

Where Your Money Went:

Cancer, Cerebral Palsy Get $2,000

This is the second article in the series "Where Your Money Went," concerning contributions collected by the All University Fund. The articles will explain each charity AUF donated to this year, and the various purposes the organization serves.

By LINDA WALT AUF Assistant

As a result of the All University Fund fall drive, the American Cancer Society and the Cerebral Palsy Association were each given $2,000.

These two national organizations were chosen in a student poll taken last spring. The American Cancer Society and the Cerebral Palsy Association were each given 20 per cent of AUF's total budget.

Cancer strikes one in four Americans. Each year, with the help of the American Cancer Society, there are some 75,000 personal victories over cancer.

The money given to the American Cancer Society will support education in order to provide all the people with the necessary information. It will give service to stricken patients and promote research to help find more complete answers to this problem. The American Cancer Society invests more money in research than any other private organization.

The Nebraska Division of the Counselors Plan 'New Faces' Party

Coe Counselors will present their annual second semester party, "New Faces," tonight at 7:15 p.m. in Parlor A in the Union, according to Sandy Kully, general chairman.

Games and refreshments will highlight the get-acquainted mixer, which will welcome all new University women students.

American Cancer Society, in cooperation with the National Society, has contributed thousands of dollars raised in Nebraska to carry on medical research into the cause of and cure for cancer. Grants are made annually for clinical study to both Nebraska and Creighton Universities.

Many crippled children are taught to walk again through the efforts of the Cerebral Palsy Association. Money given to this organization is used for clinics, education and research.

Other charities supported by the 1956 AUF drive were World University Service, the Lincoln Community Chest and the Lancaster County School for Retarded Children.

University Survey Suggests Song Title

Songwriters Josef Myrow and Mack Gordon of Hollywood saw a newspaper item about a survey made by a speech class at the University to determine which words were the most pleasant to hear.

They clipped the item noting particularly that the "lullaby" and "blue" were in the top 10 while "got" was voted one of our harsher words.

That's the story behind one of the seven songs they turned out for RKO's "Bundle of Joy." It's called "Lullaby in Blue."

Chow Time:

Union Food Service Feeds 2,000 Daily

Going to the Crib for ten o'clock coffee, or three o'clock, or five o'clock, or just any time, has become a University tradition.

However, hardly anyone has any idea of all the services provided by the Union Food Service Department or of the personnel it takes to serve that traditional cup of coffee.

Very few have ever heard of Steffi Drucker but there is hardly anyone attending the University that does not avail himself of her services at least once a week. She is the director of the Union's Food Service Department and is directly responsible for every cup of coffee or plate of food served by the Union.

Steffie began her career in dietetics in Paris. She made many studies in food and nutrition and owned her own restaurant, "The Four Aces," in Paris. Before establishing the cafe, she successfully completed a course at Cordon Bleu in Paris, the world famed Paris professional school for cooks.

In 1950 Steffi came to the United States after selling her restaurant. After arriving here she worked as assistant food service director at Gold's, where she became acquainted with American eating habits.

In May 1954 Duane Lake, Managing Director appointed her to the staff of the Union. Since then she has had the responsibility of serving an average of 2,000 persons a day in the Crib, cafeteria and faculty dining room.

"The successful director of food organizations such as the Union does not depend entirely on theoretical studies in dietetics, but knowing and loving actual cooking as well as the type of patrons one serves is the secret of customer satisfaction," Mrs. Drucker says.

Among the improvements installed by Steffi this semester are a weekly menu of inexpensive budget favorites, a doughnut machine which makes it possible to have doughnuts for coffee hours and meetings, and Pizza Pie, Drucker style.

Steffie gives much of the credit for the job done by the Union to her two top aids, Marilyn Heberlee, production Manager and Lois DeBelly, Catering Manager. Marilyn received her degree in home economics from Fort Hayes College, Kansas, and Lois is a graduate in the same field from the University.

Tonight:

'Genevieve' Opens Film Society Series

"Genevieve," the story of a British auto, opens the 1957 Film Society series this evening at 8 p.m. at the Capitol Theater.

A sellout crowd of 750 have purchased tickets for the seven-film series. Last year 50 people were turned away from the theater on opening night.

The purpose of the series, planned by the Union Film Committee, is to bring a series of great foreign films that otherwise would not have been shown in Lincoln.

This year—the sixth the series has been presented—the following films will be shown: "Genevieve" (British), "Film Without A Name" (German), "Umberto D" (Italian), "The Sheep Has Five Legs" (French), "The Pennywhistle Blues" (South African), "Gate of Hell" (Japanese), and "Alexander Nevsky" (Russian). An eighth "bonus" film will be shown the week following the last film scheduled.

Tonight's film, "Genevieve," starring Dinah Sheridan and John Gregson, is a color production concerning an automobile race in early-vintage vehicles.

Book Review

Miss Marjorie Leafdale, Assistant Professor of English at the University, will review the book, "The Organization Man" by William H. Whyte Jr. Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the faculty lounge of the Student Union.

300 Expected: All Campus Dance Set For Saturday At Union

The All Campus Dance will be held Saturday from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

According to Terry Mitchem a crowd of about 300 is expected to attend and everyone can attend, either stag or with a date. The theme of the dance depicts activities at the University.

Marcia Boden, chairman of decoration, stressed that since this dance emphasizes organizations, each organization should be represented by several members.

This is the fifth of a series of eight dances sponsored by the Student Union Dance committee. The next two dances will be during the state basketball tournament and will be attended by high school youths from all over the state. The final dance, held in the spring, is a dividend dance, free to all students. Any profit made during the past year is used to finance this dance.

In addition to dances, the Dance Committee sponsors other events such as the free dance lessons which are in progress now and "Inter-sanctum," an evening of organ music to be held March first in conjunction with the "Spock Show" which will be in the Union the same night.

The tickets for the dance are 50 cents and are available at the door.

Wet, Dry: NU Plan Treats Seed Chemically

A program is now under way at the University to determine the effect of chemically treated seed in both wet and dry years, according to extension plant pathologist John Wehling.

"Although exact figures are not yet available for Nebraska, an increase of as much as three bushels of wheat per acre at a cost of two cents per bushel of seed treated is an average in Iowa," he said.

Wehling pointed out that both dry years and wet years have some diseases in common, one of the most dangerous and destructive being certain types of smut.

In western Nebraska, 70 per cent of small-grain growers are treating seed for both spring and fall planting, he said. In the eastern sections, less than 15 per cent are using chemicals.

He stated that chemical application may be made by either the dust, slurry or liquid methods.
