Hungarian Project Pledged More Aid

The University Hungarian Student Project received an additional boost Thursday when the Lincoln Rotary Club pledged $60 to the project to be used for the transportation of one student to the University from Port of Entry. The student YMCA, although not a recognized student organization, has voted to give full support to the Project.

The Project Committee has received an application from the World University Service, coordinators of agencies handling the placing of refugees in universities throughout the country.

The application asks what guarantees in regard to housing, tuition, books, clothing and maintenance funds will be available at the University.

This application was filled out and returned immediately, in order that the University can be at the top of the list in the request for students, said Barb Sharpe, chairman of the Project Committee.

According to WUS, the coordinating committee working with Hungarian refugee students in Vienna, Austria, has now registered more than 1000 students.

Of this number, 135 have indicated that they would prefer to resettle in the United States. The committee anticipates, on the basis of interviews in Graz and Vienna, that at least 150 additional Hungarian student refugees will wish to come to America, making a probable total of 285.

Ocean transportation for the Hungarian student is being arranged by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration.

WUS has established procedures for interviewing students in order to determine their academic qualifications. Although students seeking resettlement are young by American university standards, they have been studying highly specialized fields such as medicine, engineering, forestry, geodetics.

Almost half the students registered to date have indicated a desire to study one of the branches of engineering. Others wish to study medicine, chemistry, humanities, law, veterinary skills, architecture, business, agriculture, and economics.

salutes Jockey brand underwear

Clausewitz McStrut, not generalissimo, is a stickler for obedience to commands. "When I say, 'at ease' I mean 'at ease,'" he says, "and Jockey briefs always let you be at ease!"

You don't have to be bucking for commendations at inspection time to appreciate the comfort that comes from wearing Jockey briefs. Better stop in at your dealer's soon...buy a supply of Jockey briefs and T-shirts, and feel as good as you look!

Red Fox Habitat Group

The Hall of Nebraska Wildlife is one of many outstanding and colorful exhibits in the Museum.

When completed, it will show 16 natural habitat groups representing a cross-section of the varied wildlife and types of landscape found in Nebraska.

Donations to the Foundation from many alumni and friends of the University have made possible the development of this hall. More evidence that NU's alumni and friends are interested in making your University better for YOU.

ASSIGNMENT WITH A FUTURE

Engineering history is being made at Chrysler Missile Operations. We are meeting and conquering the challenge of two of today's most important missiles—the Redstone and Jupiter Ballistic Missiles.

As a graduate engineer we offer you an opportunity to share in this adventure in engineering for we need young men with the necessary vision and creativeness to work in today's newest and most rapidly expanding field. In no other area of engineering are the opportunities as great or the future as bright for a young engineer as in this dramatic industry.

You will find at Chrysler Missile Operations a work atmosphere which is geared to new ideas and where ample opportunity is given each individual to achieve leadership and full command of all phases of missile development. You will work shoulder to shoulder with many of today's greatest missile scientists and pioneers whose name are synonymous with pilotless flight.

If you wish to become part of a wide open—full of the future—engineering field, one which will literally lift you out of the ordinary and into a whole new world of engineering opportunities, then graduate to Chrysler—Guide Post to Opportunity!

We invite you to discuss your opportunities at Chrysler Missile With
