

AWS: Follies Present 'Variety'

Five skits, three curtain acts, six traveler acts, the Ideal Nebraska Coed and the twelve Cornhusker Beauty Queens are all scheduled to be presented at the Coed Follies production next week.

'Varsity Visions' is the name of the show which will be presented at the Nebraska Theater Monday and Tuesday, according to Sara Hubka, chairman.

One of the five skits is Pi Beta Phi doing 'Rhythms of Tahiti' which describes three American girls in Tahiti who argue over the merits of jazz as compared to Tahitian music.

The six traveler acts to be presented between the skits and curtain acts are: Sally Wenger and Marcia Elliot in a dance entitled, 'Rock'n the Joint'; Sylvia Rigg singing, 'Mountain Gal'; a trio of Helen Hockabout, Prudence Morrow, and Mildred Swift called 'The Bluebells'.

In addition to the skits, one of the five finalists will be presented as the Ideal Nebraska Coed. The finalists are Virginia Hudson, Gamma Phi Beta; Carol Smith, Alpha Phi; Evonne Einspahr, Loomis Hall; Jan Davidson, Chi Omega, and Joan Huesner, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Tickets for the Coed Follies are now on sale in the Union for 85 cents.

Air Pollution: Paul Kotin To Present Lectures

Paul Kotin, Associate Professor of Pathology and Lecturer on Cancer at the School of Medicine, University of Southern California, will present two lectures Friday.

The lectures will explain the role of air pollution in causing lung cancer.

The first lecture, which will take place at 12 noon, Room 104, Ag Campus will discuss 'The Effect of Atmospheric Pollutants on the Behavior of Selected Cell Strains.'

The second lecture, which will be held at Love Library Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., will discuss 'The Effect of Air Pollution on Lung Cancer.'

Dr. Kotin received his B. S. and M. D. degrees from the University of Illinois in 1937 and 1940 respectively. He is a member of the Air Pollution Control Association and a Special Consultant in the Air Pollution Program Division of Special Health Services. He is also a diplomat of the American Board of Pathology and a fellow of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, College of American Pathologists.

In recent years, Dr. Kotin has devoted his research to studies upon cancer-producing contaminants in the air and has published several articles dealing with the relation of air pollution to health, pertinent to present studies upon cell cultures now being conducted at our institute.

Ag Shutterbug Contest

The annual Ag campus photography contest has been scheduled for March 4 through 31st, according to the Ag House committee.

Two-Day Meet: Water Conference Ends Today With Luncheon

The most extensive water conference ever held in Nebraska will close today with a public luncheon at the Union.

Guy C. Jackson of Aanhuc, Texas, president of the National Reclamation Association, will be the guest speaker.

The two-day conference opened yesterday at 9:30 with a welcome by Gov. Victor Anderson. Chancellor C. M. Hardin followed the governor's speech with a challenge offered to the conference.

The main ball room of the Union is the scene of ten exhibits presented by ten state and national agencies. Agencies sponsoring displays are: U.S. Bureau of Reclamation; Nebraska Soil Conservation Service; Corps of Engineers at Omaha; Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association; Nebraska Game, Forestation, and Parks Commission; Nebraska Conservation and Survey Division; Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service; Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station; Central Nebraska Public

'Varsity Visions' Skit

A tale of animals in a zoology lab is depicted by Delia Gamma's Marty Millett, Jan Perrenoud, and Sidney Schroeder. Directed by Winkie Gleason, the DG skit is one of several that will be presented at 'Varsity Visions,' the AWS Coed Follies production next week. The Ideal Nebraska Coed and 12 Cornhusker beauty queens will also be presented at the show.

Sen. Otto Liebers: University 'Needs' Necessary Funds

State Senator Otto Liebers, a member of the budget committee said Wednesday, 'We cannot afford to allow our program of expansion at the University to be hurt through denying it the necessary funds. In the end this would do much more harm than good.'

Liebers made the statement before a meeting of the YWCA 'Problems With the Profs' committee which met Wednesday at Rosa Bouton Hall.

Liebers also said 'In view of the economic situation out-state, I think the budget the governor has submitted to the legislature is a fair and equitable one as far as the University is concerned. The governor has recommended that the University's appropriation be increased by 3.2 million.'

Chancellor Hardin's original request was for a $5.5 million dollar increase. 'I think that had drought conditions not existed outstate there would have been a much better chance that Mr. Hardin's original request would have passed,' Liebers said.

In discussing the proposed tuition increase Liebers said, 'It doesn't make sense for the people of the state to say to the students 'We are hard up so you have to pay to support the University.' Most students or their parents have all they can do to maintain themselves in school right now. They should not be expected to bear the cost of the University; the drought has hit students hard too because it has hit their parents.'

Liebers did say, however, that he expected 'a small increase in tuition.' 'It is hard to think that tuition at the University or the state normal schools could be doubled,' he continued.

When informed that the Nebraska University Committee on World Affairs was planning to hold a mock session of the Unicameral as their spring project, Liebers said 'Wonderful. I think this is a fine idea.'

'Students should know about their Legislature so that they can analyze issues that are presented to the Legislature. Senators welcome letters from their constituents but too often these letters are written without real thought. You would be surprised how much a good letter influences your Senator,' Liebers commented.

The senator also said, 'Following the Legislature is like reading an exciting novel. You would not form an opinion of the characters involved by reading only one page of the novel. Neither should you form an opinion of the Legislature from one day's newspaper accounts. You ought to stand back and take a look from the overall progress of weeks or months.'

In the morning session of the conference yesterday, Dean W. V. Lambert of the University College of Agriculture, discussed the plan of the conference. Other topics discussed by speakers included 'Importance of Water to Nebraska' and 'Water—Where is It? How Much?' 'Water Use in Nebraska' and 'Water Law in Nebraska Today,' were topics in the afternoon session.

Committee Hearing: Chancellor Supports State Building Levy

Chancellor Clifford Hardin Thursday spoke before the Legislature's Revenue Committee in support of the bill which would continue the institutional building levy.

Governor Victor Anderson also appeared before the committee to ask for amendments in the bill.

As introduced, the bill would extend the building levy for 10 years but would reduce the amount of the levy from 1.1 mills to three-quarters of a mill.

Anderson asked that the amount be lowered to half a mill instead of three-fourths.

He also sought a priority system for allocation of the funds with a state committee set up to determine which institutions would get the money. This would be in line with the recommendations made by the governor in his budget message.

Hardin cited four 'substantial reasons' why the building levy should be continued:

1. Safeguarding the investment in the University's physical plant and thus insuring against 'the accumulation of needed but unaccomplished repair and remodeling.' He estimated $1,870,000 will be needed in the next 10 years for this purpose.

2. Resolving immediately problems 'which can only be resolved by new construction.' The problems arise from increased enrollment, he said.

3. Preparing for a 'further substantial rise in enrollment' which the University is facing. By 1965 enrollment is expected to be at least 14,000—85 per cent greater than this year, Hardin said.

4. Providing for 'an orderly continuation of the present levy' so the University can depend on a 'relatively stable source of revenue.'

Hardin said the bill would provide funds for only about 80 per cent of the University's present projected building needs—but it would insure renovation of buildings, funds for new buildings and development of the building program, he said.

March 9-10: KK Spring Show Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for 'South Pacific', musical production to be presented by Kosmet Klub for their Spring Show, will be held on March 9 and 10 from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Union, according to Jerry Brownfield. Those who intend to try out are to sign up in the corridor of the Union Friday afternoon.

Scripts for the tryouts will be available for persons trying out and will require a one dollar deposit, to be returned upon return of the script. Exact times for the individual tryouts will be assigned later.

'South Pacific,' the Broadway hit by Rodgers and Hammerstein, has a large chorus in addition to a large cast, and anyone with singing or acting talent is invited to tryout, according to Brownfield.

The show will be presented May 24 and 25 in Lincoln's new Pershing Memorial Auditorium.

'This is the first musical stage production that will be held in the new auditorium,' said Brownfield, 'the enjoy and intensity of the show will be greatly heightened because of the quality of the facilities and the acoustics.'

Last year's KK Show 'Kiss Me Kate' was held at the Nebraska Theatre.

Hit tunes such as 'Some Enchanted Evening', 'A Wonderful Guy', 'There is Nothing Like a Dame', 'Younger than Springtime' and a number of others were popularized during the many months that 'South Pacific' ran on Broadway.

'South Pacific' is based on two stories from James A. Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning book, 'Tales of the South Pacific.'

The show, 'South Pacific', opened in 1949 on Broadway amid cries of 'Rodgers and Hammerstein have done it again', and statements such as 'One of the greatest musical plays in the history of the American theatre.'

The plot is formed of two romantic themes. The first, the love affair of Ensign Nellie Forbush, a charming and high-spirited young nurse from Little Rock, Arkansas, and the gallant middle aged French planter, Emile de Beque.

The secondary romantic theme is that of the American marine, Lt. Joseph Cable and the lovely Tonkinese girl, Liat. Surrounding them are such characters as Bloody Mary, Liat's shrewd and avaricious mother and Luther Billis, a knowing and earthy Seabee who plays a comic role in the amateur entertainment provided by the temporary residents of the island.

A mass meeting of all those interested in the NUCWA all-campus project will be held Thursday, at 7 p.m. in the Union, according to Biff Keyes, vice president.

This year's NUCWA project will be a mock session of the state legislature.

A governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of state for the sessions will be elected at large from the campus. Campus organizations can apply for legislative districts and upon receiving them may elect a representative to the sessions.

Any organization who wants to apply for a legislative district or nominate a candidate should have a representative at this meeting,' Keyes said.

In addition, Keyes announced that the executive planning committee for the project will meet this Sunday, at 1:15 p.m. at the Kappa Delta house. The meeting is open to anyone who wishes to help plan the event, according to Keyes.

IFC Rush Book Copy Due Today

First deadline for material for the IFC Rush Book is Friday, according to Fred Daly, president of Sigma Delta Chi. One half the copy and individual pictures should be turned in to the Daily Nebraskan office, Room 20, Union.

The final deadline will be March 15, two weeks away, Daly said.

Student Council: Motion For Recording Election Results Passed

A motion calling for a record of all student election results to be kept on file for one year was passed in Student Council meeting Wednesday.

Introduced by Dave Mossman, representative from Teachers College, the motion specifies that the vice-president in charge of elections shall sign a 'Tally Sheet' of all elections and shall file the results in the Student Council office.

Mossman stated that his reason for introducing the legislation was that the Student Council currently 'does not have records of elections that are important.'

Earlier Mossman met with the Council executive committee in an effort to find a means of filling a vice-presidential vacancy which has existed since February.

Council vice-president, Don Beck, announced that it would be up to the judiciary committee to make a ruling which will hold precedence in cases of future executive vacancies.

Chairman of the special Legislative committee, Dave Keene, announced that progress was being made in an effort to get student opinion to state senators.

Council member Marv Breslow, announced that the judiciary committee is studying the Corn Cobs constitution.

Overcast Skies To Disappear This Weekend

High point of the prediction Friday calls for some possible light snow over the western portion of Nebraska.

The light showers and overcast skies that brought a trace of moisture to Nebraska will disappear, the Weather Bureau predicted.

But they did little to relieve the moisture condition of the Lincoln area which has had less than half of normal moisture this year.

Normal for Lincoln is 1.70 inches for the first two months of the year, but precipitation has been only .72 of an inch.

The temperature high in Lincoln Thursday was 57 degrees; the low reached 36 degrees.

Speech Contest Dates Changed

Delta Sigma Rho, speech honorary, has changed the date of its Extemporaneous Speaking Contest, in order to avoid a conflict with Coed Follies, according to Jere McGaffey, president.

Drawings for the first round will take place from 3 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday. The first round of speaking will be Thursday at 7:15 p.m. Round two will be at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, March 12, and the final round will be on Thursday, March 14.

Entries must be in by Tuesday.

NU Grad: 'Urgent' Phone Call Brings Johnny Carson Good Luck

By RON WARHOLOSKI Copy Editor

Johnny Carson, who will emcee the Roger Wagner Chorale Show at the new Lincoln auditorium March 10, is a contribution of the Midwest to the Television medium.

He was born in Corning, Iowa, on Oct. 23, 1925. His father's job with a utilities company kept the family on the move until 1933, when they settled in Norfolk, Nebraska.

As a teen-ager, he took a great interest in ventriloquism and magic, which he still uses whenever he thinks they will make a situation funnier. While in high school, he billed himself as 'The Great Carson!' and was very much in demand at community functions.

After graduation from Norfolk High in 1943, he traded his magician's tuxedo for a set of Navy blues, entertaining the middies while earning his commission at Columbia University. He was still polishing his routines three years later when he left the battleship

USS Pennsylvania as an ensign and returned to Norfolk.

Carson enrolled at the University on the G.I. Bill and took a job at Lincoln's radio station, KFAB, to make his allotment checks stretch. While at the University, he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta.

After college he moved on to Omaha's WOW radio and television station. Two years later, thoughtfully armed with a film of his talents, Johnny left his new comfortable position to risk all in Hollywood.

He took a job with KNTX, a local CBS Station and worked at announcing for a year while spending his off-hours writing and creating his own kind of show.

Carson's big night came with a frantic telephone call from CBS Television City in Hollywood, Red Skelton, for whom Carson had done script writing, had knocked himself cold when a breakaway prop failed to break when Red dived through a door.

While driving to the studio, Carson pulled together from his memory various tidbits and dialogue and situations that had clicked before.

Before he had time to worry, the show was over—and the critics were acclaiming him.

Two months later Carson started preparing a new television show of his own. The program won the acclaim of both critics and public, and on completion of its full 39-week cycle plans were started for his new program to make its debut May 28.

Carson now lives in Encino, in California's San Fernando Valley with his wife and three small sons. His wife, Jody Wolcott of North Platte, was his college sweetheart at NU and shared the stage with him as his magic assistant.

The Roger Wagner Chorale Show for which he will be emcee is scheduled for March 10 at the New Pershing Memorial Auditorium. The show is being sponsored by the Union.
