Phi Psis Gain Finals

By GARY PETERSEN
Intramural Editor

After losing their first game of the season to the Sig Eps, the Phi Kappa Psi bounced back and gained the finals of the Fraternity A division with victories over the Sig Alpha Phi Deltas, and the Deltas.

The Phi Psis now meet the Sig Eps again, this time of the Fraternity A title. The Phi Psis must, however, best the Eps twice to represent their division. The Eps need only one win since they are unbeaten.

Delt-Phi Psi

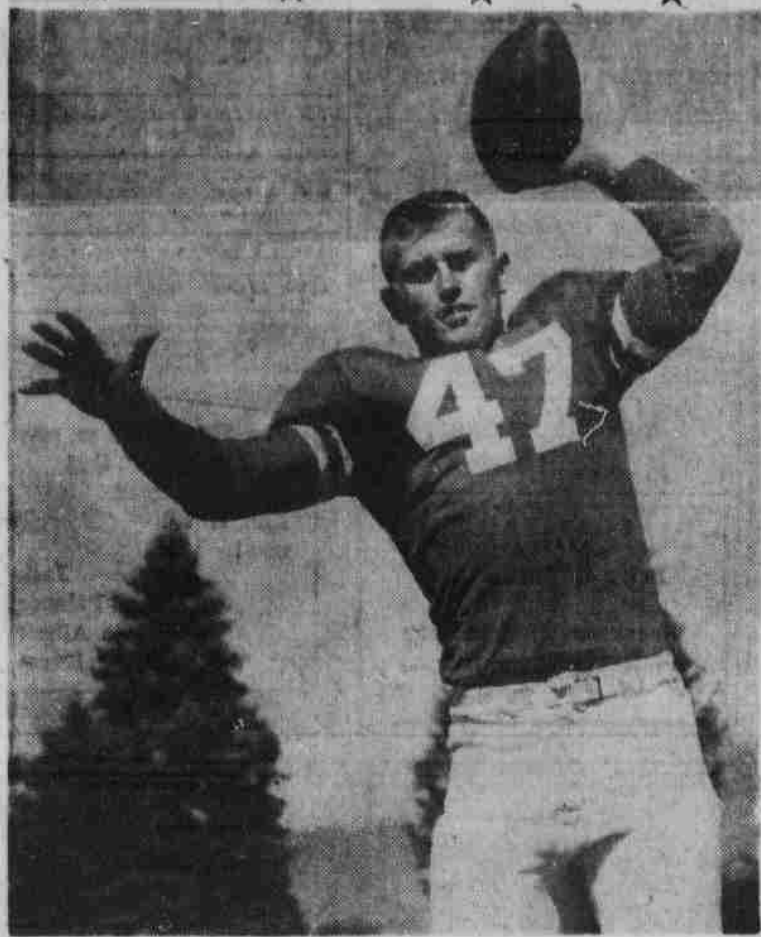

Phi Kappa Psi gained the semi-finals of the Fraternity A Play-off with a 13-7 victory over the Deltas. The Psis displayed fine teamwork and team balance in taking the victory.

The game was much more lopsided than the score would indicate. The Psis had the ball a great deal of the time and had numerous drives stopped in Delt territory by fumbles and pass interference.

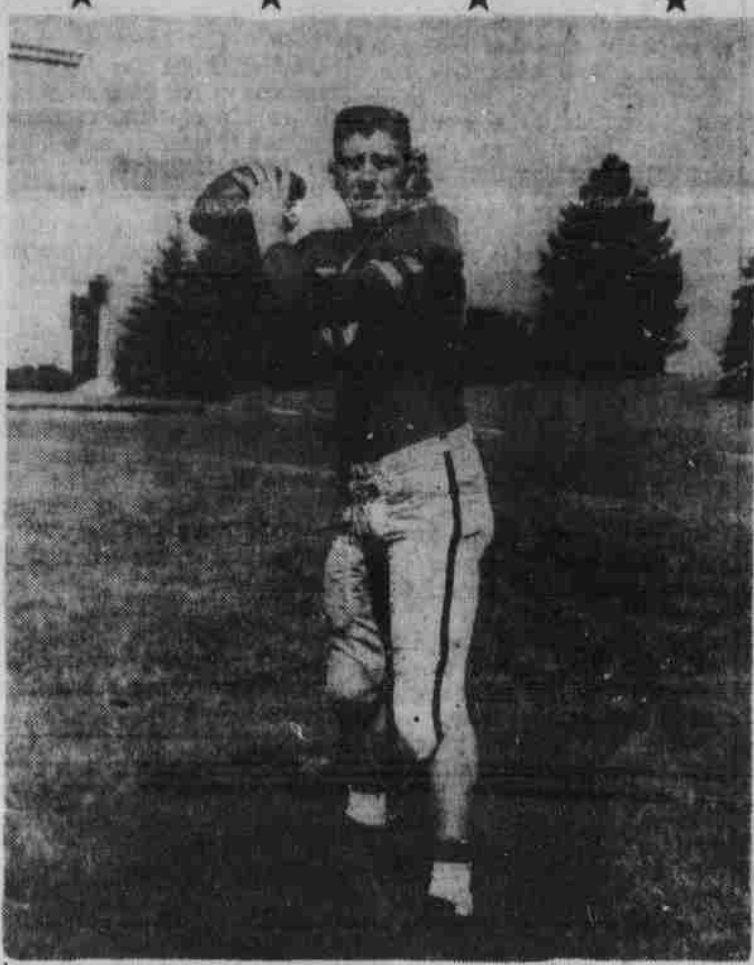

On the first series of plays the Phi Psi drove the length of the field and scored on a pass Jon Applegat to Jim Good. Applegat fired a pass to Svoboda for the second Phi Psi touchdown.

The Deltas got their TD on a run by Lingren.

The fine defensive work of Kem Billings and Quink Moore kept the Delt backs intact. Applegat did a good job at tailbacking.

selected as Stars of the Week by the Nebraskan Sports Staff. A trio of easterners have been Willie Greenlaw, Frank Nappi and George Harshman were chosen because of the important part they played in the thrilling upset of Missouri.

Greenlaw, All Big Seven half-back from Portland, Maine, was running at full steam for the first time this year and his all out effort gave his teammates the incentive to fight back and pull the upset that might well keep the Tigers from journeying to Miami on New Year's day.

Willie lugged the leather six times Saturday and gained 42 yards for a 7.0 average.

He threw one pass which accounted for 25 yards and the victory. This aerial came during the last two minutes of play and proved that a team is never beaten until the final gun has sounded.

Nappi, a neighbor of Greenlaw's in Portland, Maine, started out the season as a third string half-back but his hard play and determination moved him up the ladder to the first unit.

When Bill Hawkins was injured, Frank was moved up to replace him and he has been a permanent fixture ever since.

His accurate passing has made the Huskers an aerial threat.

Against Missouri, Nappi gained only 35 yards on 12 carries but the statistics are misleading in view of the fact that he had to eat the ball a couple of times and these plays accounted for a Husker deficit in the neighborhood of 35 yards.

In the passing department Frank was as usual very effective. He tossed a total of eight passes and completed four for a total of 45 yards. The Portland junior, however, gained his fame on the other side of the ledger.

Nappi made a fantastic catch of Greenlaw's pass in the closing minutes of the game to turn defeat into victory for the Cornhuskers.

Pete Elliott can look to Nappi with satisfaction for the New Englander has improved with each contest, and should develop into a definite Nebraska threat come next season.

If George Harshman were running for Governor of the great state of Nebraska, I'm afraid that the politicians battling for the job wouldn't have a chance.

The "Cinderella Boy" by virtue of his golden toe has become one of the more popular players of the current Husker crop. Harshman, a Dickerson Run, Pennsylvania import, kicked the game winning field goal in the Iowa State contest.

Although overshadowed somewhat by teammates Greenlaw and Nappi, his three pointer against "Mizzou" proved to be the winning margin.

George really saved the day when early in the fourth quarter he fumbled a bad pass from center yet managed to punt on the run while being chased by a host of Missouri tacklers.

This play occurred on the Nebraska two yard line and could very easily have turned the tide for Don Faurot's Tigers.

All in all the Missouri-Nebraska contest was a fine team effort on the part of both squads. Every Husker grizzer deserves credit for his efforts in this team victory.

Olympic Entries Dwindle . . .

The Netherlands and Spain have withdrawn from Olympic competition. Holland made its decision yesterday at a dramatic meeting of sports officials in the Hague. Parts of the Netherlands team already in Australia will be recalled.

Spanish officials also announced their five man team wouldn't compete because of tense world conditions. A spokesman referred to what he called Russia's "Bloody Invasion" of Hungary.

A Chinese communist broadcast said the Chinese Reds also are pulling out, because the Chinese Nationalists were invited to compete as a separate team. The Olympic Committee, however, has received no official word from Red China.

Sooners Have Troubles? . . .

Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson claims he has his troubles. Wilkinson says he doesn't have time to teach his Sooners as many plays as he would like to. He says he can't do all the things that make for real sound football in the time has between games.

Personally I'd say that if Wilkinson had time to teach them any other plays, the Sooners would have to quit collegiate football and join the pro circuit. It's rough enough as it is.

Team Effort . . .

Saturday's Homecoming victory over the Missouri Tigers was undoubtedly a team victory but in another sense it can be labeled as a personal victory for Coach Pete Elliott.

Pete succeeded where many coaches fail. He kept his Cornhusker squad up and their fighting spirit alive. Had the Nebraska squad lost their spirit, they could never have pulled the "Mizzou" game out of the fire.

Hats off to Pete for the fine job he's done.

Only five colleges; Wyoming, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Princeton and Georgia Tech are still unbeaten and untied among the major college football teams. One is sure to bite the dust this weekend as Tennessee journeys to Mint Julep land to tangle with the Georgia Tech Engineers.

In other contests Montana will be at Wyoming, Oklahoma roars into Ames to massacre Iowa State and Princeton will play host to Harvard.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Young man on a mountain

If Don Gundersen isn't in his office, he's probably on a California mountaintop making tests and surveys prior to the raising of a radio relay tower.

That's part of Don's job as an engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. With other young engineers he makes field studies, then analyzes the data and decides where to locate equipment for mobile radio, radio relay and point-to-point radio links.

He has to answer a lot of questions, such as "How high must the towers be? How much will access roads cost? What will the control circuits cost? What are the chances of transmission interference?" And those are only a few.

"The answers have to be right, too," says Don. "The recommendations we make control hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of construction. There's no way in the world of 'burying' a mistake.

"But I like responsibility, and the chance to make real contributions. The telephone business is growing so fast, and technological improvements are coming along in such volume, that opportunities to get ahead are excellent. If the business looks remarkable today, think what it'll be like twenty years from now!"

Donald L. Gundersen graduated from the University of Washington in 1949 with a B.S. in Electrical Engineering. Other interesting career opportunities exist in all Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.
