Diane Peterson:

1956 Commandant Used To Royalty

By JAN FARRELL
Society Editor

Diane Peterson, new Honorary Commandant, is not unaccustomed to being considered royalty. In fact you might even consider her a double royalty, for she was a countess in this year's Ak-Sar-Ben Ball. Diane, Miss Navy, is a senior in Home Economics from Fremont and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

I asked Diane if she was surprised when she was named to Honorary Commandant and she said, "Of course I was surprised. I didn't know that I had been chosen until Ron Blue was standing in front of me on the stage."

"It wasn't like the Ak-Sar-Ben Ball because I had known for such a long time that I was going to be a countess. The Military Ball was much more of a surprise. I don't think that my parents even knew."

When I asked if anything exciting happened before the Ball, she said, "oh, nothing except that I almost didn't have a dress to wear. I decided to wear my Ak-Sar-Ben ball gown, but it had to have the train cut off, and I didn't get around to taking it to the dress makers until Tuesday. When I got there she was so sick and didn't think she could have it finished by Friday."

Perhaps you wonder just as much as I do what an Honorary Commandant-to-be does just before she goes to the ball. Does she worry? Chew her nails? If Diane is the answer, she went out to dinner, not in her ball gown, but in a pair of jeans.

Diane said she had only one complaint about the ball. She thought the Nav-Cad choir was excellent, and Diane Knotek sang beautifully, but she didn't get to dance very much. They were taking pictures until 12:20 a.m. and we had to leave the dance at 12:30 a.m. to go to a party at the Cornhusker for all the candidates and committee heads.

"I just wish that I could go to the Ball next year and just dance," she said.

Student Body Protests Food In Violent Riot

Students of the University of Michigan joined in a food throwing dish smashing demonstration in dormitory dining halls Sunday in a protest over meals.

Shouting "We want good food," the male students threw plates of asparagus and vanilla pudding against the walls.

When officials closed the food lines and cleared the room the students continued the riots outside, rocking cars and throwing snowballs at police.

The hubbub subsided after the Dean of Men promised an investigation into the food problem.

Dave Gumenick, a student, said the quality of meals had been going down since school opened last September.

"They have been serving low cost starchy meals that don't satisfy the appetite," he said.

Sunday night's menu consisted of corned beef, Swiss cheese, asparagus, vanilla pudding and milk.

Estimates of the number taking part in the riot ranged from 400 by school officials to 1500 by police.

Prank Places Four Students On Probation

A prank played by four University students proved costly as they were placed on conduct probation Monday.

The students are charged with the theft of a bird bath, two flower pots, two jardiniere and three statues from the lawn of a Milford resident.

They were apprehended by University police early Saturday morning, charged with possession of liquor by a minor and were fined $25 apiece in Municipal Court Saturday.

In addition, the four face petty larceny charges in Seward County. Their trial will come up December 20.

The four are James Peterson, Robert Houston, Larry Lester, and James Moravec.

Do You Gamble With Fire?

If your answer to the question is a quick NO, think again! You may be gambling with fire every day.

Do you think that by obeying a few rules you are protecting your home and family from the danger of fire? If you do, you're a real gambler, all right!

The only real way to prevent fire is to become aware of the causes of fire. Make yourself fire conscious! The man who is careful not to smoke in bed can lose his family, his home and his own life as well, simply because the curtains in the kitchen were hung too close to the stove.

Few fires start by chance. Most fires are caused by ignorance or carelessness. A fire-informed family is familiar with fire—its uses and benefits as well as its dangers. Parents should make sure their children's fire education is not left to chance.

Some good rules to keep in mind are: Don't smoke in bed—Use only non-inflammable cleaning fluids—Don't use frayed electric cords—Keep matches away from young children—Clean out junk from attic and basement—Make sure your electric wiring is not overloaded—Don't use ordinary extension cords on heaters or irons—Be careful with lighted cigarettes—Make sure you know how to operate your oil stove—Watch out for sparking chimneys! Most of all,

DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START!

KIDS! JOIN SPARKY'S FIRE DEPARTMENT NOW!

You can become an official member of Sparky's great fire department and join thousands of other children all over the country who are learning how to prevent fires in their homes. Send 25¢ to my fire department in Boston and I will send you a handsome Inspector's badge, a colorful membership card and an official Inspector's manual which will help you prevent fires in your home. My fire department is a non-profit project of the National Fire Protection Association. Send your request to:
