

Pub Board:

Meeting, Proposal Delayed

The Board of Student Publications voted Monday to postpone discussion until a later meeting of a proposal of Sam Jensen, editor of The Nebraskan, to make further meetings of the Committee on Student Affairs open to the public and the press.

Because of the lateness of the hour it was decided to wait until the next meeting of the committee, Dec. 17, in order to insure "time for thoughtful discussion".

In his proposal, Jensen stated that since the Committee on Student Affairs considered matters of vital concern to students, the affairs of that committee ought to be known to them.

He pointed out that the committee was appointed by the Board of Regents and consequently was of a permanent nature, it occupied a slightly different position than the temporary committees. In view of this, "The Nebraskan feels that members of the press as well as other students ought to be able to attend the meetings of this committee", Jensen said.

In reply to questions from the Board, Jensen explained that he was referring to the discussion portions of the meetings, that the committee should continue to hold executive sessions when voting.

After this, the Board voted to go into closed session, at which time the motion to postpone discussion was passed.

Mortar Board Hikes Average

Mortar board average has been raised this year from 6.2 to 6.3. The change was made because one of the stipulations of a Mortar Board is to be outstanding in scholarship and the previous figure was thought to be unsatisfactory, according to Linda Butman, publicity chairman.

Miss Clegg was awarded her title by British dairymen. This is her first visit to America.

Evelyn Clegg: English Dairy Queen Visits NU Campus Accompanied By American Counterpart

English Dairy Queen Evelyn Clegg visited her first American university classroom on Monday morning at the University.

After a week's vacation, U.S. Dairy Princess Shari Lewis returned to her classes yesterday. The two girls arrived in Lincoln Sunday night from a West Coast tour arranged by the American Dairy Association.

Highlights of the western trip included an afternoon at Disneyland park, which was "fabulous," according to Shari. Evelyn was impressed with San Diego's sunshine and blue ocean, for she does not like England's fog and drizzle. At the present time, Evelyn is on vacation from her London job as Civil Service secretary.

Monday noon the girls were honored at a luncheon sponsored by the dairy association, and in the afternoon, they visited the Lewis dairy farm at Daykin.

One invitation the girls had to decline was the plea for a dinner date extended by Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Bob Cook, senior in Arts and Sciences, showed Queen Evelyn a royal time on a date Sunday evening.

Evelyn is the first queen to be chosen by the British dairymen, and this is her first royal title.

Her visit to America is also a first.

Shari is a veteran of several titles including 1956 Cornhusker Beauty Queen, Miss Nebraska in the Miss Universe contest, Nebraska Dairy Queen, and her present reign as U.S. Dairy Princess.

Outstate Support Aids Budget Hike

Local Backing May Sway Governor

Heartened by the large amount of outstate support for the University budget hike, Chancellor Clifford Hardin said Friday he was very optimistic "at this point" on approval of the entire $5,500,000 increase.

Addressing approximately 30 University students at the weekly Rag luncheon last Friday, the Chancellor said continued support from newspapers and other organizations could be the lever determining approval of the entire budget.

Governor Victor Anderson, who makes his budget recommendations to the state legislature Jan. 10, has said he favors a NU budget hike but not the entire increase.

The University has received the support of Nebraska newspapers through editorials, chamber of commerce, and the Nebraska Alumni Association, Dr. Hardin stated.

Although a staunch supporter of the University, the Governor feels approval of the budget would put an unfair tax burden on those persons who received no income because of the drought the past two years, the Chancellor said.

Outstate support — showing the governor that the people do approve of the budget increase—

Climbing enrollment may mean turning down prospective students because of lack of facilities, the Chancellor said, naming another reason for the budget hike.

With an expected enrollment of 10,000 by the fall of 1959, the Chancellor said we must hire about 75 teachers to give NU students the kind of education they deserve. The University has absorbed about 1,500 students the past three years with no appreciable teacher increase, the Chancellor said, and some departments have increased their enrollment by as much as 50 percent.

A very grave financial situation at the University Medical Center in Omaha is a third reason for the hike, he said.

The Chancellor said recently two wards at the University Hospital were closed, removing 24 badly needed beds from use by Nebraska indigents at the only state hospital in Nebraska providing them medical-surgical care.

Rising operating costs, competition for the services of medical doctors, nurses and medical technicians makes the entire request for the Omaha branch of the University a budget "must" he said.

Of the $1,100,000 increase asked for the Hospital half would go for the student nurse program. At present, Dr. Hardin said, due to personnel shortages, many student nurses must handle wards, instead of being in classes.

On another reason for the increase, some $1,170,000 budgeted for activities in the field of agriculture, the Chancellor said, "If anybody does anything about the drought, who will it be but the University?" referring to NU's research program.

A necessary building program adding to the costs of maintaining classrooms and laboratories and the many other services necessary to support the teaching endeavor, was a fifth and final reason listed by the Chancellor on why the entire budget increase must be met.

Ag Freshman: NU Student Dies In One Car Crash

RATHJEN

Harold "Wally" Rathjen, 18, a freshman in the College of Agriculture, was killed and three other persons were injured in a one-car crash southwest of Riverton early Sunday morning.

Franklin County Sheriff Albert Gelken said the car driven by Rathjen came to a dead end on a country road and did not make the necessary right or left turn. The sheriff said the driver apparently lost control of the car and it rolled over.

Injured were Larry Wulf, also a freshman at the University of Nebraska and Glenda Mizelfelt and Jolene Roberson, both of Red Cloud.

Miss Robertson, who was listed in fair condition in a Hastings hospital, suffered a fractured pelvis, several fractured ribs and internal injuries. Miss Mizelfelt received cuts and bruises and Wulf received a broken arm.

The sheriff said Rathjen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rathjen of Inavale, Neb., apparently died of a broken neck and internal injuries shortly after the crash which took place about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Both Wulf and Rathjen are members of the Ag Men's Club at 3248 Starr.

Tassels Vote

In a closed meeting Monday, Tassels, University women's pep organization, voted on an amendment to their constitution concerning the election of Homecoming Queens. Shirley McPeck, Tassels president, stated that the amendment would not be released until read at Wednesday's Student Council meeting.

could be the determining factor for approval of the entire budget, Dr. Hardin added.

University relations with the governor have been "very good" concerning the budget, said the Chancellor, adding, "and they will remain that way."

The Chancellor said the University was asking for an unprecedented increase to meet an unprecedented situation.

He said he didn't advise students "marching on the Capitol" but said sending letters and information on the budget to the parents and folks back home—as suggested by one student attending the luncheon—could certainly provide "welcome support."

Stressing the seriousness of the faculty salary problem, the Chancellor said seven key men, with the rank of associate professor or above, had been offered jobs by other Universities within the past 13 days. "One left with an increase in salary of $3,500," Hardin said.

Two years ago salaries at Nebraska were second from the top in Big Seven schools, Hardin said, but now NU ranks fifth or sixth. However he said the University was more worried about "recruiting raids" from Big 10, East Coast and West Coast schools. "We don't have to match their offers, but a compromise is necessary."

Nearly half of the budget increase, $2,484,292 deals with the salary problem, affecting both the teacher and labor force at the University.

Forensic Honors: Debaters Win Women's Division, Sweepstakes

The University this weekend captured the sweepstakes award for the best overall record at the oldest debate and discussion tournament in the United States.

Forty-four colleges and universities took part in the tournament held by Southwestern College, Winfield, Kan.

The four University debate teams won 19 of their 24 debates.

Nancy Copeland and Sara Jones won eight straight debates to take the first place in the women's division of the conference. Barbara Bacon and Sandra Reimers were eliminated in the quarter finals of the women's division.

Jere McGaffey and Dick Andrews won four of five debates but did not make the quarter finals in the men's division. Melvyn Eikleberry and Dick Shugrue had an identical record in the junior men's division.

Shugrue won a superior rating in discussion. Miss Bacon and Eikleberry each rated an excellent.

Andrews placed first and McGaffey third in extemporaneous speaking.

Miss Copeland and Shugrue each reached the finals in the poetry-reading contest.

Miss Reimers and Miss Jones participated in oratory.

Outside World:

Egyptians Attack

Egyptian underground fighters in Port Said attacked an eight-man British patrol early Monday with hand grenades and machine guns, injuring one soldier. Seven Egyptians were arrested. It was the first outbreak of anti-British sentiment in the city, but authorities feared there would be more as the Anglo-French stepped up their evacuation of the city.

Dulles' Meetings

Secretary of State Dulles planned separate meetings Monday with French Foreign Minister Pineau and British Foreign Secretary Lloyd in his first major step to rekindle the Atlantic Alliance torn by the invasion of Egypt. Dulles said it was the United States' "firm purpose" to find a way to negotiate past discords.

Students Return

Clinton High School's 700 students were scheduled to return to integrated classes Monday under the watchful eyes of city police, sheriff's officers and FBI agents. Police said they expected no trouble but warned "anyone who starts anything will get nailed hard."

Final Move

Hungary's puppet regime has begun a stern new campaign to wipe out the last vestiges of opposition to Moscow rule. The Soviet-controlled government dissolved the major workers' councils that have tried to negotiate for Hungarian freedom and proclaimed martial law.
