On the campus scene!

Meet Magee's College Board

For the smart look on campus, let our college board help you select the winning styles. They're "in the know" about campus-correctness.

Suit most likely to succeed on Campus

Orlunda Flannel $50

A suit with the cashmere feel... 70% wool, 30% orlon. The Ivy look for that BMOC, rich in everything but price. Despite its luxurious look, this soft fabric wears like iron. Of course its in the new subdued tones.

Flannel IVY Slacks $13.50...

Slim styling with back adjustment strap. All wool flannel in charcoal grey and charcoal brown.

IM Play: Delts Drop Fijis 15-6; Phi Delts Roll

By ED KEMBLE
Intramural Editor
Delta Tau Delta fought its way to first place in League IA and a topseeded spot in the play-offs Monday, Oct. 24, with a 15-6 win over Phi Gamma Delta.

The passing arm of Dick Grant proved the Delts' biggest weapon in the important victory. He tossed touchdown strikes to Ray Mladovich and John Beideck. Dick Tool nabbed another Grant pitch for an extra point.

Phi Delta Theta rolled over Sig Chi, 20-0. Jack Leikam and Joe Carter gathered in passes from Jack Talsman for two Phi Delta TDs and Dick Beechner threw another 6 point toss to Dick Cottrell. Pioneer House stopped Norris House, 19-13.

Theta Chi scored in every quarter to stomp Zeta Beta Tau, 37-9. Tau Kappa Epsilon took an overtime win over Acaela.

Basketball Opens

Basketball coach Jerry Bush announced the starting dates for the first practice sessions of varsity and freshman candidates. The varsity opens sessions on the first of November. Freshman cagers start workouts a week later on November 7.

Huskers Face Kansas With Clean Loop Slate

By BOB WIRZ
Staff Sports Writer

Coach Bill Glassford's University of Nebraska Football team worked out Tuesday under a blazing sun which bore down on the capitol city.

They worked mostly on pass protection and pass defense. The squad also did quite a bit of work against the potent Kansas end run and quite a lot of running.

Glassford named John Edwards, North Platte senior fullback, as game captain for the Cornhusker outing against the University of Kansas. The fray Saturday at Memorial Stadium is parents day here at Nebraska. Edwards has been nursing an injury for the past two or three weeks but Saturday he did a good job against the Tigers, especially in the blocking department as he is one of the sharpest blockers on the squad.

Glassford added that Edwards has always been a good squad leader.

The Cornhuskers currently are tied with Oklahoma for the Big Seven lead with two wins and no losses. The Cornhuskers will be out to hold this position and barring injuries this week should be at about the same strength as they were for the Missouri game last week.

Bob Berguin, reserve center, was tabbed as being definitely out of the Kansas game.

Jim Murphy and Le Roy Butherus will also be out of the game. Glassford said he had no idea when they would be ready for action. Marlin Hilding, sophomore end from Red Oak, Iowa, who earlier was said to be out for the season with a bad back may be back in uniform next week as his back has shown much improvement. George Mink, junior end from Omaha, may be ready by this Saturday but he is doubtful. Mink has seen only very limited action this year.

Edwards will replace George Cifra in the starting fullback slot Saturday. Two other positions aren't as yet decided for the contest. Either Don Hewitt or Jack Braley will start at left end and Jack Fleming who has been slowed recently by injury is ready to resume his battle with Bill Hawkins for the starting right tackle position.

All other starters are expected to be the same as for the Missouri game last week.

Rex Fischer remained as the third leading ground gainer in the Big Seven this week. Willie Green-law ranks eighth.

Don Erway is fourth, Greenlaw seventh, and George Harshman fourteenth in passing.

John McWilliams ranks fourth in the conference in pass receiving, while Greenlaw ranks sixth, Butherus ninth, and Fischer tenth.

Harshman is fourth in punting and Erway ranks eighth.

Fischer ranks second in punt returns and Sylvester Harris and Harry Johnson rank fourth and tenth respectively.

Erway is currently third in Big Seven scoring with 31 points as he added a touchdown to his total Saturday. Fischer is tied for tenth place with eight other men with 12 points to his credit.

Little Red Tangles With Cyclone Yearlings

Weight advantages seem to run against the Cornhusker freshmen as well as the varsity as the Frosh prepare for their first game of the season against Iowa State, Friday.

Coach Ed Nyden announced a starting line-up that averages in at 186 pounds compared to the yearling Cyclone average of 196 pounds. Jim Duff, Grand Island center, is the only member of the Little Red that tips the Fairbanks-Morse over the 200-pound mark.

"We should be in top physical shape for our first test of the season," said Nyden who returns to his alma mater after a successful stint as a junior college coach on the West Coast. He also stated that his first two elevens will be intact, however, four players will be ineligible because they are junior college transfers.

Three Grand Island men are on the starting line-up, Duff, Claire Boroff, right half who handles the punting chores, and Mike Lee end.

Eddie Corazzi of Fredericktown, Pa. will handle the passing chores when he is in the game.

The following week the Little Red travels to Manhattan, Kan., to meet the Wildcat Freshmen for the other game of a two-game schedule.
