20 To 9 Vote

Student Council Limits Activities

Student Council passed the proposed "Policy of limiting leadership responsibility" Wednesday by a vote of 20 to 9.

Precedents were broken during the meeting which was held in the Ballroom in the presence of approximately 100 students. The meeting began at 4 p.m. and adjourned until 6:50 p.m. after the presentation of statements by the students, distribution of resolutions concerning activities, and a pointed debate, charges were made and address by Council President Jack Rogers.

Woodward said that his sincerity was "absolute and absolute." He also stated that Council members had not given the senior group the right of rebuttal in their remarks directed towards the group. Woodward concluded by saying, "Jack, thanks a lot, I didn't know I was such a wheel, and I'm glad you're so good of me."

Rogers concluded by saying, "I'm glad it is as passed that it was an individual who had previously stated that the members of the senior organization had been 'victimized by the seniors' and 'these are the men in whose hands too many strings are attached.' The Council president stepped down from the floor and asked permission to speak to the Council. Rogers did not resume the chair again during the meeting. Rogers spoke during the late minutes of the meeting and said, 'the proposal already has enough votes to pass," but I feel that I should "speak from obligation." He said that he possessed a "guilt complex" as he said, "I was not strong enough to limit myself."

The alternative proposal of more effective orientation concerning activities, Rogers said, is in effect today. The Council proposal is "something above and beyond guidance," he said. "Activities should be kept at an extra-curricular status," Rogers stated.

Rogers said that evidence of the fact "that a few men are controlling many offices" was shown in those who were present at the meeting in opposition of the plan. "The group," Rogers said, "presented no ideas which the Council was not previously aware of." He said that the group was present for "no other reason than that they had to do it themselves," referring to any opposition to the Council proposal.

Council Debate
During Council debate on the proposal, Barb Clark stated that Tassels had approved the plan with only four dissenting votes. Fred Stauffer said that the Women's Residence Hall Council was in favor of the plan. Approximately 75 per cent of the applicants for Student Council from men's co-ops, women's dorms and Seleck Quad are in favor of the plan, Walt Brestal stated. Marlene Hutchinson said that the Ag YWCA favored the "essence of the plan."

Carole Unterseher termed the proposal's policy of limiting personal choice as a "substitute for guts." Much debate during the meeting was replete with discussion at the previous Council meeting.

Dick Fellman moved that the Council approve the attendance and participation by the student body in the meeting. The motion was passed unanimously.

Materials Shows
Material which was distributed throughout the room by the senior committee included three Nebraska editorials, one Nebraska news story concerning the previous Council meeting, a Nebraska letter; the text of the Council proposal; a graph depicting the distribution of offices among University students; a copy of a 1948 proposal for a point system for men similar to that of AWS; articles entitled "The Seamy Side of Progress"; The Employer Looks at the College Graduate; "What does GM Look For in a College Graduate," and "Phi Beta Kappa and Big Man on Campus"; two employment applications for college graduates; a graph showing the trend toward more campus number of students holding offices; an article published in The Nebraskan last year by Devries; a criteria for legislation and statements by organization presidents opposing the plan.

Presidents who were listed in opposition to the Council proposal include Al Anderson, Kosmet Klub president; Mary Coffey, Ag YWCA president; Mimi Hamer, Union activities chairman; Devries, IFC president; Jan H. Beal, Nebraskan editor; Marv Stromer, past Red Cross president; Junior Knobel, Corn Cobs president, and Andy Smith, AUF president.

Proposal Not Retroactive; Committee To Supervise

By SAM JENSEN
Copy Editor

The proposal which the Student Council passed Wednesday takes effect immediately, but is not retroactive.

Persons who were in violation of the proposal before its passage will not be required to relinquish their positions, however, persons will not be allowed to fill another board position, or a position of equal status, that is in violation of the Council policy.

Most of the legislation will go into effect next year with the possible exception of organizations such as the Union and Kosmet Klub which have not as yet chosen their new membership. It is believed that appeals from these organizations to the Council judiciary committee would allow persons who have been working in these positions to gain membership, even though they are in violation of the policy.

The proposal, however, groups could not accept the position any person who already has positions in these organizations. Appeals to the judiciary committee, if not granted, could be appealed to the subcommittee on student activities and the Faculty Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

Spring Event Date To Be Kept Secret

Plans are under way for the Spring Event which will be held this spring, Tom Woodward, chairman of the committee, said Thursday.

Woodward stressed the fact that students will not know of the time of the event until the day before, and that some classes would probably be disrupted.

Events being planned for the special occasion include a parade and float, race, a dance and a luncheon.

Ingrid Swartz, elected president of Radio Group, said she and Jack Hale was secretary-treasurer. The committee will send the Alpha chapter to the convention in Columbia, Mo. Council is to be held at a luncheon at the end of a

Editor's Note

Because of the significance of real news events, The Nebraskan fourth page is a straight news page. The Nebraskan has a responsibility to inform students of recent events which it could not forget for sake of April foolery. Since there will be no Nebraskan until after spring vacation, the Pink Rag is only three-fourths pink.

Saturday Events

Annual Sports Day To Feature Football

The annual All-Sports Day festivities will take place Saturday. It was previously announced for April 9.

An intrasquad football game and the annual Alumni-Varsity basketball game will be played. The football game will be played at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium. The basketball contest will start at 4 p.m. in the Coliseum.

Saturday morning, fans will see an exhibition game in tennis at 9 a.m. on the tennis courts and a practice session of the track team at 12 noon.

There will be no work-out of the baseball team as first planned because the team left Thursday for games during spring vacation with the University of Tulsa, Houston and Texas and Rice Institute.

After the football game, the swimming team will put on an exhibition in the Coliseum pool at 5 p.m.

The intrasquad football game will be the final drill of the spring practice season. Twenty drills are allowed under NCAA rules; the practice session Wednesday was the 19th for the Husker griders.

John Bentley, Athletic Publicity Director, said Thursday that a new departure from the standard football lineup will greet spectators. On defense, guards will play outside tackles. Glassford said the move was made to improve team mobility because "the guards have proved more agile than the tackles."

Both squads will have several freshmen in the lineup. But slightly different conditions will face onlookers, not only on the gridiron, but inside on the basketball court, too. This is a direct result of new rules laid down recently in Kansas City at the 29th annual basketball congress.

The 12-foot free-throw lane will be newly painted onto the Coliseum mple. Coach Jerry Bush will probably start Rex Ekwall and Chuck Smith at forwards, Jim Thom at center and Whitey Buel and Norm Coufal in the backcourt.

The one-week postponement of All-Sports Day has "placed a deep furrow in the brow of Coach Jerry Bush," Bentley said. It means that Jim Buchanan and Bill Johnson will be able to play with the Alumni five.

Leadership Hour
YWCA will sponsor a Leadership Hour April 14 from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., Sharon Mangold, YW president, announced Thursday.
