All-University Selections Highlights IM Grid Season

This year's All-University Football Team is composed of a representative cross section of intramural gridders. Among those honored, All University champions Phi Kappa Psi lead the selections followed by the Independent winner, the Dents.

However, the majority of the nominations received mentioned the Fraternity A league competitors. Therefore, the nucleus of this dream team is formed by those listed on The Nebraskan's All-Fraternity A squad.

Phi Kappa Psi tailback Duane Rankin led the selections, pacing his Phi Psi mates to the Intramural crown by virtue of his accurate aerials. Rankin is a former varsity griddier, seeing action at the quarterback position when he was a yearling. He displayed much of that varsity form through out the year with his pinpoint passing and top notch play calling.

Pressing Rankin for top honors was Dick Grant who was the throne in the side of many squads. Grant, whose passing arm was nothing short of magic, several times led his Delta Tau Delta squad to an All-University crown last year and all the way into the finals undefeated this season, until the Phi Psis nipped them by a single TD. Grant completed a phenomenal 21 out of 25 aerials in one fray.

Hitchcock's Chuck Jensen joined this duo as he was tabbed the outstanding back in independent play.

Sophomore pivot Don Smidt makes up in hustle what he may lack in height. The Husker center is somewhat of a freak in today's skyscraping game of basketball, standing only 6-4.

Bob Brown repeated from last year at the wingman position by virtue of his play on the ATO aggregation. Brown snared many passes and was stellar on defense. Dent end Bob Burton joins Brown at the end positions. Burton gave the Dents their one-two pinch with second team back Phil Eyer.

Gene Welch was the unanimous selection for the guard spot pacing the Phi Psi forward wall. Ken Moorehead, pivot for the Beta B squad, is the lone B candidate for top honors. Moorehead was too much for B competition as he led the Betas to the championship with his fabulous pass receiving and outstanding defensive tactics.

The second team boasts a strong all around potential. At the end positions, Bob Benter and Jerry Anderson were among those on the most feared lists of their opponents.

Sigma Chi guard Mel Hansen and Delta center Ray Mladovich round out the line selections. Mladovich was on the end of many aerials as he pressed for honors on the number one team.

The backfield of the second unit is composed of Darrel Pinkston, who performed well for the Sig Eps, Dent standout Phil Eyer, and Beta cog Tom Weekes.

One Injury Reported During Nebraska Ball

By SAROL WILTSE

In my column last week, I inadvertently erred in stating that so far in the Nebraska ball tournament there had been no injuries. Imogene Davis, with her bandaged arm, promptly informed me that I was mistaken. Student Health also has reported numerous bumps and bruises.

New rules for the Nebraska ball tournament were proposed and passed by the WAA board last Wednesday night. In order to facilitate serving, the server may now throw the ball up into the air, and her teammates must knock it over the net in at least two hits. It was hoped that this would eliminate some of the reddened arms. Also it was suggested that no team plays with less than twelve team members.

The Alpha Xi Delta's now reign as the new Nebraska ball champs. Thursday night, they defeated the Gamma Phi Betas by a score of 37-12 in a very close game—much closer than the score indicates.

Two new tournaments, basketball and table tennis, will begin Jan. 4.

Table tennis is a single elimination tournament with games being played at 5 p.m. and 5:25 p.m. Any girl who is in I.G. may participate if she receives permission from Student Health. If there are any questions, contact Barbara Holmes, 2-7820.

Upset

Colorado, defending Big Seven basketball champion, defeated Iowa, Big Ten title-holders, 60-57 in Boulder Monday.

The upset was Colorado's third straight victory of the present season. Iowa had not lost a game in three starts, and soundly defeated Nebraska's Cornhuskers in Ames last Saturday.

The Buffs held Iowa's star, Carl Cain, to only one point throughout the game.

Swimmers Open Slate

Thursday at 4 p.m. at the Coliseum pool, the University of Nebraska swim team will open its 1955-56 swim season against Grinnell College.

Captaining the team in this season's starter will be Tom Houchen, junior, one of four returning lettermen. The other returning lettermen are Wyman Kenagy, junior, Bill Tagney, junior, and Gene Cotter, junior, who is back from the service and should be a strong contender for the Big Seven diving crown.

Last year Nebraska swam Grinnell at Grinnell and tied them in a thrilling meet, 42-42.

Nebraska, although lacking in depth and experience, should have a good squad this year.

Members of the varsity squad, their home town, class, and the events they swim are:

Houchen, Lincoln, breaststroke and individual medley

Carl Bodensteiner, Lincoln, sophomore, free style distance events

Cotter, Lincoln, diving

Steve Gaines, Grand Island, sophomore, diving and sprints

Kenagy, Lincoln, 220 yard free-style and sprints

John Holeman, Omaha, sophomore, individual medley and backstroke

Paul Schorr, Lincoln, sophomore, backstroke

Tagney, Lincoln, diving and sprints

Douglas Thorpe, Lincoln, sophomore, breaststroke and free style

The next meet for the team will be after Christmas vacation when they meet Kansas State on Jan. 7 at Manhattan. The following Saturday they will travel to Lawrence, Kansas where they will swim the University of Kansas.

Nebraska will not appear at home again until Jan. 21 when they meet Colorado.

Honored Glassford

The Lincoln University Club honored coach Bill Glassford and his 1955 football squad Monday night.

Glassford was presented a gift from the gridders by senior Bill Taylor engraved "To the greatest coach we have ever known." He also received gifts from the University Club.

Glassford stated to the players "I hold great love and affection for all of you and you possess the great virtue of loyalty."

In making the presentation to Coach Glassford, Taylor had said "You have been a wonderful coach, a true friend and a tremendous leader."

Main speaker of the banquet was Kenneth E. (Tug) Wilson, commissioner of Big Ten athletics. Wilson spoke of the significance of competitive athletics in the United States. He also spoke of his experiences during the last Olympic Games. Wilson is serving in the capacity of president of the American Olympic Committee.

The University Club awarded watches to seniors Jack Braley, Rex Fischer, Don Hewitt, Sylvester Harris, John Edwards, Dean Lux, Jon McWilliams, Dick Moore, Doran Post, Bill Taylor, and student manager Charles Fike.

The Husker coach said that he hoped the people of the state and the University could achieve the things they were striving for and that the players who were remaining would have the best of luck with the new coaching staff.
