Universities Abroad List Study Plans

Opportunities for foreign study by United States college students during summer vacations have been compiled in a pamphlet published by the Institute of International Education.

A 20 page leaflet, entitled "Summer Study Abroad 1957," lists educational institutions in 22 countries which offer summer programs.

European countries where American students may enroll for summer study are Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Eire, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

In Latin America courses are offered at schools in Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Mexico and Peru.

The majority of courses offered to summer visitors are designed to give insight into the language, history and culture of the host country.

The Institute of International Education administers exchange programs for public and private agencies here and abroad.

The pamphlet may be obtained by writing the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

March 30 through April 2, came at the end of the convention for the nine delegates from the University.

At this time it was announced that the next conference in 1957 will be held at Nebraska, which means that the campus WAA will have the national president-elect, national recording secretary and national treasurer of A.F.C.W.

The conference included business meetings, group discussions and general sessions, plus recreational and demonstration periods.

The states included in Nebraska's region are South Dakota, North Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota.

Guide: Museum Visitors Increase

Approximately 20,000 school children will visit the University State Museum in Morrill Hall in the next two months, an increase of 5000 over a year ago, according to Newell Joyner, naturalist guide.

Students will come from 500 rural schools and 600 elementary, secondary and college units from Nebraska and 10 nearby states, he said.

Since July, 42,000 persons have visited the Museum. The breakdown is: 3500 in guided school groups; 4260 Boy Scouts; 4000 persons in non-guided groups; and 30,000 individual visitors.

Each year, the Museum attempts to add new educational displays, he explained. At present, the Museum has more kinds of fossil elephants on display than any other museum in the world.

"And," Joyner added, "all the fossils come from Nebraska."

Following the convention the group journeyed by bus to Boston, New York and Washington, D.C., making a one day sightseeing tour of each.

The delegates spent three days in New York City and visited the Empire State Building, Statue of Liberty, United Nations building and Radio City. They enjoyed the stage productions "The Boyfriend," "Silk Stockings," "Plain and Fancy" and "Pajama Game."

Editors' Tour Eleven Soviet Students To Visit U.S. Colleges

To acquaint themselves with American college students and their activities, 11 Soviet student editors will tour United States college campuses this spring.

The itinerary includes observations of Columbia University, Fordham University and Hunter College in New York City; Tuskegee Institute in Alabama; University of New Mexico; Stanford University; University of Chicago, and University of Michigan.

Other colleges and universities will be added to this list. The trip is planned to show a cross-section of American higher education.

Spring Vacation Foreign Students To Tour Nebraska

Thirty-nine foreign students attending the University will spend part of their spring vacation getting a close look at life in several Nebraska towns, under Morale Board sponsorship.

Students making the trip are: Arnis Annalis, Latvia; Kennedy Cooper, Honduras; Maurice Gerard, France; Poernomo Herve, Indonesia; Nke Kamrany, Afghanistan.

Two Films Set For Showing

Two films just released from Washington, D.C. will be shown in the Ag Union Lounge Tuesday at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Wednesday at 4 p.m.

These films were brought to the University through the efforts of H. P. Davis, professor of dairy husbandry. The Ag Union Activities Committee will sponsor the sound films which are in color.

The first film, "Indian Villages" was produced under the sponsorship of the Ford Foundation.

The second film is based upon the agricultural work of the U.S. Foreign Operations Administration.

IAWS Convention Delegates Report Proposals To Strengthen Organization Broady, Nosky To Present Group Findings

Paula Broady and Kay Nosky, delegates for the Intercollegiate Associated Women Students Convention held in Lawrence, Kan. over Easter vacation will present a report of the convention at the AWS Workshop April 20.

Miss Broady, president, and Miss Nosky, vice-president, represented this university's AWS Board in discussions relating to: problems of various campuses concerning aspects of AWS activities.

The main work of the convention was concerned with setting up machinery for a stronger IAWS, which could be more concerned with broader problems of University women students, according to Miss Broady.

Previously, the conventions served merely as an interchange of narrower problems and solutions among the delegates.

The discussions groups, however, were valuable and presented many ideas which may be applicable to this campus, Miss Broady said.

Marjorie Johnston, dean of women, also attended the convention, and was advisor to one of the discussion groups.

The Nebraska AWS was hostess at the Good Friday Brunch during the convention.

Principal speakers for the event were Arthur Adams, president of the American Council on Education, and Ernestine Gilbreth Cary, co-author of "Cheaper by the Dozen," and "Belles on Their Toes."

Fifty deans of women and 270 women students from 42 states attended the convention which was held April 6-10.

Discussion topics were "IAWS—Its Relation to AWS" and "Does IAWS Need a Creed."

One of the trends seen at the Convention suggested that fewer rules and less penalties are being used by women's governing bodies throughout the nation, Miss Broady said.

Tuesday Honoraries To Reveal Members

Phi Beta Kappa, Arts and Sciences College honorary, and Sigma Xi, national engineering honorary, will reveal the newly elected members at a joint dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:15 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Speaker for the banquet is Paul MacKendrick, a professor at the University of Wisconsin. His topic will be "Contribution of the Classical World to Western Man."

At the recent annual business meeting of Phi Beta Kappa, Clifford M. Hicks, professor of business organization and management, was elected president.

Other officers elected were vice-president, Robert Knoll, assistant professor of English; secretary, S. T. Vandersall, assistant professor of Classics; treasurer, R. C. Dein, professor of Accounting; and historian, Kenneth Forward, assistant professor of English.

NU Extension Division Offers Special Courses

An expanding interest in adult education has been reported by Dr. Knute Broady, director of the University Extension Division.

Enrollment for evening classes has increased 57 per cent since last year, he said. Second semester enrollment in adult education numbers 1,050 as compared with 675 enrolled last year.

Special classes have been organized for various groups. English is being offered for secretaries, improvement of reading for telephone employees and industrial psychology for employees of local industries.

Builders To Meet Builders committee in charge of selling magazine subscriptions will hold an orientation meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, Ben Belmont, committee chairman, announced.
