8-1 Wrestling Record

Bryant Wins Award For 'Star Of Week'

By MAX KREITMAN
Sports Staff Writer

Charlie Bryant, an all-Big Seven guard in football and an outstanding wrestler performer, has been selected by The Nebraskan as the second "Star of the Week" on the strength of his excellent season with Don Strashelm's wrestling squad, compiling in nine dual tests a record of eight wins and one loss.

Decisions Blume

The 177-pound performer was considered for the honor last week but his successful engagement with Dale Blume in Kansas State meet, Feb. 11, 1955, was overshadowed by the sparkling cage performances of Will Fagler, last week's recipient of the "Star of the Week" award.

Even though Bryant and the wrestling crew were not in action last week, the staff felt his outstanding record of the past few weeks, including a decision over Iowa's John Winder, last year's Big Ten 167-pound champ, was deserving of the recognition.

Throughout the campaign Bryant has been one of the double-barreled sparks for Strashelm's matmen.

Arnold Morton has been the other consistent winner for the Huskers. He is the only other Cornhusker batting over .500 in matches won with a respectable 5-4 mark. Bryant's win over Winder in a jaunt to Iowa University was his top effort of the year and coupled with his K-State victory brought him to an 8-1 state.

Wins Six Of Seven

Bryant began his grappling career as a sophomore, winning six of seven matches. He shared 167- and 177-pound honors with Nebraska's Dave Ellsinger. His only loss was to Bill Ong, Colorado's 177-pound mainstay and Big Seven champ.

In his junior year, Bryant lost four of ten matches but finished third in the Big Seven meet at Norman, Oklahoma, and third in the Big Seven tourney. He bowed in the semifinals.

A rugged guard bolstering the center of the line for Glassford's Orange Bowl squad, Bryant lettered two years in football and received many grid honors for his '54 play. Among them were All-Big Seven and honorable mention All-American honors and the tenth draft choice of the Green Bay Packers.

In high school, Bryant played on the Omaha South eleven, copping all-city and all-state honors. He is a 6-0 senior weighing in at 175. During the football season, he tipped the scales at 195.

The "Star of the Week" award will be continued throughout the semester. Voting is done by the male side of the Nebraskan staff. A certificate is given each week's star.

The purpose of the award is to recognize outstanding athletic achievements by members of the University varsity—not only in the major sports—but also in the many areas of our fine minor sport program.

The Start-early Theory

Hofstetter Used Hoe Handle For Vaulting

Jim Hofstetter, Nebraska's finest pole vaulter since the days of Don Cooper, used the start-early theory to develop into a top-flight vaulter.

The Husker senior made his initial vault in his first years of grade school. Using a hoe handle for a pole, Jim's first performance was over a cane pole placed across two barrels.

"I tried a long time before I got over that fishing pole," Jim recalls, "but that really made me interested in vaulting."

When he entered junior high Jim naturally stayed with his pet event.

Although he lettered in football and basketball at Kearney, his main interest remained with track and the pole vault.

"My biggest disappointment came in my junior year at Kearney. After qualifying for the pole vault for the State Meet, I broke my kneecap and couldn't compete at Lincoln. It was really a let down after I had been working towards that meet for years and years."

His early-age vaulting paid big dividends his senior year. He vaulted 12 foot 1 inch and achieved his childhood ambition of competing in the State Meet at Lincoln where he placed second in the vault.

When Jim entered the University, Don Cooper, first collegian vaulter to clear 15 feet, was still at Nebraska completing studies towards his graduation in January.

"That was the best break I had," the 21-year-old accounting major said. "Don Cooper taught me more about pole vaulting in a semester than I had picked up in all my previous practice."

As a sophomore for the Huskers, Jim remembers an incident which didn't help his vaulting any.

Bill Glassford Says Coaching Job Still Open

Head football coach Bill Glassford said Tuesday that no decision had yet been reached concerning the appointment of a new end coach to fill the vacancy left by Ray Prochaska.

Glassford said that he has been seriously considering two men for the position, but that nothing has been definitely decided upon as yet. The Husker coach added that the vacated position should be filled by the end of this week.

It was disclosed earlier that Glassford had discussed the possibility of a coaching position here at Nebraska with Will Walls, former coaching aid at Louisiana State University. Glassford said, however, that the end coach job has not been offered to Walls.

Your search is over when you light up a Lucky. You'll find out why college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands, as shown by the latest, greatest college survey. Old Council Bids Adieu, Fades Away

By PHYL CAST
Sports Staff Writer

Old Council members never die, they just kind of fade away. Yes, it's getting about that time when the old Council must say adieu and a new one will take its place.

This can mean nothing else than the fact that application for Council and Sportsboard positions will soon be open. You can pick up application blanks outside the WAA office door starting March 2. These must be in the 16th.

A slight switch has been pulled. Sportsboard and Council positions have been combined and are now one group. The new positions are: Volleyball and Badminton, Archery and Duckpins, Tennis Doubles and Singles and Nebraska Ball, Soccer Baseball and Golf, Freshman Soccer Baseball and Table Tennis, Softball and Bowling, Baseball, Social and Publicity chairmen, Office Manager and Co-Recreation, Intramural Co-ordinator, Assistant Intramural Co-ordinator.

Applications Due

At the same time you turn in your application blank, sign up for an interview. Here's the deal. Interviews will be the 17th and the 18th from 4:00-6:00 p.m. This may get a bit confusing, so try thinking real clear.

Anyone applying for these positions — Intramural Co-ordinator, Assistant Intramural Co-ordinator, Publicity and Social Chairmen, or Office Manager and Co-Recreation — you MUST sign up for an interview on the 17th. Why you ask and I reply, Ours not to reason why, ours but to do or die.

Since the basketball tournament is double elimination, there is actually nothing definite set on who stands where. Also ping pong has not been in progress long enough to tell anything. So much for that. It was really nothing.

This is the moment you've been waiting for — when again the inspiring message of who plays to-morrow night in Co-Rec is brought to you. I could fake you out and not even tell you but that would make this column awfully short so here goes: KAPPA ALPHA THETA No. 3 and DELTA TAU DELTA, DELTA GAMMA and BETA THETA PI, GAMMA PHI BETA No. 2 and PHI DELTA THETA, ALPHA PHI No. 3 and DELTA Upsilon, WILSON HALL No. 1 and CORNHUSKER CO-OP, ALPHA OMICRON PI and ALPHA GAMMA RHO.
