League-Leading Buffs Sport String Of Four Consecutive Easy Victories

By GEORGE MOYER
Sports Staff Writer

League-leading Colorado, fresh from a 52-0 pasting of Iowa State, will take on Nebraska this Saturday before a packed house of 45,000 in newly enlarged Folsom Field.

This number should include some 6,000 migrating Nebraskans who biannually swell the gate at Boulder to a point where Colorado at Boulder has become almost another home game for the Huskers.

If Nebraska intends to continue its winning streak over Colorado the Huskers had better come armed with .45s. After a somewhat horrid opener against Oregon State's Pacific Coast League barnburner, Colorado has roared to four consecutive conquests.

First victim of the Buffs was Kansas State, a 34-0 recipient of aroused Buffalo malice. In short order there followed Kansas, Colorado A&M, and last week Iowa State.

Colorado has been steadily improving since its opener and can boast a fine crop of sophomores including tackle Bob Salerno, brother to All Big Seven selection Sam Salerno, halfback Howard Cook, who stands second among Colorado scorers, and Boyd Dowler, who will see a lot of action against the Nebraskans from the quarterback slot.

Not only can coach Dal Ward rely on these freshman stalwarts, but upperclassmen like John "The Beast" Bayuk, Frank Clarke, Jerry Leahy, and Wally Merz, will also be ready. Bayuk scored three times in the Iowa State rout to return himself to the favor of Ward, who had the big fellow running with the second team during most of spring practice.

Also great offensive threats will be Colorado's three fine ends: Clarke, Leahy, and Merz. This trio ruined Iowa State's attempt to stop the bull-like rushes of Bayuk by spreading the Cyclone defense with many nifty catches.

Colorado will enter the game in top physical shape and thirst for a victory that will avenge two straight shellackings administered by the Huskers. If Colorado beats the Nebraska they will be virtual shoo-ins for the Orange Bowl with only dangerous Missouri standing in the way of the New Years jaunt.

So far, Colorado has been more impressive than Nebraska. Although their competition has not been the best outside of Kansas and Oregon, Colorado has defeated its opponents by monstrous margins.

Coach Dal Ward that his team would be sniffing Orange blossoms this late in the season last spring, genial Dal would have called for the white coat boys. In the second spring scrimmage last year a group of upstart third team sophomores pushed Dal's varsity all over the field while taking a 27-13 victory.

In this scrimmage, Bob Clarke caught two passes for touchdowns and was praised by Ward for "turning in his best performance in a Colorado suit." Apparently young Clarke has decided to make this type of performing his regular style of play, for he has been a first class thorn in the sides of Colorado opposition all season.

Also distinguishing himself was Big John Bayuk, who has finally began to live up to his tremendous promise this year. Bayuk was moved up to the first team that day last spring, but was not exceedingly impressive this fall until last Saturday.

Colorado has switched to the multiple offense this year. This is indeed a big change for Coach Ward who has traditionally run a single wing. He was one of the last coaches in the country to shift from single wing to the T offense, and has not yet completely made the transition. Nebraska can still expect to face some of the old fashioned Colorado single wing power Saturday.

Mark of Maturity

Now at last you're 21—and old enough to vote. But growing up is just one essential—the other is, simply, thought. Don't be a don't-care voter. Think it through. Look over the candidates. Listen . . . read . . . argue. A thoughtful vote is a mark of maturity. Also a matter of pride!

Sooners In Big Test: Important Games On Weekend Tap

BIG SEVEN TEAM STANDINGS

CONFERENCE GAMES
	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
Colorado	3	0	0	1.000
Oklahoma	2	0	0	1.000
Missouri	1	0	0	1.000
Kansas	1	1	0	.500
Nebraska	1	2	0	.333
Kansas State	1	2	0	.333
Iowa State	0	3	0	.000

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Oct. 27 Nebraska at Colorado
Iowa State at Missouri
Oklahoma at Notre Dame
Kansas State at Wyoming
Kansas at Oklahoma A&M

Two conference games highlight the weekend around the Big Seven. Nebraska travels to Colorado and Iowa State goes to Missouri to meet the Tigers.

These two games are very vital for the teams if they want a trip to the Orange Bowl. The present league leaders, the Colorado Buffaloes, who sport a 3-0 record, play host to Nebraska's pesky Huskers. The last two seasons Nebraska has spoiled the Buffs hopes with wins. Each time it has been Willie Greenlaw who has led the scarlet and cream. Nebraska won 20-6 in 1954 and last season walloped Colorado by a 37-20 tune. Greenlaw is back once again but has been unimpressive in early games.

On the Colorado side they want to celebrate homecoming with a win. John (The Beast) Bayuk leads the Colorado assault. The big senior scored three times last Saturday in the romp past Iowa State. Dal Ward has 20 lettermen back in the fold from last year.

Colorado ranks as 13 point favorites but on past performances this may mean very little in the final outcome.

Missouri also is bidding for the Orange Bowl berth with Colorado and Nebraska. The Huskers won the trip two years ago defeating Missouri so they want revenge.

Although the Tigers can't get to Nebraska until next Saturday they must whip an unpredictable Iowa State team to even stay in contention.

Missouri has won its last two outings over North Dakota State and Kansas State after dropping its first three games. With quarterback Jimmy Hunter performing at his best the Tigers should walk over the Cyclones who must recover from their trouncing last week.

It may be just a matter of whether coach Vince DiFrancesca can get his boys up for the Tigers or not.

There are also three non-conference games on tap for tomorrow. The big one, of course, will be at South Bend, Indiana, where the Oklahoma Sooners meet Notre Dame. This game is to be televised coast to coast. The Sooners are favored to whip the faltering Irish but Notre Dame always proves rough for anyone and especially for Oklahoma. The Sooners want to win by a large margin and try to move back on top on the national rankings but this is a big assignment. Terry Brennan and his boys will be pointing towards this game and should be up for it.

Kansas who last week became the first team this year to score on Oklahoma travels to Oklahoma A&M for a Friday night contest. This could very well be the best game of the week end. The Aggies big game to date was against Texas A&M when they fought to a 14-14 deadlock.

The final Big Seven game of the week sends Kansas State to Wyoming. This should be another top attraction. The Cowboy backfield talent is strong and is paced by tailback Jim Crawford. The highlight of the Wildcat season thus far was a surprise 10-7 win over Nebraska two weeks ago.

Gardiner To Olympics

Keith Gardiner, sophomore track hopeful, will leave Thursday for his native Jamaica where he will go through final workouts before he leaves for the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia.

Gardiner was a standout on last year's freshman squad and established a new Big Seven frosh record in the high hurdles.

Workers Party

A Know-How Jamboree including free chow, skits and a movie will be held at the Boy Scout Cabin Tuesday for all Union workers.

Busses and cars will provide transportation to the cabin and will leave the Union at 5:15 p.m.

Physicals

Physicals for all men who wish to compete in intercollegiate winter and spring sports will be given at 7:30 p.m., November 1st, at the Student Health Center. This physical includes track, baseball, basketball, tennis, swimming, gymnastics, golf and wrestling.

13 Meets:

Big Year Set For Tankers

The 1956-57 Cornhusker swimming squad assembled Monday, Oct. 22 at 4 p.m. in the Coliseum pool for the first conditioning exercises.

Any male students interested in competitive swimming, and diving on either the freshman or varsity teams may contact Coach Hollie Lepley.

A schedule of 13 meets including the Universities of Colorado, Kansas, and Minnesota, Colorado State College, Colorado A&M, Iowa State College, Kansas State College, and Grinnell College has been arranged. The season will open at Grinnell of Dec. 14 and close at Norman, Okla., March 8 and 9 with the annual Big Seven Conference Swimming Championships.

Several promising sophomores have been added to this year's squad including Charles Arizumi, standout backstroke from Honolulu, Hawaii, Harvey Fair, backstroke from Omaha, Pat Drake, breaststroke from Lincoln, Jerry Brown, breaststroke from Omaha, Jerry Farrell sprinter from Hastings, Ron Ronier, sprinter from Wyandotte, Mich., and Bill Norish from Lincoln, a distance man.

The squad suffered a severe blow during the summer, however, when Wyman Kenagy, junior free style point winner, and two sophomore sprinters, Larry McClean of Fremont and Jim Hupfer of North Platte joined the armed forces.

Intramurals: Sig Eps Massacre Phi Psis

Phi Psi-Sig Ep

Sigma Phi Epsilon popped the Phi Kappa Psi football bubble with a roaring 32-0 victory Thursday.

The Phi Psis hopes for a repeat All-Fraternity championship received a serious jolt with the defeat. They now go to the loser's bracket which includes the Sig Alphas, Phi Deltas and Deltas.

The Sig Eps who displayed championship form now take a breather while the lower bracket teams fight for the chance to meet the Sigas again.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon team in winning five straight games, has shown all the necessary qualifications to take the All-University title.

Special recognition goes to Gene Souponchick for his work in Thursday's game.

He figured in all the Sig Eps touchdowns.

"Soup" passed to Rich Mason for two touchdowns and also ran for two other touchdowns. One was a 50 yarder.

Harold Sorenson turned in some fine pass defending.

He intercepted two Phi Psi passes and ran both back for about 25 yards.

For the Phi Psis, Quink Moore and Ken Billings turned in their usual fine job of rushing. Both appear capable of receiving All-Fraternity recognition.

Sigma Nu-Delta Tau Delta

In a game marred by poor officiating and numerous temper flare-ups, Delta Tau Delta defeated Sigma Nu 14-0 Wednesday.

On the first play of the game Cecil Walker intercepted a Delta pass, but the Sigma Nus were unable to score.

The Deltas came right back, but bogged down at midfield.

On the final play of the first half Lindgren passed to John Beideck for a touchdown.

In the third period Tito (old man) Mladovich threw to Beideck for a TD, to complete the scoring.

The Sig Nus in a losing battle showed several individual standouts. Among the group were: Larry Westerbeck, Larry Gausman, and Don Brand.
