

Corn Cobs To Initiate Sixteen Workers At Banquet Wednesday

Sixteen new members of Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, were revealed by Cobs officers Monday.

May 3

Pre-Law Students Plan Club

An organizational meeting for a pre-law club will be May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 101 of the Law Building.

All men and women students at the University, Wesleyan and Union College interested in entering the College of Law are urged to attend, said Gerry Fellman, Law Association representative. Invitations have been sent to all known pre-law students.

At the meeting Dean David Dow will speak on the scholarships available to law students. Other topics will include entrance requirements, law as a profession, job opportunities for graduates and the law curriculum for the three and four-year programs.

The faculty, student leaders and presidents of law fraternities will be introduced.

A coffee hour in the law Association lounge will follow the meeting. Students will have a chance to meet the professors and will be encouraged to ask questions, Fellman said.

The organizational meeting will be the only one this spring. Next fall the new club will hold regular student-planned meetings. Programs will include films and special speakers on various phases of law.

James Lake, professor of law, is in charge of organizing the club.

Three Groups

Meetings Planned By AWS

Three discussion groups will be held for the AWS workshop, Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Time elements, preliminary judging and limiting backdrops and costumes will be discussed by the "Coed Follies" group. "Making the Most of Our College Opportunities" will consider standards of school conduct and school activities.

A discussion of rules, AWS court and the point system will be included by the group. "AWS and Its Responsibilities to the Campus."

Ag Awards For Judging Announced

Gerald Schiermeyer, junior in Ag College, received a wrist watch as winner of the senior division of the Block and Bridle judging contest.

Other senior division winners were Stanley Eberspacher, second, Allen Trenkle, third; Charles Thomsen, fourth, and Dwain Trenkle, fifth.

Don Beck won the junior division followed by Paul Yeutter, Dick Deets, Jack Todd.

The Cy Winkler trophy for the high junior division team went to the Alpha Gamma Rho team composed of Beck, Deets, Hagemeier, Rathjen and Bob Glock.

Ray Kelly was announced as winner of the merit trophy award.

Summary Of Year

Meet At Oklahoma Ends Debate Season

University debaters won 67 per cent of their contests in the last debate season, according to Donald O. Olsen, debate coach.

"The outstanding thing about this debate team is that the members are active in all phases of University life," Olsen said. "Most are involved in a number of activities and are also good students."

The Delta Sigma Rho regional congress at the University of Oklahoma wound up debate for the forensic season. The debate team participated in 233 debates in the past season.

Nine contests were audience debates and 224 were decision debates. The team won 149 of the decision debates and lost 75.

In all events the team won 28 superior ratings. University debaters participated in 11 intercollegiate debate and discussion conferences.

Many schools only use their best debaters, but the University debate team has a policy of giving as many interested and capable students a chance to participate as possible, Olsen said.

"We feel debate is an education adventure," he said.

The new members, chosen from the top workers of this school year, will be formally initiated at a Corn Cobs banquet Wednesday.

The sixteen new Corn Cobs are:

Tom Olson, Alpha Tau Omega; Don Beck, Doyle Hulme, and Harvey Jorgenson, Alpha Gamma Rho; Mervyn Schliefer, Alpha Gamma Sigma; Delmar Hahrt and Rod Einspahr, Beta Sigma Psi; Leo Damkroger, Bill DeWulf, and Charlie Trumble, Farm House.

Larry Hanson, Sigma Chi; Jerry Nissen, Sigma Phi Epsilon; John Nelson, Ron Blue, and Vernon Hall, Theta Xi; Dick Fellman, Zeta Beta Tau.

Formal initiation of these new activities will be held Wednesday evening at a banquet in the Union. The initiation will also be the occasion for the announcement of the new Corn Cobs officers, selected each year by the outgoing officers.

This year's Corn Cobs officers are: Junior Knobel, Farm House, president; Leonard Barker, Theta Xi, vice-president; Phil Shade, Sigma Phi Epsilon, secretary; and Doran Jacobs, Zeta Beta Tau, treasurer.

New Corn Cobs are selected on the basis of work done for the organization during their sophomore year. Workers sell N flowers at football games and handle all arrangements for the annual Homecoming dance. This includes not only selling tickets, but making decorations and advertising the dance. The card sections at the football games are composed of Corn Cobs and Tassels and freshman pep organizations.

Corn Cob workers sell Cornhuskers throughout the year, and this year they sold tickets to the Chancellor's dinner. Each member is required to attend all sports rallies and to handle arrangements for those rallies.

This year about 31 students engaged in Corn Cobs activities as workers. There are sixteen activities and four officers now in the organization.

During the three days preceding the Corn Cob initiation, all new members are required to wear red sweaters and tiny corn cobs on ribbons around their necks.

At the dinner Wednesday, all Junior members of the Corn Cobs will be presented special keys.

Auditions Open

NU Film To Dramatize Pershing Rifles History

Auditions for parts in a "dramatic documentary" film on the history and present-day activities of Pershing Rifles, national ROTC honorary are open to all men students from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the photographic productions office in West Stadium.

The tentative title of the film is "The Highest Ideals," writer-director Anthony Groslein said Monday.

Groslein, University motion picture production supervisor, said the film will be distributed nationally.

"We feel this offers student actors a rather unique opportunity to participate in a professionally produced motion picture. It presents a definite challenge to actors' acting abilities," he continued.

In order to try out for parts in the movie, men students need not be members of Pershing Rifles, experts in military matters, or have had previous movie acting experience.

Research and writing of the script for the film began in February. Shifting of its scenes will be completed by the end of the semester. Editing and final processing of the movie will occupy the summer.

The plot of the film will revolve around portrayals of men of the different eras of Pershing Rifles' history.

The society was founded at the University in 1894 by then 2nd Lt. John J. Pershing. The ROTC honorary, whose headquarters are at the University now has 130 chapters in 43 states.

Technical advisors for the film are Col. Chester Diestel, chairman of the department of military science and tactics, Lt. Col. Ernst Liebmann, associate professor of military science and tactics, and Virgil Holtgrewe, national student commander of Pershing Rifles.

Paper, Yearbook Filings Announced

Students wishing to apply for paid staff positions on The Nebraskan and Cornhusker for next year may obtain applications from the Public Relations Office, 1127 R St.

Cornhusker applicants will be interviewed by the Board of Student Publications at the Union May 5 beginning at 4 p.m. Cornhusker to Public Relations by pleted application forms should be April 29.

Interviews for Nebraskan positions will be May 24. Business staff applicants will be interviewed first, beginning at 4 p.m. Applications must be returned by May 18.

the music world will be represented by "Jazz Pizzicato."

Interpretations of the international scene and foreign dispatches will be portrayed by "In a Persian Market."

Tickets are 50 cents and will be for sale at the door.

Officers of the group are: Ann Kokjer, president; Nan Engler, vice-president; Mary Clare Dodson, secretary; and Mary Gattis, treasurer.

Beverly Becker, instructor in physical education for women, is adviser for the group, which is sponsored by WAA and department of physical education for women.

Bok To Discuss Criminal Law In Roscoe Pound Lectureship

Curtis Bok, presiding judge in one of Philadelphia's Courts of Common Pleas, will deliver the second and third lectures in the Roscoe Pound lectureship Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium.

He will discuss the human and legal side of many problems in the administration of the criminal law. Judge Bok will lecture Tuesday on "The Substantive Law" and "Penology and Treatment" Wednesday. He lectured on "The Trial" Monday.

Judge Bok handed down a decision in 1949 which protested nine American novels from charges of obscenity. Some of the authors involved in the case included William Faulkner, James T. Farrell and Erskine Caldwell.

Judge Bok's decision was later upheld in the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

The lectureship is sponsored by the Committee for the Roscoe Pound Fund and the College of Law.

The Outside World

Chou Stymies Talks

By DICK RALSTON Staff Writer

The recent offer of Red China's Chou En-lai to confer with the United States on easing tension in the Formosa area seems to have reached a stalemate. The United States is insisting that Nationalist China would have to be a party to any such negotiations, and Chou reportedly refuses any negotiations with the Nationalists present.

The offer to negotiate the Formosan problem came during the closing session of the Afro-Asian conference in Bandung Indonesia. The conference ended with the adoption of a communique condemning colonialism "in all its manifestations," appealing for an end to racialism, asking world disarmament and prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs and their tests, and promising closer cultural and economic ties.

Pro-Western powers at the conference won major victories when the conference approved the formation of defense alliances under the United Nations charter, and when they won Red China's willingness to approve such principles as the United Nations definition of human rights and self-determination.

Classes for the horse show are parade, palomino pleasure, five-gaited, three-gaited, fine-harness and Tennessee walking horse.

Judge for the horse show will be John Dean of Glenwood, Ia. Bob Plumb of Omaha will be master of ceremonies.

Participating in the opening ceremony and the flag presentation will be Governor Victor Anderson, Chancellor Clifford Hardin. Major Clark Jeary and Ag College Dean W. V. Lambert.

The show will include a potato race between representatives of Denton and Plattsmouth. Lincoln businessmen will participate in a musical chair contest.

In the showmanship contest individuals will show sheep, cattle and hogs.

Admission is $1 for adults, 75 cents for students and 50 cents for children. Tickets are available from any Block and Bridle member.

NROTC Presents Middies Awards

Twenty University midshipmen will receive proficiency awards at the Naval ROTC Corps annual awards program Tuesday at 3 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium.

Byron Dunn, Lincoln banker, will deliver the address. Capt. W. O. Gallery, professor of naval science, will make the acknowledgement to the 1955 donors and Comdr. J. M. Bowers will introduce the donors. Midshipman Walter Wright Jr. will present the battalion.

Donors of the proficiency awards are Lincoln business firms and patriotic organizations.

Population Up

Growing University Merits Big Budget

The University's enlarged proposed budget for 1955-57 is due in part to a recognition that the University is growing with the state, Chancellor Clifford Hardin said in a Nebraskan interview.

The budget which the University has requested is $18,830,000—$3,830,000 more than the budget for the present two year period.

The University budget is taken from the state's General Fund and is part of the total appropriation that the Legislature must make for every two year period. The Budget committee conducts hearings for other institutions of the state and then decides the amount that it will recommend to the Unicameral later in the year.

Two and one-half million dollars of the proposed increase would be used to support the existing program at the University, and the remaining $1,300,000 of the proposed hike would be used in the development of new activities.

Thirty-six per cent of the proposed development fund, Hardin said, would go to the University Medical center in Omaha for more adequate staffing, promotion of closer relations by the Medical College with Lincoln and Omaha hospitals and expansion of the outpatient department.

The Chancellor told the committee that approximately 1000 additional students might be attending the University in 1957. Although no formal study has been undertaken, he said, a higher percentage of high school graduates are going to college now and fewer students are dropping out of school.

Merit increases for faculty account for $1,200,000 of the proposed budget. Hardin said that the pay increase would not be of the blanket type and would go to those faculty members who have done and are doing "meritorious work." The increase is aimed at retaining key members of the staff, both academic and non-academic.
