The 1954-55 intramural All-University all-star team is dominated by outstanding performers from Delta Tau Delta. The Delts, champions in Class A, Class B, and the eventual victors over Dental College for the All-University Championship, placed four men on the All-U A team, two each on the first and second units. It was the same story on the All-U B team as the Delts placed four men on the first unit and one more on the second team. All totaled, the powerful Delts landed nine out of a possible 28 positions.

Alpha Tau Omega followed the Delts balloting on the A team while Phi Gamma Delta was the runner-up on the B squad.

The first string on the All-U team was "cut and dry." There was no doubt after the first few ballots had been counted who was going to make the first unit.

Most Votes

Ray Mladovich, Delta Tau Delta, was the top vote getter on the first unit. Ray played outstanding ball throughout the entire season on the line to spark the Delts on to the record accomplishments. He played Varsity baseball for the Huskers and was a three year letterman. Ray stands 6'1" and tips the scales at 185. He is a Law School freshman from Omaha.

Close behind Ray was Bob Brown, Alpha Tau Omega. Bob is a Bus Ad junior from Fairbury.

An outstanding basketball player, Bob was named to the second team, All-U cage team last season. As a first year man at NU Bob was a member of the freshman basketball team. He is a big boy standing 6'5" and tipping the scales at 205 pounds.

Welsh Repeats

Gene Welsh, Phi Kappa Psi, was one of the Phi Psi repeaters from last year's All-U champions. Gene was a feared man in every one of the Phi Psi games. The Phi Psi went through their entire regular season play undefeated but were thumped in their initial play-off outing. Gene, a freshman in Law School, weighs 165 and is 5'10" tall.

Rounding out the forward wall on the first string, first team, is Gus Lebeck, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Gus was one of the spark-plugs of the Sig Alpha team throughout the season. He is a Law School student standing 6'3" and weighing 190 pounds.

Grant Tops Backs

Each one of the backs have a team mate up in the front wall. Again the top vote-getter in the backfield was copped by the Delts. Quarterback Dick Grant edged out a very close field for that honor. Grant, 5'10, 180 pound junior in Bus Ad from Columbus, literally passed the Delts into their championships. The Grant to Mladovich combination added up to many points for the Delt A team.

Duane Rankin, Phi Kappa Psi Lincoln senior, is the second repeater from last year. "Rank" not only throws but is a good open field runner. He trailed Grant in the balloting by a single vote which shows the closeness of the backfield race for first team honors.

Dangerous Man

Joe Gifford, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was described by many players and viewers alike, as the most dangerous man in this year's intramural competition. His brilliant quarterbacking was a great asset to the Sig Alpha squad. Joe, a student in the College of Geology, is 6' and weighs in at 175.

Second string honors on the All-U first team were a little more hotly contested for. On the line, Dick Geier edged out Sam Bell, Sigma Chi for the fourth line position by one vote. Geier, 215 pound massive guard for Delta Tau Delta, is the 6'2" Bus Ad junior of baseball fame. Last season, Dick twirled a nifty no-hitter for the NU diamond crew. Geier hails from Lincoln.

Rod Schroeder, Alpha Tau Omega Bus Ad junior, was honorable mention last year for All-U honors and this season was the top vote getter on the second string. Rod was a constant threat on the Tau pass formations. Schroeder stands 5'10 and tips the scales at 165 pounds. He is an Elwood, Nebraska product.

Len Singer, Zeta Beta Tau Bus Ad senior, holds down the guard position on the second unit. Singer's constant line play led the ZBT's to a League 4 championship tie. Len is the University handball singles champion and a past member of the varsity football team. He stands 6' and tips the scales at 190 pounds.

Blessing Places

Al Blessing, ATO stalwart, is the "old man" of the intramural team. Blessing has been named to the All-U football squads, basketball teams and is a consistent performer for the Taus. Al played varsity basketball two years. He is a senior in Law School and hails from Ord.

Bob Burton is the lone Dental College griddler to make the All U squad. Bob played basketball for Texas Christian 3 years ago, and he played on Beta Theta Pi's championship B football team last year. He is a 6'1" junior and weighs 180 pounds.

Bob Burnham rounds out the All-U team for the 1954-55 campaign. Burnham, Delta Tau Delta junior from Ag campus, was one of the scoring sparks in the Delt attack. In two consecutive contests, Bob ran up a total of 36 points—18 counters in each game. He stands 5'10" and weighs 180 pounds. Burnham is from York, Nebraska.

Athletes from Delta Tau Delta dominate the All University all-star "B" football team, as they did the "A" team. The Delts made a clean sweep of the championship playoffs as they won both the A and B championships for the first time in the history of the intramural program. Four Delts were selected for the first unit and one on the second unit, giving them five out of 14 positions.

Phi Gams Second

The Phi Gams were runnerup to the Delts as they placed two men on the first unit and one man on the second unit, while ATO landed on man on each of the units, and the Phi Deltas, DU, Sigma Chi, and the Phi Psis each were represented by one man on the second unit.

On the first unit, Merle Maupin, a 5' 11, 170-pound Engineering student, received the most number of votes among the linemen. He was named to all-star football teams four times and to all-star basketball teams three times in the past. His Phi Gam teammate, Ladd Hanscom, was the top vote-getter among the backs Hanscom, a track letterman, is a 5' 8 160-pound Teachers College student.

Those Delts Again

Three Delts complete the line. They are Jack Folmer, a 6-foot-175-pound Bus Ad student; Chuck Thomsen, a 6' 1 inch, 185-pound Agriculture Junior who was All-State at Minden High, and John Beldeck, a 6' 165-pound Bus. Ad. Sophomore from Lincoln. Bill Harm is the Delta representative in the backfield. He is a 5' 10 175-pound Arts and Science Junior. Keith Kuxhausen, a 5' 10 165-pound Sophomore from Torrington, Wyo., completes the first-string backfield. Kuxhausen, a Bus. Ad. student, was All-State in high school in both football and basketball and became known as an excellent passer for the ATO's.

Don Becker, a 6-foot 190-pound Bus Ad student represents the Phi Deltas in the second string line. Becker is a baseball letterman. He is a repeater on all university teams and is an all-university Doubles champion in handball. Charles Betzelberger, a Phi Psi, is a 5' 10 175-pound Bus Ad senior who also was selected for the line.

TAU's Represented

Don Ficke, representing ATO, is another lineman. He is a 5' 11 160-pounder from Lincoln in Bus Ad college. Ed Schmidt completes the line. This Phi Gam stands 6' 3 and weighs 195 pounds.

Lane Birkel, a 6' 1 165-pound physical Education Senior, is Sigma Chi's representative in the line. Bob Dolezal, Delt, and Dick Westcott, DU, completed the backfield. Westcott is a 6-foot-170-pound Bus Ad Senior, and Dolezal, standing 5-9 and weighing 165 pounds, is also a Bus. Ad. student.

Tri-Delts Rate First In Duckpins

These vacations and jaunts to Miami aren't the best things to improve your basketball game. Of course, myself, since Santa Claus was unable to squeeze down my chimney with that million dollars he had planned on leaving, was not affected by this Miami disease. What I'm trying to say is in a rather round about way is that if your basketball team would like to practice, you may arrange to do so on Saturdays. See Miss Mulvany to make said arrangements. If you don't care to get mad at your own team by playing against each other, you might arrange to have your most hated rivals play against you and have a real one.

The winnab and new champion of that funny old crazy old Nebraska Ball are the Delta Gammus who defeated the Lutheran Student Association 31-15.

New Default Rule
Did you all know that the basketball tournament started yesterday? You really should have known. Since this is going to be a double elimination tournament we had to do some adapting of the default rule to the situation. If the first game is defaulted, this will be counted as a loss and the team can still play in the second game. However, you can't get off so easy, the next tournament is no deal.

The Tri-Delts gained the duck-pin championship again this year by defeating the Chi Omegas 425-344. The new bowling champion is Barg Ferguson, Lutheran Student Association. Second place went to Margaret Hook, Kappa Delta; and third place Sara Lehan Sigma Delta Tau.

Mixed Tourney
These are the teams who play tomorrow night in the mixed volleyball tournament: KAPPA ALPHA THETA No. 3 and DELTA TAU DELTA, WILSON HALL No. 1 and CORNHUSKER CO-OP, ALPHA OMEGA PI and ALPHA GAMMA RHO, GAMMA PHI BETA No. 2 and PHI DELTA THETA, DELTA GAMMA and BETA THETA PI, ALPHA PHI No. 2 and DELT UPSILON.

NU Cagers Win Over I-S, 76-63

Opening their 1954-55 conference season in winning fashion, the Nebraska Cornhuskers marched to a 76-63 victory over favored Iowa State last night at the Coliseum. It brought their season mark to 3-6 and left the Cyclones with a 6-3.

Rex Ekwall started the Cornhuskers on their way with a basket after 30 seconds had elapsed. Chuck Duncan tied it up for IS but Willard Fagler and Stan Matzke put the Cornhuskers back in the lead 6-2. Duncan then shot the Cyclones on top 7-6, and they remained in the lead until Gary Renzleman hit a field goal to put NU back in the lead 17-15. The lead then saw-sawed back and forth until Nebraska hit two quick fielders in the closing minutes of the half put the Huskers on top 33-29.

Nebraska moved fast at the outset of the second half, and enjoyed a 10-point bulge with 12 minutes remaining. Chuck Smith garnered an eight point straight during this period. From this point on the Huskers began to pull away from IS and moved ahead 71-55 with four minutes left. The Cornhuskers then began playing ball control, and the Cyclones tried desperately to take the ball away, but with little success.

The Huskers were paced by Ekwall, who tallied 17 points on seven and three free throws. Renzleman, with 14, and Smith, with 13, followed the NU sophomore. Willard Fagler, though held to six points, was a big man in the game.

Renzleman filled in for the senior co-captain in the first half when he drew three fouls, hitting eight points in the initial period and six in the last half. He fouled out with three minutes remaining.

For Iowa State the only bright spot in their attack was their fine center, Duncan. The 6-5 senior tallied 24 points on seven field goals and 10 free throws. He is leading the Big Seven in scoring with an average of 22 points a game. He also came off with 13 rebounds, three less than Ekwall. Larry Wetter, with 12 points, followed Duncan in the Cyclone scoring attack. The Cornhuskers hit 54 per cent of their shots, Iowa State 34 per cent.

Orange Bowl Feature

Thousands View King Orange Parade As Millions More Watch Spectacle On TV

By MAYNARD SMALL

The few Nebraskans who were fortunate enough to attend the Orange Bowl Festivities saw snow flutter through downtown Miami last Friday night, but it was all man-made. Warm breezes rippled the skirts and shirt sleeves of some 350,000 men, women and children watching the "snow" glide past on twinkling floats.

It was Miami's big fiesta for New Year's Eve — the 21st annual King Orange Jamboree Parade.

Girls Galore

Pretty girls nestled among three-foot hibiscus flowers, majorettes pranced and twirled their batons. Neil Miller, Nebraska's twirling drum major thrilled the crowds as he tossed his baton high in the air, and executed many difficult movements with perfection. Nebraska's band was the first university band to appear in the parade. It was followed by the Blue Devil's of Duke, the University of Miami, and Michigan's famous marching band.

For nearly two hours, the procession rolled along, a picture of color and sound. Television cameras took the balmy scene into homes heated by furnaces instead of sub-tropic air.

'America Sings'

Ninety-three floats participated in the parade. This year's theme was "America Sings". The theme floats depicted scenes appropriate to this motif.

The most expensive "float" was not really a float but a Navy F-9F Cougar jet, costing over $500,000. The biggest float was that of the Air Force Training Center at Miami International Airport. The float was 70 feet long — but the size was not the only attraction — it was decorated with the five prettiest WAF's in Florida.

From well-meaning, but unpretentious beginnings in 1933, the Orange Bowl football classic has grown into one of America's major sports events — a spectacle surrounded by a festival and pageant of color, fun and excitement, which thrilled more than a half-million spectators this year.

Miami's New Year's Day football classic, a child of the depression, was a post-season contest for the University of Miami Hurricanes, and the first two games were billed as the Palm Festival.

Began In 1934

They were played at Moore Park before a handful of spectators. The Orange Bowl itself began in 1934 as a Miami Chamber of Commerce project with the idea of an annual post-season game between outstanding Northern and Southern teams.

Miami's Orange Bowl venture is purely civic. It is not controlled by, or connected with any commercial interest, nor with any commercial sport.

The Flamingo Hotel on Bayshore Road in Miami Beach was the scene of much activity during the week long stay of the Nebraska family. Included in the group were the team, its coaches and trainers, and several other officials of the University.

Celebrities Present
Vacationing at the same resort with Nebraska was the well known Mark Clark, who obviously was taking a short absence from his military obligations.

From all aspects, the entire trip was very fine with the exception of New Year's Day. During an interview following the game, Coach Glassford said "We knew they were quick — They've got a fine team, quick in the backfield and a lot faster up front." When asked if the heat hurt his team, Glassford replied to the effect that it hurt in the first half but it was not a major factor leading to Nebraska's defeat. In conclusion, Bill expressed his appreciation for the fine treatment that the team received while in Miami.

The Orange Bowl committee and the people of greater Miami went all out for the Cornhuskers.

Best Entertainment

Various forms of entertainment were arranged for the team each night of their stay. One night Paul Schneider, head trainer, went with the team to the Cope City, one of Miami's finest nightclubs. The dog races were on the schedule for another night, and the story has it that Ken Moore and Pev Evans put their money on the right greyhounds. Those interested in fishing went deep sea fishing in the afternoon.

The Orange Bowl Dinner honoring both teams was truly an extravaganza. The "bill of faire" included a fine dinner and show at the fabulous Fontainebleu resort hotel, America's largest resort hotel on the fourteen-acre Firestone estate.

Governors Attend
Among the distinguished guests at the dinner were Nebraska's Governor Robert Crosby, and governor-elect Victor Anderson. On behalf of the University, Chancellor Clifford Hardin congratulated the Duke team on its victory and expressed thanks to the Orange Bowl committee for the fine time the Nebraskans had in Miami.

Bob Smith and Bob Wagner, co-captains of the team accepted the 62 watches presented by the Orange Bowl committee to the Nebraska squad recognizing Nebraska as a participant in the 1953 Orange Bowl Classic.

After the presentation Vaughn Monroe entertained the crowd with his latest hits. Dick Haymes rounded out the program with many popular hit recordings.

It might be said that Florida, the land of paradise, was a wonderful Christmas present for all.
