Linford To Address Journalism Luncheon

Ernest Linford, nationally-known editorial writer for the Salt Lake Tribune, will be the featured speaker at the fifth annual Awards Luncheon on the University's Journalism Day Saturday.

Bok Sees Changes In Insanity Rulings

Pleas of insanity used by the defense in criminal trials are coming in for searching looks from lawyers and psychiatrists across the United States and England.

This was the opinion expressed Monday evening by Curtis Bok, Judge of Philadelphia's Court of Common Pleas No. 6, in delivering the first of three lectures on "Problems in the Criminal Law." Judge Bok spoke Monday on "The Trial."

But, Bok went on, lawyers and psychiatrists are far from agreement on what constitutes insanity. Their disagreement, he said, stems from the fact that "the two professions are talking on different planes. In the criminal trial, Bok said, law is concerned with the "outer conduct" of a person on trial. Law deals with the objective determinaand of the Laramie Republican-Boomerang.

A graduate of the University of Wyoming, he studied in 1946 and 1947 at Harvard University on a fellowship from the Nieman Foundation for Journalism.

Town And Country Church Conference To Open Today

More than 200 rural pastors and laymen are expected to attend the Town and Country Church Conference to be held at the Ag College campus Tuesday and Wednesday.

Guy Davis, assistant state 4-H leader and secretary of the conference, said all religious organizations are invited to participate in this interdenominational conference. The commission controlling the conference meets twice a year and consist of one pastor and one layman from each denomination.

Guest speakers from out of state to appear on the program are Rev. Edwin Becker, Director of Religious Field work at Drake University, Des Moines, and the Rev. Floyd Martinson, head of the department of sociology and social work at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin will welcome the group to the campus. Dr. Charles Patterson, chairman of the Philosophy department; Robert Roselle, extension entomologist, and Wayne Whitney, extension horticulturist, will also appear on the program.

William Loeffel, chairman of the animal husbandry department, has arranged a tour of the University experimental farm near Havelock.

land and power use. In 1953 he was awarded the conservation award of the American Forestry Association for editorials on the safeguarding of natural resources.

The Awards Luncheon includes presentation of certificates, plaques and keys to outstanding high school news workers, University students and professional journalists of the area. The luncheon traditionally marks the climax of the year's activities in the University's School of Journalism.

Silver Keys.

State high school journalists will receive 15 silver keys and 32 Silver Key Journalist certificates for the best work in news, feature writing, sports, columns and editorials.

The keys are made available annually by the Lincoln Journal and divided into three classes according to enrollment totals for the last three years of school.

The first of three annual $150 prizes for outstanding high school essays on freedom of information will be presented as a new award this year.

The prize has been established by an anonymous Nebraska newspaper donor to promote public interest in the problem of free access to legitimate news sources in public records.

A plaque will be presented by the undergraduate and professional chapters of Sigma Delta Chi to a weekly or daily newspaper editor or staff writer for some outstanding piece of work during the past 12 months.

Honorary Member

Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional news society, will present its honorary member for 1955, selected each year in recognition of her contribution to journalism or some related field of writing.

Undergraduate and Lincoln alumnae chapters of gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising honorary, will announce their choice of "Woman of the Year in Advertising," a woman from the immediate area who has contributed significantly to the professional practice of advertising.

Kappa Alpha Mu, photo-journalism organization for men and women, will honor the current winner of its traveling award for the best work by a University student in the basic course in photography.

Kappa Tau Alpha, scholastic honorary in journalism, will introduce its 1955 membership as well as the 1955 winner of the Seacrest Scholarship for Advanced Study for Journalism, and the 1955 winner of the Nebraska Press Women's prize for a senior woman Journalist.

NU To Exhibit Keiler Works

In one of the last major exhibitions of the current academic year, the University Art Galleries will present the work of Manfred L. Keiler, associate professor of art, in a one-man exhibition beginning Friday.

The exhibition including painting drawings and prints, will continue through May 22 at Morrill Hall.

A special opening and reception will be held Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.

'Grasshopper' Wins Prize

Winning first prize at the International Northwest Print Makers Annual Exhibition in Seattle was Rudy Pizzotti's woodcut entitled "Grasshopper." Prints of the "Grasshopper" have also been shown and have won prizes in St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Pizzotti Wins Top Award, $50 Prize For Woodcut

Rudy Pizzotti, instructor in design and graphic arts, was awarded a $50 purchase prize, the top award in the International Northwest Print Makers Annual Exhibition at the Seattle Art Museum.

His prize winning woodcut was entitled "Grasshopper." Prints of it have also been shown at the Missouri Artist Exhibition, where the print went into the collection of the St. Louis City Art Museum, and the Philadelphia Print Club show. It won purchase prizes at both shows.

"Grasshopper" was shown at the University in January at the annual faculty show. Another woodcut by Pizzotti is in the permanent University collection.

Pizzotti explained that a woodcut is one of the graphic arts. The design is initially cut into a block and the impression is taken from the relief part of the wood.

He prefers to use Japanese rice paper for his woodcuts because it is more delicate. Several prints may be made of the same woodcut; Pizzotti made 10 impressions of "Grasshopper."

Pizzotti has been an instructor at the University since 1950 except for a year 1952-53 when he studied in Italy on a Fulbright fellowship. He received his bachelor and master of fine arts degrees from the University of Colorado.

He has been working at woodcuts since 1950. Before that he had worked with metal plates and other forms in the graphic arts. Now he divides his time almost equally between the graphic arts and painting.

Since he has been making prints, he has had a one-man exhibition in the Philadelphia Art Museum where he received many awards and purchase prizes for his prints.

Alpha Zeta Initiates Sixteen

Alpha Zeta, national agricultural scholastic honorary, initiated 16 men Thursday evening.

The men chosen on basis of scholarship, leadership, and character are Ivan Auer, Larry Connor, Jim Dunn, Don Gruber, Lowell Humme, Russell Lang, Roger Moine, Raymond Nelson, Ronald Reinmiller, Wilfred Schutz, Dale Stukenholtz, Charles Trumble, James Turner and Arley Waldo.

Orval Weyers, chancellor, presided over the initiation.

Following the initiation a banquet was held in Parlors XYZ in the Union. Jim Dunn and Bruce Mauder were presented Alpha Zeta Scholarship medals.

Robert Olson, associate professor of agronomy, and Howard Deems, assistant professor of vocational education, were presented as the new associate members.

Robert Wagner of Hartington was guest speaker.

Engineering Fraternity Initiates Nine Members

Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering fraternity, has announced the addition of nine new members to their chapter.

The members, chosen for high scholarship, sound engineering ability and personality, are Roland Strasheim, James Hagan, Aaron Schlupmann, Dennis Coleman, Glen Schlukei, Lloyd Niemann, Ralph Feral, John Jurek and Herbert Abts.

It Happened At NU

The following appeared Friday on a bulletin board in Selleck Quadrangle (author unknown):

"I have been balled out, balled up, held up, held down, hung up, bulldozed, black-jacked, walked on, cheated, sauced, and mocked stuck for war tax, excess tax, state sog tax and sin tax; Liberty Bonds, and Baby Bonds; Red Cross, Green Cross and the double cross; asked to help the Society of John the Baptist, GAR, Women's Relief Corps, and stomach relief; I have worked like heck and been worked like heck, have been drunk and got others drunk; lost all the little I had earned; I beg, borrow and steal; I have talked to and been talked about; lied about and lied to; held up, hung up, racked, and darn near ruined, and the only reason I am sticking around now is to see what the heck is next."

Later, this penciled notation appeared beneath. "Disgusted, perhaps?"

Woods Fund Established By Foundation

The Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods Fund established for the professional benefit of University art department faculty members has been announced by Perry Branch, director - secretary of the University Foundation.

The gifts of $13,000 in stock will be used for travel expenses for the art faculty when a member gives a one-man exhibition, has works on display at galleries or attends an approved course of study at a foreign institution. The income will also be used to supplement travel allowances for the art faculty to attend professional meetings in distant cities.

New York YW Holds National Conclave

Delegates from city and Ag campus YWCA are attending the 20th national Triennial YWCA Convention in New York this week.

Of the 4,000 delegates representing more than 1,300 YWCA units in the United States, the University has sent Janice Osburn, executive director of the YWCA; Joyce Laase, former city campus president, and Mary Sorensen, treasurer of Ag YW.

Delegates will elect officers, hear addresses and discuss issues of interest to YW. The convention theme is "Our Task Today and Tomorrow."

The convention began with a presentation of YWCA history and with the keynote address—"This Moment is History"—delivered by Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration.

Saturday the delegates participated in a program on the United Nations. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge spoke. Tours of the UN followed.

Special events scheduled during the convention include a YWCA centennial service at Radio City Music Hall and a national radio program emanating from national YW headquarters.

Building Plans Set For New Nurses' Dorm

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Nurses Residence at the College of Medicine in Omaha are scheduled tentatively for Saturday. The University Board of Regents tentatively approved low construction bids totaling $937,413.

The new Nurses Residence will be the first major project to be financed under the $6,000,000 medical building levy passed by the 1953 Legislature. Besides housing 100 nurses, the building will have rooms for classes and recreational activities.

The five-story building will be located at 43rd and Emily Streets adjacent with the existing Nurses Residence.

Builders To Meet

A meeting for Builders workers selling magazine subscriptions will be held in the Builders office in the Union, at 5 p.m.

College Plans Pre-Med Day For Saturday

Pre-Med Day has been scheduled for Saturday by the College of Medicine, Eugene F. Powell, pre-medical adviser, announced.

Registration for the open house will be in the main entrance of the University Hospital in Omaha at 8:30 a.m. The program includes a tour of the Omaha campus and a medical presentation and discussion period in the late morning. Lunch will be served to the students on campus.

All pre-medical and pre-technical students interested in attending the open house must sign the sheet posted in Bessey Hall 306 by April 27. Those attending will have to provide their own transportation.

Nu-Meds To Help First Aid Booth

Nu-Meds, an organization of pre-medical students, medical technicians and pre-nurses, has volunteered to assist the Red Cross first aid committee sponsor the first aid booth at football games next fall.

The first aid committee has treated casualties in the past. Now nine or 10 Nu-Meds will also be employed.

This is the first time the Nu-Med organization has served in University activities. Monthly meetings were the only program for this group before this undertaking.
