 51-26. George Hirschbrock scored 12 points for DU. Beta Upsilon Mu led by Kee Foster's 11 field goals plastered AIA 53-30. John Biggin scored 13 points for AIA.

Zeta Wins

Zeta Beta sailed by the Beta Sigs 34-27. Doran Jacobs led the ZBT's with 15 points while Len Singer garnered 12. Larry Warnke was high point man for the Beta Sigs with 27 points.
