Bufs Gain Revenge With 'The Beast' Leading Way

By BOB WIRZ, Staff Sports Writer
The Colorado Buffaloes finally got revenge on the Huskers Saturday.

This is a trick they have been trying to do now for three years. The past two seasons the Huskers have played excellent ball in underdog roles to pull out victories. This time the Bufs were just too much and Coach Dal Ward's Coloradoans pounded their way to a 16 to 0 victory.

Mel Warner was held to five yards in two tries. Stransky gained ten more. From here Bayuk with the help of five teammates carried it over with one big 23 yard run. Ellwin Indorf kicked the extra point and it was 7-0 Colorado.

Nebraska again played a fine first half keeping pace with Colorado in all but the scoring column. The second half was a different story as John "The Beast" Bayuk and his mates outplayed and outscored the Huskers. Nebraska as in their past several games seemed to run out of gas the final two periods. They couldn't muster any offense in the final half and although they held Colorado to seven points looked poor at times on defense.

Bayuk, for the first time in his college career, was outstanding against Nebraska. The past two seasons they have held him very well intact.

The win Saturday leaves Colorado only one game away from a trip to the Orange Bowl. This week the Bufs play Oklahoma and then next week end meet the Missouri Tigers. If they can whip the Tigers the trip is theirs. The Nebraska defense looked very strong in the first part of the game holding the Coloradoans scoreless until nearly five minutes of the second period had been played. This was the same outfit which had whipped Kansas State 34-0, Iowa State 52-0, and Kansas 26-25 in their previous Conference outings. The first Colorado scoring drive carried for 51 yards in five plays. It started after halfback Bob Stransky had returned a George Harshman punt 18 yards to their own 49 yard mark. Stransky then gained 13 yards.

Then it was the Huskers turn to march and they did from their own 29 to the Colorado 17 before the march bogged down. Quarterback Gordon Englert and the rest of the second team backfield did the work with the help of the second line. Larry Naviaux, Bill Hawkins, and Dick McCashland did the carrying along with Englert during the drive. With fourth down and five yards to go George Harshman, who defeated Iowa State with his last minute field goal, tried a placement from the Colorado 23 but the kick went wide and the Bufs took over.

Colorado fumbled three plays later and Nebraska took over on their own 17 yard line. However the Huskers gave up to more points just before the half ended when Frank Nappi, trying to pass, was tackled in his own end zone giving the opponents two points.

The second half was all Colorado as Nebraska couldn't muster any offense.

Colorado scored their second and final touchdown with only six minutes gone in the second half. Again it was Bayuk this time from the 14 yard line. Indorf's placement made it 16-0.

Both teams apparently came out of the contest without any serious injuries.

This week Nebraska will try to rebound as they play host to Missouri in the annual Homecoming contest.

As I See It

By WALT BLORE, Sports Editor

Tourists' Mecca . . .

Colorado, the tourists' mecca, opened its doors and paws to their neighbors last weekend.

Many Nebraskans expressed displeasure over the hospitality extended by the people on the Boulder campus.

This is probably due to the large amount of people that the Rockies attract each year and the natives get a little tired of visitors.

Another complaint heard was the lack of quality in the liquid refreshments offered within the city limits of Boulder. It might be well to note here that high quality refreshments were available in stores on the outskirts of town, however.

Disappointment . . .

Saturday's game proved to be a disappointment to almost 9,000 Cornhusker followers. But from this viewpoint, it appeared as if the Huskers were showing the effects of three hard battles preceding the encounter with the Buffaloes.

Bruises and strains did not heal to well and the consequences were noticeable.

Funny Papers . . .

After reading the Colorado newspapers' commentary on the game, it was hardly necessary for anyone to read the funny papers.

The reporters pulled the stops in describing Colorado's victory. Actually, but for two good plays, Colorado did nothing but run all over the field only to boot the ball in crucial places.

True, Nebraska could not muster any sustained offense, but when any team is behind, it's harder to fight back and score and stop a sustained drive all in one breath.

Also, the spirit is better when a team is holding the opponent from scoring and is better able to score at the same time.

'The Beast' . . .

While mentally reviewing the game, it appeared as if anybody could have scored behind the blocking that was afforded to John Bayuk. It wasn't necessary to be good to ring up a touchdown those two times, all that was necessary was two eyes, one arm and two legs in reasonable functioning order.

Not taking any credit away from the Beast, but his play during the rest of the game did him more credit as a football player than those two TD runs.

While on the subject of Bayuk, it was reported by very reliable sources that the giant expressed his mentality and common sense to the Nebraska bench in a manner of a crude bull in a china shop.

Homecoming Queens? . . .

Another thing that was very noticeable while on migration was the quality of the candidates for Colorado Homecoming queen. They were very beautiful and reportedly quite personable.

Compared to the ones running here, they stood out like Cadillacs in a tractor factory.

But, according to Miss McPeck those girls were chosen because of the great time and effort they put into preparing for the home football games.

If this logic is to be followed, then the people of the United States would be wise to consider Messrs. Hall and Butler for the presidency because of the fine work they did in preparing their parties for the forthcoming elections.

To quote my noted colleague, Mr. Cook, "the farmers in Nebraska send their cattle to Omaha and their pigs to Lincoln."

Tigers Seek Sweet Solace

The University of Missouri Tigers will invade the Nebraska campus for another of a series of homecoming contests which have proved real thrillers over the history of the 60 year old series.

Missouri will be trying to push its seasons record above the .500 mark

Since 1950 the game has produced some electrifying feats of derring do. In that memorable '50 contest, All American Bobby Reynolds lead Nebraska to a 40-34 victory by running backwards for 40 yards before taking off up the sidelines on a 74-yd. touchdown gallop.

Te next year, in a game played at Columbia, it was Bob Smith who did the honors for the Huskers. Although Nebraska lost, 35-19, Smith chased a Missouri kick-off 94-yds. for a touchdown.

At Lincoln, in 1952 Missouri ran its winning streak to two straight over the Huskers when Jerry Schoonamaker snagged a Nebraska lateral in midair and ran 80 yards for the touchdown.

In 1953, Missouri cemented its claim to conference runner-up by belting Nebraska 23-7. The game was distinguished by the fine pass catching of a sophomore end named Harold Burnine who later went on to All-American honors for the Tigers.

The last two years were all Nebraska's. In 1954 Nebraska triumphed 25-19 to solidify an Orange Bowl trip for the Huskers. Then last year, it was Rex Fischer's tremendous run with an intercepted Tiger pass that gave Nebraska the win, 18-12.

Big Seven Teams Win Big Games

By BILL WILSON, Staff Sports Reporter

While Colorado was blanking Nebraska, 16-0, there were two inter-sectional games and one conference tilt being played.

In a nationally - televised game, the Oklahoma Sooners routed Notre Dame 40-0. It was the 35th straight victory for the Sooners while the Irish were absorbing their first shutout since 1951.

Striking with tremendous first-half force, the incredible skill of Oklahoma's run-pass attack and its relentless platoon system completely demoralized Notre Dame, which had two passes intercepted for Sooner touchdowns.

Clendon Thomas was without a doubt the big gun for the Sooners as he figured in two touchdowns. Thomas scored once on an 11-yard run and again on a 36-yard jaunt with an interception of a Paul Hornung pass. He rushed for 121 yards on 23 carries.

End John Bell crossed the couple stripes on a 1-yard plunge for the first Sooner touchdown. Tommy McDonald made it 26-0 by intercepting a pass by Notre Dame's Jim Morse and racing 55 yards for a touchdown.

Jim Harris plunged over from the 1-yard line for a third-quarter touchdown. That put the Sooners ahead 33-0 and Thomas made it 40-0 with his second touchdown on his Hornung interception in the fourth - quarter.

Oklahoma rushed to 147 yards and had 88 yards passing against 119 yards rushing and 99 yards passing for the Irish.

Don Faurot niched his 100th victory as a football coach as the Missouri Tigers scored five touchdowns in the second-half to blank Iowa State 34-0.

The Tiger scoring was evenly distributed between five Missouri backs as Faurot used his manpower freely.

Fullback George Cramer drove 32 yards behind mass blocking for the first score. Hank Kuhlmann, sophomore halfback, intercepted an Iowa State pass to put the Tigers in scoring position and a yard and the second score. Few plays later swept end for one

Sig Alpha-Beta

In a game the saw officials call back two legal touchdowns, Sigma Alpha Epsilon beat Beta Theta Pi 10-0.

The Sig Alphas blocked two Beta punts and recovered them in the end zone to account for 4 points.

Wally Bryans passed to Mike Shatto for the only touchdown that the Sig Alphas were allowed to keep.

The running and passing of Bryans kept the Betas off balance. The defensive work of Mierhenry stood out.

Jim O'Hanlon and Cal Johnson looked good for the Betas.
