Miss Gay Humphrey and Ted Curran (shown above) discussed their experiences in the USSR at a University convocation Thursday night. Miss Humphrey and Curran, Columbia University graduate students, presented a lecture and movies which were taken during their 6000-mile trip in the USSR. The trip carried the students to many parts of the Soviet Union which are usually not open to foreigners. They spent two weeks in Moscow and toured through remote parts of Asiatic Russia.

Eighteen arrests were among the unusual experiences enjoyed by four graduate students on their tour through the Soviet Union.

Gary Humphrey and Ted Curran, two of the students, related the experiences of their 6000 mile trip at a University Convocation Thursday night in the Union.

Miss Humphrey and Curran made the trip without guides or interpreters. They both speak Russian fluently and are graduates of the Russian Institute of Columbia University.

The students went to Finland before proceeding on to Russia, where their first stop was Leningrad. "We encountered no trouble whatsoever in obtaining a ticket to fly into the country," Curran said.

An official greeter at Leningrad met the students, according to Curran. He greeted them warmly and asked their identity. When they replied that they were American students, the greeter took two steps backward and said to his assistant "Oh no, those Americans have gotten here already."

"They allowed us four hours for lunch while they evidently called Moscow and asked what to do," Curran said. "Then they bundled us into another plane and took us to Moscow."

Curran added that his plane trip was at "tree-top level, providing an excellent view of the countryside." Pointing out interesting sidelights on their trip, Curran said that American Tarzan movies had taken Russia by storm. The Russians had gotten them during the Second World War. "The kids were so impressed," he said, "that the boys began to let their hair grow longer and spent their free time swinging from bars, imitating Tarzan. The Communist Youth League disapproved of this, however, and termed the entire fad as 'hooliganism.'"

Student Facilities: Board To Open Bids For Revenue Bonds

The Board of Regents will receive bids Wednesday afternoon for the purchase of $3,750,000 of an authorized issue of $4 million in student facilities revenue bonds.

The bonds, which will be retired by student fees and revenues and not tax funds, will finance the construction of:

$1,250,000 addition to the Union.

$550,000 Student Health Center.

$980,000 men's and women's residence halls on the agricultural campus.

$500,000 addition to women's residence halls.

$400,000 residence apartments for married students on the agricultural campus.

$250,000 Union building on the agricultural campus, for which bonds may be issued within the next 24 months.

The amortization schedule calls for the retirement of the bonds in 1973.

Discussing the proposed facilities, Hardin said the $1,250,000 addition to the Union will be "T" shaped with the bottom of the "T" centered on the north side of the existing building and extending north approximately 160 feet to face on S street.

The addition will be three stories with a basement. The basement will be used for expanding kitchen and food storage, for recreational rooms, general storage and mechanical equipment to include a 500-ton air conditioning unit, he said.

The first floor will provide for a lobby to accommodate the main entrance from "S" street, a lounge, a fountain room to seat 300, a central business office unit and space for other student activities. The second floor will hold a ballroom, additional dining rooms and office space for student organizations. The third floor will be for similar facilities.

The $550,000 Student Health Center, to be located on U Street between 14th and 16th, will be a rectangular building consisting of a basement and two floors, plus a one-story section centering on the rear.

The building, Hardin said, will provide space for administrative office of the Student Health Facilities, an out-patient clinic, a dispensary service laboratory and x-ray equipment rooms, a physical therapy department, 32 beds in the hospital section and a small food service for in-patients.

Included in the $980,000 project for residence halls on the agricultural campus is a three-story structure which will house 70 women students, two to a room.

The residence hall for men on the agricultural campus will consist of two wings, connected by a one-story entrance lobby and lounge room. The building will house 236 students, two to a room.

Ban Reviewed: KK Appeals To Faculty

Kosmet Klub appeals for restoration of the Fall Revue were taken "under consideration" by the Faculty Senate committee on student affairs Thursday.

The committee asked Kosmet Klub to submit a plan for a Fall Revue or some other fall activity, J. P. Colbert, Dean of Student Affairs and chairman of the committee, said.

The committee met in closed session to debate the question. There was "considerable discussion" in executive session regarding restoration of the Fall Revue, Colbert said.

Colbert said the Klub's plan would probably be submitted in the near future. The committee will then approve or reject Klub plans for a Fall Revue or some other fall activity.

"Kosmet Klub will work with the Dean of the Division of Student Affairs to formulate a plan for some fall activity," Von Innes, Klub president, said. Innes presented the Klub's petition.

Plans are indefinite as to the exact nature of the activity, he said.

"The Klub will give its fullest cooperation to the Senate committee in formulating a plan and determining the nature of the activity," he said.

Congressional Candidate: Group For Johnson To Solicit Funds

A "Students For Johnson Committee" has been formed and is attempting to solicit funds for Dick Johnson's campaign for a congressional seat.

A letter has been sent to every sorority and fraternity on campus asking for contributions.

Don Reynolds, committee chairman, says in the letter that, "The campaign that he wages will depend upon college groups such as your house for financing."

Members of the Students For Johnson committee are Reynolds, Sam Jensen, Mick Neff, Judy Bost, Bruce Bruggmann, Judy London, John Olson, Bev Deepe and Fred Daly.

Johnson, in his latest release, states that "When I filed for Congress a few days ago, I felt that there was no chance of an election victory. Today I feel confident that the people of Nebraska are ready for a change in the First Congressional District."

He goes on to say that he believes the people are tired of the farm program that has been coming out of Washington and that they are ready and eager for a sound program.

Emphasizing his need for financial assistance, Johnson said, "I feel . . . that there is a very good possibility that I will be elected if we get my message to the voting public."

Johnson, a senior in agricultural economics, filed for the seat now held by the Hon. Phil Weaver of Falls City.

Active in campus activities, Johnson initiated the repeal of the Stu-

Deadline

Deadline for applications for University scholarships, formerly Regents scholarships, is Saturday. All applications must be submitted by noon to be considered, J. P. Colbert, Dean of Student Affairs, said. Qualification examinations are scheduled for March 3.

Laase Named: RE Week Receives Council Approval

Student Council support of Religious Emphasis Week was passed in Council meeting Wednesday, on the approval of a motion by Bev Deepe.

A motion by Glenna Berry to investigate the possibility of donating $25 to Religious Emphasis Week was passed and referred to the treasurer.

In other business Sally Laase, sophomore in Teachers College, was approved by the Council as a member of the 1955-56 Council to replace Ken Vosika. Vosika resigned after the first semester because of schedule conflicts.

Marial Wright, student activities

The Kosmet Klub Fall Revue was banned indefinitely last November for "questionable taste." The Student Affairs committee stated at the time that the Klub could appeal the decision at some future time.

Under the by-laws passed by the Board of Regents, "respectful petitions by students shall neither be denied or abridged."

Marshall Kushner, 1954 graduate and master of ceremonies at the Fall Revue in question, accepted full responsibility for the "questionable" parts of the show. He wrote an open letter of apology to the Klub stating that the Klub had not seen any of the material he proposed to use and could not be held responsible for his ad libbing.

The Kosmet Klub Fall Revue is the production which usually supports or makes up any deficit incurred with the annual Spring Show, which was not involved in the ban.

Kosmet Klub leaders stated at the time that removal of the Fall Revue would make production of the Spring Show, usually a Broadway musical, "financially difficult."

Kosmet Klub Fall Revue acts are required to submit a script for approval. However, in the case of Kushner, no prior script was required.

The committee, at their November meeting, did not discuss at length the possibility that removal of the Fall Revue would lead to the end of the organization, Colbert warned as to the questionable material used in the Fall Revue.

Rush Day: New Jr. IFC Constitution Considered

Discussion centered around a proposed second semester rush day and the Jr. IFC's constitution in Wednesday's IFC meeting.

Plans for the rush day were presented by IFC president Bill Campbell but after considerable discussion it was decided to recommend it to next year's IFC.

Every house was generally in favor of the idea but the proposed dates of March 3, 10 or 17 conflicted with initiations and the state basketball tournament. It was also thought that the weekend following Easter vacation would be acceptable, but it was decided to be too late in the spring.

An orientation session held in the Union followed by rush dates was the general concept of the rush day's activities. Since this day would be on a Saturday, a maximum number of 2 or 3 dates could be made.

The Jr. I.F.C., which is a newly organized group, presented its constitution for approval by the I.F.C. It was passed with an amendment stating that the Roberts rules of order should be used.

committee member, presented the committee's report. The members will meet with Dean Colbert to check on additional representation of faculty committees and to check that the scholarship limitation policy is being followed by all organizations.

John Nelson, vice-president of City Campus Religious Council, spoke to the Council on Religious Emphasis Week.

Nelson said that the speakers slated for the programs all have a definite interest in college students. Scheduling has been set up so that each student will have a chance to hear at least one of the speakers, he added.

Express Views: College Editors Differ On Autherine Lucy Case

By SARA ALEXANDER
Nebraskan Reporter

Autherine Lucy and her cries for admittance to the graduate school at the University of Alabama have become a national issue and a number of college newspapers have carried news stories or editorial comment about it.

The Nebraskan carried an editorial, "How Much Friction" Feb. 14, stating: "This new right of freedom of education, of self-determination of knowledge, may take a while to develop — it may cause friction, but it is worth a fight to Miss Lucy and it is worth tolerance and patience to our nation."

The next few statements are some of the editorial views expressed by other college papers on the case.

The Iowa State Daily: "It seems that for some years yet the Deep South will continue to have periodic outbursts involving the racial question. We only hope that, ultimately, these generations of southerners will throw off these 'Race Barrier' shackles and be able to attend classes on a nonsegregated basis."

The Tufts University weekly: "The University of Alabama undergraduates have succeeded only in making an abominable mess of the whole affair. Suspension of all involved would not be too harsh for these contemptuous rebels."

"It's often been said that those who wrestle with qualms of inferiority are the ones who feel they must fight to prove their supremacy," states West Virginia's Daily Athenaeum of the Alabama students.

The Minnesota Daily, commenting on the University's action in barring Miss Lucy from classes, has this to say, "It would be a mistake, we believe, for Miss Lucy's lawyer to continue his insistence that she be readmitted. Desegregation will not be achieved through force."

The University of Alabama also had its say in the battle of words. Leonard Wilson, a 19-year-old pre-law student at the University wrote this letter for the United Press: "It would be the greatest thing Autherine Lucy ever did if she would withdraw voluntarily from the University of Alabama. The demonstrations show beyond a reasonable doubt that integration will not work. For the safety of herself and of all other students, she should not be admitted."

"I take issue with a report that the participants in the demonstrations were probably some taxpaying citizens in the crowd. But in the groups I saw assembled there were more university students than outsiders. I don't think Autherine Lucy is responsible for what she is doing. Apparently she is being backed and pushed by the wretched National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The only solution to the problem will be for Autherine Lucy to withdraw voluntarily and put an end to all connected court litigation."

In summing up his impressions of his stay in India he said, "People are basically the same all over the world — hospitable and fun-loving."
