Letters Name L. B. Smith, Cypreansen

Application filings for "Outstanding Nebraskan" will close today at 5:00. All entries should be turned into Marianne Hansen, news editor, at The Nebraskan office.

Professor Linus Burr Smith, chairman of the Department of Architecture, and Dr. Lucile Cypreansen have been nominated for "Outstanding Nebraskan. Dr. Cypreansen's letter of nomination was signed by 54 students.

According to the letter of nomination Smith gives "measureless and constant assistance to his students, to the University, and to the state."

Smith is chairman of the department of architecture. He is a member of the University Building Committee and serves as building committee architect, a position which entails meeting with and coordinating the ideas of numerous individuals, the letter stated.

"No Special Recognition" In addition to these responsibilities with a specific title, Smith frequently performs tasks which he does willingly and well, but for which he receives no special recognition. Along with serving many organizations, he gives freely of his time to any group which requests him to speak or advise them. His classes are stimulating and his enthusiasm for the subject spreads to his students like a contagious disease," the letter said.

According to the letter of nomination, Miss Cypreansen, assistant professor of speech and speech correction, should be applauded for her work with the foreign students.

"In 1947 she started informal groups to teach conversational English to foreign students," the letter stated. She is free at any time to discuss any problem a foreign student is troubled over. She has made Cosmopolitan Club more than an insipid and inactive organization on campus, she has made it serve the social interests as well as the intellectual interest of the foreign student."

Retarded Children "Some time-consuming details for which she gains no praise includes her help for the Lancaster County retarded children and her help in correcting English thesis of foreign students and with their other extensive problems," the letter said.

Previous nominations for Outstanding Nebraskan include—Norman Hill, professor of political science, Robert Crawford, professor of journalism and Murt Pickett, Junior Knobel, Marvin Stromer, Len Barker and Art Raun.

Deadline for nominations is January 18. All applications should be sent to the Nebraskan office in letter form and must be signed although the name of the person making the nomination will be kept confidential.

The candidate must be a faculty member who has served at least two years as a staff member or a senior or graduate student.

Dr. John Hayes

Red 'Brainwashing' Technique Revealed

Persons turn into soul-less, animated machines after communist brainwashing, stated Dr. John Hayes last Friday in the Union student-faculty seminar on "Brainwashing."

Hayes has been a missionary for the Christian Student Movement in China. Supported by the National Presbyterian Church, Hayes was a prisoner of the communists for 10 months and was released in September of 1952 after surviving the brain washing techniques. Hayes was a Rhodes scholar and attended Oxford and Princeton.

Pavlov's Theory The communists use Pavlov's theory in his experiment with the dogs, said Hayes. In their brain washing method they condition men's minds to what they want until the individual becomes a soul-less, animated machine, he continued.

While in China, Dr. Hayes was present at the "liberating of a town. He said that the first group of soldiers carried their guns slung over their shoulders and were singing as they marched into the town. The second group had their guns over their shoulders, and the third group was armed with tommy guns carried at port arms. This is an example of the method that the communists use in taking over a district. At first they seem appealing and friendly, then they enforce the strict control, he concluded.

Shakespeare's Plays In an effort to crack the communist doctrine, Hayes, employed as an English instructor, in a Chinese school, put on a play "Merchant of Venice" by William Shakespeare. Since the play has a dynamic fair play quality, the Chinese officials objected, stated Hayes. After the production of the play, they told him to teach the English of the Moscow Times.

Hayes said that the communists took his class of 36 into three groups for indoctrination. They said that each person must state all his virtues and vices, said Hayes. They keep after the person until there is nothing that he has not confessed, continued Hayes. Then they implant the idea that your faults are not yours any longer, but faults of the group and the group will make you perfect, he said. The group is controlled and the person loses his individuality, he stated.

Two Concerts

Brubeck Performance Scheduled For Today

Dave Brubeck and his Combo will present a two-performance jazz concert in the Union Ballroom today at 4 and 7:30 p.m.

Brubeck and his Combo are now in the midst of a nation-wide tour of numerous college campuses. Included in the jazz combo are Brubeck at the piano, Paul Desmond playing the alto saxophone, drummer Joe Dodge and Bob Bates playing the bass.

Brubeck's popularity was given a definite boost in both popularity poll and the critics poll sponsored by "Down Beat," national jazz magazine. In Metronome magazine's "All-Star" poll of jazz artists, Brubeck again placed first.

"Jazz Goes to College," Brubeck's first record, was out last June. This record led record sales for a period of four months. Recently he gave a concert in Carnegie Hall. He has played at Zardi's in Los Angeles, Boston's Storyville and Manhattan Basin Street.

A fall issue of Time magazine, which devoted a six-page article to Brubeck's life and personality describes Brubeck's style as "creating an illusion of danger as if he were a race driver who, says Dave, is going to stay out there until he drives faster than anyone else."

Brubeck thinks his technique is getting smoother all the time, and he stated "Everything we play is superimposed on the tune, and each chorus is superimposed on the one before it."

Contemplating current trends, Brubeck thinks that jazz reflects the American scene. "It is tremendously complex but it is free." He and his combo keep playing their "new style" never playing a tune the same way twice, but relying on melodious and rhythmic effects.

In regard to his ambition to be a composer Brubeck said, "I have yet to find the composer who I think is happy. In jazz you can perform what you compose. When I get inspired I am the happiest guy on earth."

Critics comments in regard to Brubeck's combo have been as follows. The Columbia records' jazz expert who brought them to his recording company said. "A kind of teamwork which is without parallel in the entire field of music." "Man they wail!" wrote the jazz editor of "Down Beat" magazine. John Hammond, critic of jazz artists, commented, "His music has tremendous drive and surprising warmth."

Film Library Becomes UN Movie Depository

The University Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction will serve as one of 19 national depositories for United Nations films.

Approximately 40 UN films have been received by the University film library. These films are available for rental, under conditions of the loan to persons on campus, in Nebraska and in surrounding states. All films are available to faculty members without charge when used in class recitation.

The rental charges specified by the UN range from $2.50 to $7.50. The UN invited Nebraska to participate in an educational program designed to foster an understanding of the UN in 1945. Although the program has been set up for some time, the first shipment of films arrived at the Extension Division during Christmas holidays.

Dr. Frank E. Sorensen, director of summer sessions and chairman of the Department of Educational Services, has been the key figure in the depository establishment at the University. Largely through his efforts information will be spread through the combined services of the Air Age and UN Education Division, the Bureau of Community Services and the Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction.

YM-YW Assembly

Racial Bigotry Denounced

Resolutions and reports from the National Student Assembly of the YM-YWCA, held in Lawrence, Kan., the week of Dec. 27, featured the YWCA Mass Centennial Meeting, Thursday.

Some of the more controversial resolutions passed by the assembly, included those on racial discrimination and academic freedom, which was presented by student delegates from Nebraska Wesleyan.

Four-Fold Resolutions The four-fold resolution on racial, cultural and religious discrimination resolved that the National Student Assembly:

1. Denounce and oppose the discriminatory clauses in local and national fraternity and sorority constitutions.

2. Urge all local chapters of the YMCA and YWCA movement to work on their campuses to persuade their college administration to outlaw fraternities and sororities which have discriminatory clauses.

3. Instruct the Committee of Effective Citizenship to sponsor and support bills in the various state legislatures to prohibit fraternities and sororities with discriminatory clauses from existing on the campuses of state supported schools.

4. Urge all local YMCA's and YWCA's to work with and through the members of local and national fraternities and sororities to eliminate the discriminatory clauses from their constitutions.

Just what action this would necessitate on the part of the local association was not presented at the meeting. In addition to this resolution, the group at the Assembly resolved not to hold future meetings at institutions where all delegates would not be permitted full use of the facilities. This move was prompted by Dartmouth College's decision not to send delegates to Lawrence because of certain discriminatory practices in the community.

Disarmament Backed In other resolutions, the Assembly took a stand for universal disarmament enforced by international law and expressed disapproval of the action of the United States government in preventing a group of Chinese students from leaving the U.S. to return to their own country.

The Outside World Ike Recommends Trimmed Budget

By FRED DALY Staff Writer

President Eisenhower recommended Monday a slightly trimmed budget designed to guard the nation "against attack from without and undermining from within" while advancing human welfare and economic growth. The chief executive's spending blueprint, outlined in a 27,000-word message and a bulky volume of supporting figures, proposed a 12-month outlay of $62,408,000,000.

It contemplates a deficit of $2,408,000,000—a little more than half that estimated for the current fiscal year. Thus it would be the fifth successive year to show red ink spending.

Estimated expenditures were down a little more than a billion dollars from that anticipated for the current year. The President predicted that income in the new fiscal year, starting July 1, would be a billion dollars over this year—reflecting optimism over the future of the national economy.

Russia To Give Satellites Atomic Know-how Russia Monday announced in Moscow that it is turning over atomic know-how and fissionable materials for peaceful use to Communist China, East Germany, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The announcement was contained in a decision of the USSR Council of Ministers read to Western newsmen at a hastily summoned news conference at the foreign ministry.

It was the third such press conference in four days. At one conference Friday the Soviets offered to share with the rest of the world experience they claimed to have gained by operating an industrial atomic power plant.

The latest announcement said in return for scientific and technical aid to be given her Communist allies, the Soviet Union would expect to receive a continuing supply of atomic raw materials from them.

Kearney Parolee Admits Arson A 14-year-old Kearney parolee has admitted setting fire to three Lincoln apartment houses. He was reported as saying he set the fires because he had been ordered out of the apartments last Halloween when out "trick or treating."

The "nice-looking boy" with a thatch of red hair admitted several offenses, officers said, in addition to setting fires at an apartment building at 1403 E. Thursday night and two more Friday night at 1441 G and 1327 H.

Officers said that the youngster showed no "especial repentance," but that when queried about endangering people's lives, he replied, "I didn't want to do anything like that." The boy admitted a past record of setting fires in Alexandria, Nebraska.
