'The Strange Ones' To Begin Union's Film Society Program

A brother and sister whose affections for each other is colored by tragedy is the theme of "The Strange Ones," a movie to be shown Wednesday as the first Film Society feature. It will be shown at the Capitol Theater at 7:30 p.m. and only season ticket holders will be admitted.

"The Strange Ones" is a French film based on a novel called "Les Enfants Terribles" by French novelist Jean Cocteau, himself frequently considered an "enfant terrible" of French letters.

The University's Fourth Annual Film Society program includes seven movies, foreign and American pictures which have received outstanding reviews. They are presented on Wednesday evenings at special showings in the Capitol Theater.

Season tickets are available this week at the Union Box office or from Union workers. Student tickets cost $2.50, or approximately 36¢ a picture. Faculty tickets are $3 and the price for local patrons is $3.60.

Cosmopolitan Club

Carrousel Theme Chosen For Dance

"Monte Carlo Carrousel" is the theme of the annual Cosmopolitan Club dance and floor show to be held in the Union Ballroom Saturday, March 5, from 8 to 12 p.m.

The name of the dance and floor show has been changed from the "Cosmopolitan Club Carnival" as it was called in previous years because, according to Gunnar Green, Cosmo Club member, the word carnival has a different connotation in America than it does in Europe. The Cosmopolitan Club dance, he said, is not a carnival in the American sense of the word.

The floor show program will include musical numbers and folk dances from all over the world, Green said.

There will be participation by students from countries including Latvia, Lithuania, Russia, Italy, Germany, France, Japan, West Africa, Afghanistan and India.

Featured on the program will be folk dancing of the various countries, a musical program by a group of German students and several Italian songs sung by Gian-Carlo Malnati, an Italian student.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the dance may be purchased for one dollar in a Union booth, the speech clinic in the Temple Building or from canvassers who will visit organized houses.

"The price is less than last year and the program better, so we hope there will be as many people there as possible," John Zacharia, Cosmo Club president said.

Selections from the floor show program will be presented on KUON-TV at 11:30 a.m. Saturday and March 5.

Dance Chairmen

Committee chairmen for the dance include Nancy Tritsch, decorations; Don Pelton, tickets, and Valida Jansons, publicity. Zacharia, as club president, is in charge of the overall program.

Assistance from outside the club has come from Student Council members, the Foreign Students Activities Committee and Dr. Lucielle Cryprensen, faculty advisor of Cosmopolitan Club.

Any foreign student not members of the Cosmopolitan Club who have any talent and wish to participate in the floor show may contact Dr. Cyprensen in Room 102, Temple Building.

Al Holbert's Band will play at the Saturday dance.

The Outside World Reds Mass Forces

By DICK RALSTON
Staff Writer

Determined Nationalist air attacks on Chinese Communist shipping and military installations have failed to halt the threatening buildup of Red forces in the area.

Reliable sources report the continuation of a buildup of Red forces on the Taishan Islands, threatening nearby Nanchinan, and the beginning of a buildup on the Kukien province opposite the strategic Matsus Islands. The Taishan Islands are located 110 miles north of Formosa; the Matsus Islands lie about 100 miles straight west and next to the coast.

UN Charges Communists

The United Nations Command has formally charged Communist North Korea of violating the Korean armistice by building up its air strength. The Feb. 5 attack on an American reconnaissance bomber over the Yellow Sea by Communist MIGs was cited as evidence that Red air activities in North Korea since the armistice have "mounted from zero in increasing magnitude to a high tempo."

New French Attempt

The fourth man in 15 days to attempt to form a new French government is given little chance of success by the political experts. Edgar Faure, ex-premier and member of the cabinet of Mendes-France, told President Rene Coty he would see how much support he could expect and report back as soon as possible.

House Approves Tax Cut

The House Ways and Means Committee appeared Monday to be set to approve the Democratic proposal of a general $20-a-person income tax cut, in spite of the vigorous opposition of the administration Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey appeared before the committee behind closed doors and reportedly "violently opposed" the measure. However, Humphrey declined to say whether the president would veto such a bill.

Eisenhower has argued that the government's fiscal picture will not permit a tax cut this year, although it might be feasible next year.

Three Major Physical Changes

Efficiency Growth For Libraries Predicted By NU Director Lundy

By LUCIGRACE SWITZER
Staff Writer

Following seven major changes which are planned for the next few years, "the University libraries will have unquestionably one of the most efficient library physical plants to be found in any state University or land grant college," said Frank Lundy, director of University Libraries.

Three major physical changes are planned in the library system. Lundy expressed confidence that these would be accomplished at least within the next 20 years.

"Love Memorial Library is now 10 years old. It seats about 1,200 students in a study situation. In that respect as a central library it will be more or less adequate for at least 25 years," Lundy explained.

He pointed out, however, that Love Library bookshelves which will hold 600,000 volumes are nearly full.

New Shelving System

"We are planning to install a new type of book shelving which will double the capacity of the book stacks, so that without adding additional buildings here we can house well over a million volumes in the present building," Lundy said.

He continued, "This will be expensive, but not nearly so expensive as doubling the building or making similar provision for more books. It will cost approximately $500,000 to build the new compact storage shelves and to install them."

Plans, he said, have been completed for a new seven-story annex for the College of Law. This annex will be devoted entirely to the housing of books and library services.

Lundy said it should be completed within the next two or three years and will be financed by present building levies.

Tentative plans have been completed for a new College of Medicine library to be housed in the new hospital wing to be built on that campus, the director said.

Ag Mass Meeting Set By University Builders

An Ag Builders mass meeting will be Wednesday evening at 7:15 p.m. in the Food and Nutrition Building lounge.

Charlie Trumble, sale and membership chairman announced that past workers and other interested students may sign with a committee at this time. Other committees and chairmen are publicity, Arley Walfo; tours, Richard Johnson and public relations, Larry Connor.

library purposes, Lundy explained this improvement would be paid for out of the College of Medicine building levy.

The third major improvement in the library physical plant would take shape when a new College of Agriculture library building to be located across the mall from the present Food and Nutrition Building. The building would be approximately the center of the development plan for the Ag College, Lundy said.

"Funds are not at this moment in sight for this project, but the need is obvious and urgent. At this time 10,000 volumes from the research collection of the College of Agriculture are being housed in the basement of Love Library," he explained. "Within the present year it is quite probable that another 10,000 volumes will be moved into storage in the central library."

Efficient Plant

"These and succeeding movements will inevitably impair the effective management of teaching and research on Agriculture campus and it is therefore our hope that this deficiency in good library building space can be remedied before 1960," he added.

"With the total occupancy at full capacity of all the services and facilities of the Love Memorial Library, and with the erection and branch libraries in Law, Medicine and Agriculture, the University will have unquestionably one of the most efficient library physical plants to be found in any state university of land grant college," Lundy said.

The other major improvement slated for the near future, according to Lundy, is a new kind of research library utilizing micro-facsimile techniques.

"Extensive files of micro-film materials and micro-film readers have been with us for nearly a quarter of a century. We are now to micro-cards and micro-print," he explained.

The micro-cards are produced by photography and offer the reader a complete book on one-two or three cards of three by five inch size or approximately the size of an ordinary file card.
