The Political Spotlight: Ike Leads, Party Sees Hard Battle Ahead

By JACK POLLOCK
Copy Editor

Spot presidential polls show that President Dwight Eisenhower leads throughout the U.S. but—in contrast to 1952—by a much smaller margin than in our last election year.

A wakened abruptly recently from their era of apathy and "We'll win again with Ike," the GOP is now battling an all-out campaign on levels from the county organization to the President himself.

Spurred by losses in Maine and Alaska—where Democratic victories this year were by as great a landslide as Ike's were four years ago—Republicans have come to the realization that the Nov. 6 ballot may not be a pushover. The Democrats agree.

The GOP is currently asking for more campaign contributions for their victory drive, is scheduling more speeches by top-level big-wigs and sending truth squads and speakers to both Democratic and "undecided" voter areas.

The Democrats, sensing more receptibility than they met in '52, have been sparked by a sense of optimism and are now also asking for more funds, with the thought that they can gather more momentum these last few weeks.

Even in Lincoln, a fund-raising appeal has been established at the Statehouse for support of state Republican candidates, with "part" of the money being forwarded to the National GOP committee.

Elsewhere on the state scene, three top political headliners last weekend all expressed jubilation over results of their campaigning in the farm areas.

Despite relatively small attendance of their audiences, Vice President Richard Nixon, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Raft Benson and Senator Estes Kefauver all expressed jubilation over results of their campaigning in the farm areas. Each spoke in Nebraska last weekend.

Kefauver and Nixon both spoke at Columbus Oct. 12. Of crowds estimated at 70,000, Nixon drew about 5,000 and Kefauver approximately 6,000. Benson addressed small crowds in 12 southern Nebraska towns.

On the lighter side, Dick Nixon sent condolences to Senator Kefauver on the latter's recent attack of flu. Kefauver suffered an acute attack of flu Oct. 12, and was forced to cancel a speech at a Columbus country club and at a press conference here in Lincoln. Nixon sent a telegram expressing hope Estes would win his bout with the flu but said he couldn't wish the same about the senator's success in the coming election.

On the Cornhusker level, a Lincoln attorney has been named state Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Frank Morrison was selected Oct. 13 by the Democratic state central committee to replace the late Stanley Long of Grand Island.

Ag, Home Ec Journalists To Tour Plant

The operation of a farm publication and a tour of a magazine plant will highlight the meeting of Ag and Home Ec journalism majors Thursday.

Carl Deitemeyer, editor of the Nebraska Farmer, and staff members will speak about the operation and contributions of a farm publication. The procedure for making layouts, gathering material, and making assignments to reporters will be explained. A tour of the magazine plant in operation will follow.

Students planning to attend should contact Mr. R. J. Graham at Extension 7110. The tour will begin at the Ag College Administration Annex at 6:45 p.m.

'N' Club Initiation

Don Erway, Cornhusker quarterback who has been benched so far this season by ailing knees, led prospective 'N' Club members through their paces at initiation ceremonies Sunday.

Engineers' Blueprint Sales Start

"E" week competition between the six University engineering societies, conducted annually to boost Blueprint Engineering Magazine sales, started Monday.

asme, asae, aia, aicte, aice-IRE and ASCE are vying for top Blue Print subscription sales totals.

Blue Print is a monthly engineering magazine put out by engineering students. Subscription price is $1.50 for the eight issues.

The magazine consists of articles written by engineering students and alumni on modern engineering methods and problems. It provides sources of information enabling engineering students to keep abreast of new ideas and techniques in different engineering fields.

It also contains a monthly pinup of a university coed, jokes and other articles of interest for the non-engineering student.

During the past few years it has won several honors as one of the top magazines of its field.

A new printing process will enable the Blue Print to present a larger and higher quality magazine to the subscriber this year with no increase in subscription price.

SDX Slates Rival Speakers On Tax Topic

Rival spokesmen on the controversial ton-mile tax proposal will appear on the program of the first fall meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, to be held Friday, at 6 p.m. at the University Club in Lincoln.

Speakers will be Former Gov. Robert Crosby, representing the Committee for Better Roads through Fair Taxation, and Nate Holman, Jr., speaking for the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, Inc.

Announcement of the meeting was made jointly today by Stuart Bohacek, publisher of the Wilber Republican, and state president of Sigma Delta Chi, and Dr. William Hall, director of the University of Nebraska's School of Journalism.

This will be the first in a series of debate programs planned this year by Sigma Delta Chi.

Carnival Meeting Set Wednesday

A meeting of all booth foremen for Penny Carnival will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Union Room 315, according to Natalie Johnson and Marilyn Waechter, chairmen of the booth foremen. Members of Coed Counselors will be booth foremen.

Penny Carnival booths will be judged on the basis of their originality, attractiveness, and audience appeal. Booths will also be evaluated as to the cost of equipment and decorations.

Tickets for the Carnival, which will be held Friday, are 35 cents. They will be sold Wednesday and Thursday in booths set up in both the City and Ag Unions. Tickets will also be sold when Coed Counselor board members tour organized houses Thursday night during the supper hour.

The Inside World

Phi Sigma Iota

Mrs. Hal Carney, instructor in Romance Languages, will read a paper entitled "Glimpses of Galdos as a Personality and a Writer" at the first program meeting, guest night, of Phi Sigma Iota for the year 1956-57. The meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge of the Union.

Dance Lessons Set

Five free dance lessons, beginning Wednesday from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. in the Union Ballroom, will be furnished by a local dance studio.

This is a good opportunity to learn all the new dance steps and will only take an hour of your time, according to Terry Mitchem, dance committee chairman. Everyone is invited and attendance is expected to be good, she added.

Flying Club

The University Flying Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Union Room 316. All interested students are invited to attend.

LOCKHEED

Aircraft Corporation

California Division • Georgia Division

Staff Representatives will be on campus to discuss your future Wednesday, October 17 in Lockheed's expanding research and development program.

Separate interviews will be given for each division.

Both divisions of Lockheed are engaged in a long-range expansion program in their fields of endeavor.

California Division activities in Burbank cover virtually every phase of commercial and military aircraft. Seventeen different models of planes are in production, including cargo and passenger transports, high Mach performance fighters, jet trainers, radar search planes, patrol bombers.

B. S. graduates who wish to attain a Master's Degree will be interested in the California Division's Masters-Degree Work-Study Program. In the program, participants achieve their M.S. while working concurrently on Lockheed's engineering staff.

At Lockheed in Marietta, Georgia, new C-130A turbo-prop transports and B-47 jet bombers are being manufactured in the country's largest aircraft plant under one roof. The division is already one of the South's largest industries. Moreover, a new engineering center is now in development as part of the division's expansion program. In addition, advanced research and development are underway on nuclear energy and its relationship to aircraft. A number of other highly significant classified projects augment the extensive production program.

This broad expansion program is creating new positions in each division. Graduates in fields of: Aeronautical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Mathematics and Physics are invited to investigate their role in Lockheed's expansion.
