

Traditional Closing Event

Venna Louscheer, Gary Kilday, Sharon Stiehl and Bob Attebery dance to the music of Jimmy Phillips at the Frosh Hop

Saturday evening. The dance is the traditional closing event to the University's New Student Week. It is sponsored by the Union and the Innocents Society for the main purpose of getting freshmen men and women together in a social atmosphere.

Music Staff:

Professional Musicians Join University Faculty

Four professional musicians known nationally for their concert ability will join the University Music Department's teaching staff this fall.

Dr. David Foltz, chairman of the department, said the additions will strengthen the faculty considerably in the performing as well as the teaching phases.

Leon Lishner will join the faculty as associate professor of voice. He is known for his performances on Broadway and in Europe of Menotti's "The Consul," and for his portrayal in "The Saint of Bleeker Street." He annually appears on coast-to-coast television in the Christmas presentation of Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors." He was leading basso with the New York City Opera Company.

Dr. Foltz said that Mr. Lishner will appear in October for two weeks with the Chicago Opera Company in a major role under the direction of Dimitri Metropolis, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Another addition is Harvey Hinshaw as assistant professor of piano. Mr. Hinshaw has been accompanist for famed singers Lotte Lehmann, John Charles Thomas, and Igor Gorin, whom he appeared with last year in the Lincoln Symphony Concert Series. He also was concert pianist with the National School Assemblies and for the Pasadena Community Opera Association.

Priscilla Parson, who will be instructor of cello, has performed with the Chicago Civic Orchestra, Kansas City Philharmonic, and Pittsburgh and San Antonio Orchestras. She was a member of the Metz String Quartet.

Taking over the duties of Emanuel Wishnow, professor of violin who is on a year's leave, is Lindsey Merrill, who himself is on leave from the faculty of Smith College and a concertmaster of the Louisville Symphony Orchestra. He also has performed with the Charlotte, N. C., Greenfield, Mass., and Smith Symphony Orchestras and Smith Quartet.

Another faculty addition is David Fowler, former supervisor of instrumental music at Lincoln Northeast High School. Mr. Fowler, vice president of the Nebraska Music Educators, will be assistant professor of music education.

Smiths Pay Fees

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, pictured above, were among the many new students paying their fees after completing other New Student Week registration activities. For the first time this year, students pulled their cards in the Men's Physical Education Building instead of in the Coliseum. Students first consulted with their advisors in making out their schedules, which were then checked and okayed by their college counselors. Some students got so used to standing in lines that several women were found standing in line for Korean veterans. Another student, an exchange student from Egypt who had just received his cards, when told that he was now finished, tore up all his cards and walked away.

Meetings: Open House, Frosh Hop Finish Week

Climaxing New Student Week for line-weary freshmen were the Chancellor's Reception and Union Open House Friday night and the traditional Frosh Hop Saturday night.

In addition to meetings with their advisors, registration and orientation sessions, new students also attended special functions both Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Wednesday, all religious houses on campus held open house with parties, picnics and programs on their agendas.

Thursday, men and women students parted company briefly for the women's September Song sponsored by Coed Counselors, and the sports stag sponsored by the athletic department.

Chancellor Hardin told the 2000 entering freshman at Monday's convocation in the Coliseum that they were getting their education for a bargain.

Bruce Brugmann, Student Council president, welcomed the students and challenged them to pursue their intellectual goals with a liberal mind.

The winners of last May's Ivy Day Sing, Delta Delta Delta of the women's division and Sigma Chi of the men's, sang a selection of songs for the students.

Dean of Student Affairs, J. P. Colbert, was the official master of ceremonies.

Members of the Mortar Board and Innocents Societies acted as ushers for the convocation.

Receptions Draws 1200

Mrs. Clifford Hardin, Chancellor Hardin and Diane Knotek greet Barbara Meyer of Wilcox and Hazel Florea of Theford during the Chancellor's Reception Friday night. Of the two thousand freshman students enrolled at the University, over twelve hundred attended the reception, according to Bob Handy, director of Union Activities. After meeting the Chancellor, the freshmen were entertained by color cartoons and a magician. Dancing to the music of Bill Albers' orchestra and a jazz combo from Lincoln Northeast High School concluded the evening.

'Purification' Tryouts Set

Tryouts will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, September 18 and 19 at 3-5 p.m. in room 201 of Temple Building for a Laboratory Theater production, "The Purification," to be directed by Len Schropfer.

The Purification, a one-act play by Tennessee Williams, is a tragedy in verse, practically the only one Williams has done in that style.

The cast is large, eight men and five women. Tryouts are open to any regularly enrolled University student.

Auld To Attend Drama School

Donald Auld, former University drama student, has been granted a two-year course of study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London.

Auld will leave Monday for London where he will enter the Academy, a professional school which is an extension of the University of London.

Auld was a member of Nebraska Masquers, and had roles in many University Theater productions including "Stalag 17," "Morning Becomes Electra," "Shoemaker's Holiday."

SAI Elects Waggoner VP

Mary Jane Waggoner, instructor in piano at the University, was elected first vice president of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, at the group's national convention here.

More than 500 delegates representing 105 college chapters and 70 alumna chapters attended.

Miss Waggoner served as province president of nine college chapters in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, and Missouri from 1961-1966. At the University, she has served as vice president and president of Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity, and as faculty adviser of the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota.
