

Australian Diplomat To Speak

F. J. Blakeney, Counsellor of the Australian Embassy to the United States, will address the 1955 Summer Sessions World Affairs Preview to be held Monday in the Union Ballroom at 2 p.m.

The topic of Blakeney's speech will be "Australia's Role in World Affairs."

Sir Percy Spender, Australian Ambassador to the United States, had been scheduled to deliver the main address but a trip to Central and South America made it impossible for him to be present as previously arranged.

Blakeney is Spender's personal representative and is second in rank in the Australia's U.S. Delegation. He is a career diplomat and has served in several countries in Australia's diplomatic corps.

Following Blakeney's speech, a panel discussion will be held featuring members of the University's summer faculty. Colbert Held will be chairman of the discussion. He is acting chairman of the department of geography.

Other members of the panel include Samuel Baron, visiting professor of history; John Morrison, visiting professor of geography, and Frank Sorenson, director of summer sessions.

Blakeney will arrive Sunday afternoon by air.

He was appointed to his present position by the Australian government in 1953. He was attached to the diplomatic group in Moscow from 1949-1951 and was stationed in Paris from 1947-1949. In 1946 and recently in 1952 he served with the Australian Department of External Affairs in Canberra, Australia.

During World War II, Blakeney served with the R.A.A.F. as a navigator in North America, Europe and North Africa. He was graduated from Sydney University and was granted a teaching fellowship in modern history.

Blakeney is the third and final nationally or internationally known person to appear on the campus as part of the 1955 Summer Sessions program. Val Peterson, Federal Civil Defense Administrator, and Dr. Howard Wilson, secretary of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association, have addressed campus groups earlier in the session.

International Award Given To Mrs. Manalo

Mrs. Primitiva M. Manalo of Quezon City, Philippines, who plans to study at the University next fall, has been named as one of 11 international scholarship winners, sponsored by the American Home Economics Association.

NU Alumnus Given High Recognition

The Nebraska Alumnus, published by the University Alumni Association, has been awarded high honors in publication competition sponsored by the American Alumni Council.

The Alumnus was awarded second place for feature articles and honorable mention for appearance. The competition is entered by many of the university and college alumni associations of the country.

Phil Holman is editor of the Alumnus.

The alumni magazine contains news and pictures of the University, student activities and news of the many alumni associations throughout the country. Several University groups were featured in Alumnus articles this year including the All University Fund, Builders and Kosmet Klub.

Duo-Pianists

Stecher and Horowitz, young American duo-pianists, will appear in the Union Ballroom Wednesday as part of the Union Artist series sponsored by the Union and the 1955 Summer Sessions. (Complete story on page 4).

Teachers College Conference To Start Wednesday At Union

Educators To Discuss Community Life

The University Teachers College in co-operation with the Educational Policies Commission will sponsor a Teachers College Conference on "Strengthening Community Life Through Education" Wednesday and Thursday. Meetings and convocations will be held in the Union.

Main speakers for the two-day conference include:

Pearl Wanamaker, superintendent of public instruction for the state of Washington. She will give the fourth general address, "Administrators and Teacher Participation in Community Development," Thursday at 10 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Miss Wanamaker is past president of the National Education Association and has held her present position with Washington State since 1941. She was the recipient of the American Educational award in 1949.

Al Loving of the University of Michigan Summer Staff who will speak at the second general session on "Dynamics of Community Development" Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. He is a member of the advisory committee to President Elliot and Deans of Michigan State Normal College. He has been selected by the Fulbright Foundation to go to India during the 1955-56 school year as a member of the secondary project staff.

Walter Beggs, University chairman of the department of history and principles of education, will address the opening general session at 1:15 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. He will speak on the subject, "Toward Strong Communities."

Royce Knapp, director of educational research for F. E. Compton and Co. and a former University faculty member, will speak at the third general session Thursday at 9 p.m. in the Ballroom on "Student Participation in Community Development."

Wilbur Murra, assistant secretary of Educational Policies Commission, will address the noon luncheon meeting Thursday in Union parlors X, Y and Z. He will speak on "Awakening Communities to National and World Problems."

Malcolm Mellott, editor-in-chief of the John C. Winston Co., will be the featured speaker of the Thursday coffee hour in Union Parlors Y and Z at 4 p.m. His comments will concern "Community Education and the Preparation of Teaching Materials."

Discussion groups and their leaders for the conference are as follows:

Group 1, Through Business Education, Mildred Blair, supervisor of business and distributive education of the Omaha schools.

Group 2, Through Language Arts, Floyd Miller, assistant commissioner of education, Nebraska Department of Education.

Geske To Lead Trend Discussion

Norman Geske, acting director of the University Art Galleries, will discuss contemporary art in the second of a series on "Trends in Today's Living," sponsored by the Union today at 4 p.m.

Geske joined the University staff in 1950 as assistant director of the Galleries. In 1953 he was appointed acting director. He is responsible for all exhibitions, activities and acquisitions allied with the Galleries.

Group 3, Through Mathematics, Edith Greer, director of elementary education, Nebraska Department of Education.

Group 4, Through Science, R. L. Fredstrom, assistant superintendent of curriculum, Lincoln Schools.

Group 5, Through Social Studies, Calvin Reed, assistant professor of education, University.

Group 6, Through Education and Guidance of the Gifted, Julius Humann, director of guidance, Lincoln Schools.

Group 7, Through Audio-visual Teaching, Wayne Frazer, superintendent of schools, York.

Book Review Scheduled By Author

"History of Nebraska," a recently published book by James Olson, director of the State Historical Society, will be the subject of the Union's second Book Review discussion.

The book will be reviewed by the author.

The review is scheduled for Monday at 4 p.m. in the Union Book Nook. A "meet the author coffee hour" will precede the review in order to provide a break between the World Affairs Preview and the book review. The public is invited to attend.

"History of Nebraska" was published in February by the University Press. It is the first comprehensive and authoritative history of the state for adult readers and the first one-volume by a professional historian.

'Trouble Spot'

World Discussion Scheduled Today

The first of two "World Trouble Spot Forums" will be held today in Love Library Auditorium at 2 p.m.

The topic of the first discussion will be Europe. The area and its background, problems and future will be discussed by three members of the University faculty from the departments of economics, political science and geography. The program is an outgrowth of 13 radio programs which were previously produced by the University.

Members of the panel are Colbert Held, assistant professor of geography; Carl Schneider, associate professor of political science, and Wallace Peterson, assistant professor of economics. Jack McBride, assistant television director, is in charge of the series.

McBride said that since there were only two times set aside for the forums, the topics, of necessity, are quite broad in their scope.

The panel members will each discuss the phase of the problem with which they are familiar.

The next forum will be held July 21 and will concern Asia.
