Hofmaier Chalks Up Win Number 4 As Brown Smashes 3-Run Homer

By BOB COOK
Staff Sports Writer

Fran Hofmaier, ace Husker south paw, hurled a four-hitter as Nebraska dropped the visiting Oklahoma nine, 5-1, to move onto the top fun of Big Seven standings. Third sacker Don Brown continued his hitting spree as he collected his fourth circuit clout, a mighty 400 foot drive with two mates aboard.

As the two teams tangle again this afternoon on the Cornhusker diamond, the Huskers must sweep the series to hold on to their top standing in the loop. Nebraska is now 6-1 in the conference, after falling to the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday on unearned runs. The Sooners went extra innings last weekend to nip Missouri's defending Big Seven and NCAA championship squad, 4-3, and 3-2, giving them a 2-1 mark.

Greenlaw Hurls Today
Game time is slated for 3 p.m. with portside Willie Greenlaw (4-0) due to get the call from Coach Tony Sharpe. Sharpe's strategy of throwing his curveballers at the Sooners seems to have payed off so far.

Brown's round-tripper in the fifth frame with two ducks on the pond put the game on ice for Nebraska. The Cornhusker clan had been trailing, 1-0, before safeties by Hofmaier and Dirkes Rolston set the stage for Brown's clincher. The other Husker tally in that inning came when the next man up, Jim Cederdahl, was safe on a Sooner miscue and was brought around by a wild pitch and two consecutive base blows by Bill Giles and Norm Coufal.

Oklahoma's third error of the day gave the Scarlet their final counter in the eighth following consecutive singles by Murray Backhaus and Rolston.

Lone Sooner Score
A Nebraska overthrow led to the lone Oklahoma run in the third canto, when Sooner moundsman Mat Sanders was safe on an infield dribble and advanced to third by virtue of a two-bag tap by Joe Synder. Coufal then over-fired first base to allow one run to score.

Oklahoma got but two more scattered hits as Hofmaier bore down to gain his fourth verdict without a setback. The Huskers put out the fire in the top of the ninth when they opened the frame with a base hit.

A blooper to the left field and a nifty double play ended the contest when keystone Rolston relayed Brown's perfect peg from second to first, catching both advancing Sooner runners. A more unusual double play took place earlier when Backstop Murray Backhaus setup a twin kill by snaring a pop fly and flipping a sharp flip to Rolston at second.

catcher, stands helplessly at the right, as the fielders chase Bill Giles' double. Dan Brown, who had earlier singled, is seen making for home plate. Iowa State twirler Steve Kostakos stands at right. For runs scored in this frame on a trio of base knocks, a two-bagger by Bill Giles and an error.

Traveling Along The Sports Trail

Substitute For Studies . . .
How many students are tired of studying? Isn't that same movie getting awfully old? Who would like a weekend of relaxation and enjoyment? The answer to these three questions can be found less than 300 miles from the land of Lincolnites.

Kansas City, Mo., is the town and a new baseball team named the Athletics is the answer. For the first time in over a century the people of the Midwest are able to see our national pastime at its finest. This would be a happy way to spend a weekend and nothing is better for shakie nerves or worried minds.

The Athletics were acquired this season by Arnold Johnson and his associates who moved the team from Philadelphia. They are under the able management of Lou Boudreau, the old Cleveland Indian shortstop, and are playing better than average baseball.

Anyone interested in inquiring about tickets, remaining home games or the price of beer in the stadium can write Parke Carroll, general manager of the A's, in care of Kansas City Municipal Stadium, Kansas City, Mo. Might be the solution for a couple days of good athletic fun!

Athletic Jive . . .
The Husker sports camp will be jumping with athletic jive this week. Tony Sharpe's baseball group will play host to strong Oklahoma Tuesday p.m. while the track team will face Iowa State in a dual meet on the outdoor oval Friday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Two other Cornhusker teams will bid for wins. The golf squad under the coaching of Bob Hamblet entertains Kansas State Friday and Wichita Saturday. Tennis fans will also have the opportunity to watch the Husker netters as they tangle with Wichita Saturday.

Shocks And Shorts . . .
Hobe Jones, former Nebraska track ace who transferred to Michigan not long ago, ran a smooth leg on a fine Michigan two-mile relay team that finished a strong second to Oklahoma A&M in the Drake Relays last Saturday. He was clocked in 1:54 for the half mile distance . . . 18 members of the Pittsburg football team that helped rack Nebraska 21-7 last season reported recently for spring drill . . . Included was a tough end named John Paluck, who all but pulverized the Husker backs . . . Nebraska travels to face the Panthers next Oct. 15.

The annual State Championship Track Meet or better called on campus, "Impress the Rushie Week," is scheduled the weekend of May 13-14 . . . Recommended for old athletes whose wives or pinmates will not permit participation in intramurals: Buy her a real live campus cop . . . To be had for small allowance . . . Especially effective for chasing a delinquent parker who had just turned up a ticket in front of his face.

Ag Men Pound Norris House

Friday's softball activity saw the Ag Men defeat Norris House, 14-9. Arden Nitz pitched for the winners, with Jack Barkey on the mound for Norris.

Methodist House dropped a short-handed Baptist House, 14-11. The Dent Frosh clipped NROTC 10-8.

The Nebraskan regrets having to devote so little space to softball, often listing incomplete or incorrect results. This, however, is due to the faulty scoring in the games.

Intramural managers are urged to see that this scoring is done in a more uniform, competent and legible manner. Intramural director Ed Higgenbotham warns that teams turning in illegible or incomplete score books may be penalized by forfeiture of that game.
