

While a professor was lecturing to his science class, he happened to turn on the water in the small basin. Due to some defect, the water kept on pouring. In an attempt to beat the faucet by force, the professor wrenched off the handle. Undaunted the professor continued the lecture and the bell rang before the water ceased.

Fair and a little warmer Friday with a high temperature near 72 degrees. Moderate north-west winds. Low tonight about 45.

Student Council: Two Week Final Exam Period Discussed, Tabled In Meeting

A resolution to be directed to the Faculty Senate on reconsideration of the final exam period was passed in the Student Council Wednesday. The resolution, submitted by Bruce Brugmann, Arts and Sciences representative, was passed as a directive to the Council committee on calendar and final exams. The resolution stated: "Resolved, that the Student Council committee on calendar and final exams

Military Ball: Filings To Open For Commandant

Filings for 1955 Honorary Commandant are open from Monday until Friday at the office of the Dean of Student Affairs, Ellen Smith Hall, Chuck Tomson AFROTC wing staff member, announced Friday. Honorary Commandant will be presented at the Military Ball, Dec. 2. Any woman student is eligible who has 77 hours, is carrying at least 12 hours and has a 5.0 accumulative average. Four finalists will be selected by the Cadet Staffs of the Air Force, Army and Navy. Interviews of all candidates will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 3. Final selection will be made by a vote of all military students of the three branches, after a tea for the finalists Nov. 17. Runner-up will be selected Miss

Army, Miss Navy and Miss Air Force after the honorary commandant is chosen from the finalists. The 1954 Honorary Commandant was Jan Harrison. The Military Ball traditionally opens the campus formal season. In previous years Honorary Commandant was selected from the list of applicants by Cadet Officers Association. No selection of semifinalists was held. After the 1954 Honorary Commandant election was invalidated and subsequently upheld by Student Council, COA was dissolved and replaced by a Military Ball Committee.

bring to the Faculty Senate committee on final exams a request to reconsider and investigate the final exam period. An amendment to precede the passed resolution to state, "Because the Student Council favors a two week examination period..." was introduced by Gail Katske and tabled for one week. In proposing the resolution, Brugmann said that the exam question was not discussed properly by the Faculty Senate. Marvin Breslow, representative from CCRC, said that the students should have reasons from the faculty for their objectives. Before the resolution was introduced, Breslow made a report as chairman of the Council calendar committee that the committee would meet with the faculty committee Thursday on the question of the final exam period. After Breslow's report, John Fagan, representative from Engineering College, moved that the council endorse a continuation of the policy of two week exams. Fagan's motion was withdrawn when the resolution introduced by Brugmann was passed. The main purpose behind the resolution is that the faculty senate will justify and explain to the students why the change was made. Sharon Mangold, chairman of the publications board committee, announced that openings were still available for interested sophomores to apply for the sophomore position on the publications board. President Andy Hove announced that student representation on faculty committees is arranged on a three-year basis and must be renewed each year. A committee of Breslow and Brugmann was appointed to see if this may be arranged on a definite basis.

Degrees

and not of ultimate ends, is, thirdly, bringing results for them on the world scene. France plans to reduce its military forces now and Adenauer's long-term position has been weakened by the agreement between Russia and the West German government, he said. According to Baldwin, the world around us has become two worlds since World War II. Two superstates, meaning Russia and the United States, have grown so much more powerful than other nations. This has resulted in conflict expressed as the "cold war" or at times as actual fighting. These two worlds are now being separated by "gray areas" which are independent of the two major powers and their allies. He classed India, Burma and Indonesia in this group with the possible inclusion of Germany and Japan in the future. Baldwin emphasized the importance of the consequences and effects of the small-scale wars. Because of the stalemate in the Korean War, Red China could be the United States a "paper tiger." "They have exploited the term so that other Asiatic nations began doubting the strength of the United States."

Baldwin: World Develops Into Two Superstates: Russia, U.S.

"Despite the beliefs of many people, nuclear weapons will not make wars obsolete," Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, said Wednesday. Baldwin spoke before nearly 2000 University students at the first All University Convocation of the semester. "However nuclear weapons may limit, but will not stop wars," he said. "Puppet wars and fringe wars as well as atomic wars are a danger to national security, he added. He estimated that the United States has a stockpile of 10,000 atomic bombs to about 1000 for Russia and that this country has made 65 atomic tests to Russia's 14. However, he said we must continue to build atomic weapons at an accelerated pace. "If we relax, Russia will grow stronger than we. He mentioned three main reasons for the "sweetness and light" attitude of the Russians. "Russian leaders are still struggling for the top spot in the government." Secondly, he said, Russia is undergoing an economic strain. They are trying to provide both guns and butter, he said. This change of Russian policy,

Outside World: Douglas Offers Plan By BARB SHARPE Staff Writer A program to raise lagging farm income was advanced Thursday by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) in a speech to be delivered to the National Editorial Assn. In addition to a subsidy plan, Douglas urged that ways be found to build up consumption of food at home and abroad and to send wheat, cotton and dairy products to countries where there is starvation. He proposed that countries receiving these products would exchange quantities of tin, copper, uranium, cobalt and other minerals. The Senator said he feels efforts should be made toward aiding small and low income farmers, but added that he did not know what such a plan might cost. He attacked GOP farm policies and declared that the Republicans "broke" 1952 promises to farmers. Chou: Prisoners 'Free To Leave' Communist China Premier Chou En-lai was reported to have told British officials that all Americans now being held in China have been notified that they have a right to leave. An earlier Peiping radio broadcast had said that 47 Americans were free to leave but 19 had criminal charges against them. American officials predicted that the Reds may still try to use the 19 Americans as pawns in the repatriation talks at Geneva. However, the fact that these 19 have serious charges against them was not being regarded as too great an obstacle in the way of their release. Most of the American citizens and airmen recently released by Peiping had been jailed on long prison terms. Power Deals Draw House Probe White House conferences concerning disputed government efforts to sell federal hydroelectric power to a private utility in Georgia for resale to cooperatives are being probed by a House Government Operations subcommittee. Possible obstacles in the investigations appeared when Fred Aandahl, Asst. Aandahl indicated that the conferences were held before the preparation of a ruling by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, on the power question last summer.

Wednesday's Meeting: Individual SC Contributions Recorded

The following chart lists the amount of oral contributions on the floor of Wednesday's Council meeting from each member of the 1955-56 Council. Debate has been divided into the four topics discussed for ease of tabulation. These categories include committee reports, discussion on the length of the exam week, discussion on the migration, discussion on the Council's Round Table with the Chancellor and, finally, a total amount comments for each member. Absent members and those who left prior to adjournment have been indicated on the chart. Skip Hove, Council president, presided during the meeting. Comments indicated on the chart with an "x" were special questions to the president. Record of the discussion was made, in triplicate, during the course of the meeting. In cases of differences in the tabulations, the average of the three has been used. All Council members are listed alphabetically with the college or organization they represent.

Table with columns: Name, Reports, Exam Week, Migration, Round Table, Total. Lists contributions for members like Kay Alminis, Jim Arnitzen, Don Beck, etc.
