Jim Souders and Jerry Sinor were elected co-chairmen of E-Week, an event sponsored by the Engineering College, announced John Boning, president of Engineering Executive Board.

Souders, a senior in civil engineering, is vice president of ASCE and a member of the Engineering Executive Board. He also served as business manager of the Blue Print and is now a member of the Engineering College Publications Board. He is a counselor at Selleck Quadrangle and a member of Pi Mu Epsilon and Sigma Tau. Sinor, a junior in chemical engineering, is assistant editor of the Blue Print and corresponding secretary of the AICHE. He is a member of Sigma Nu.

E-Week's purpose is to acquaint the public with the workings of the various departments of the college, according to Souders.

The highlight of the week will be an open house, which consists of public displays set up by the departments on a competitive basis. Also included in E-Week will be a field day, banquet and picnic.

The duties of the E-Week chairman are to select all committees for the week and to coordinate the activities, Sinor said.

2. "If a modest tuition rate is to remain a matter of continuing policy at the University, a public institution, then it follows that the tuition rate should be seized upon as an expedient through which the University's income is to be adjusted every time temporary financial stress is felt.

3. "The substitution of an increase in the tuition rate for an increase in state tax support would be no means exempt all of our farm or urban households from financial strain unless, of course, the members of all of the households were willing to forego their hopes for a college education.

4. Nebraska should measure very carefully, against its own conscience and its own ability to pay, the state support it gives its University and state colleges as compared with that given by similar states to their programs of higher public education. Only after such a measurement can it be said that an adjustment in tuition is warranted."

The Chancellor said the letter written by Dr. Welch was "interesting and important for at least two reasons." First, the Chancellor said, it again points up the validity of the financial crisis the University is facing along with other institutions of high education, both public and private.

The chancellor said he regretted "never having had an opportunity to discuss with President Welch his thinking about the functions and purposes of independent colleges as compared with the functions and purposes of a state university."

GO AHEAD! PASS IT! NOBODY'S WATCHING.

But note this: nearly 42,000 men, women and children will die in traffic accidents this year, if the present rate continues—wiped out by stop-sign passers, traffic-light beaters, speeders and other potential murderers.

What is it that makes us believe so strongly that accidents happen only to the next fellow—never to us? No one expects to meet sudden death on the road—and surely no one expects to cause it. But this year alone, according to the present mounting rate, nearly 42,000 people will die in traffic accidents—each of them certain it couldn't happen to him. And thousands of drivers will wind up with the brutal knowledge that they killed someone on the street or highway.

Traffic deaths can be halted if everyone does just this: FIRST—Drive safely [and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN! SECOND—Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN! In city after city, day after day, it's been proved over and over again—

You save about 10 seconds if you don't stop at a stop-sign. What can you do with those 10 seconds when you pause to think about it?

WHERE TRAFFIC LAWS ARE OBEYED — DEATHS GO DOWN!
