

Faculty Senate:

Spring Day Plans OK'd

The motion to allow Spring Day one full day on the University calendar was passed by the Faculty Senate by a vote of 52 to 50 at their meeting which was held Tuesday.

In his talk before the Senate, Hagemeyer presented the plans for Spring Day on May 3 formulated by the Spring Day Committee.

Speech: SAM Cop First Place In Contest

Sigma Alpha Mu won permanent possession of the Delta Sigma Rho Extemporaneous speaking contest trophy Tuesday night by winning it for the third year in a row, according to Don Olson, tournament director.

Ernest Hines, freshman in Arts and Sciences representing Beta Theta Pi, won the individual speaking trophy.

The contest is an annual affair sponsored by the national forensic honorary, Delta Sigma Rho. Each contestant drew a topic Monday evening and delivered his speech Tuesday. Hines spoke on "How effective was the United Nations in the Suez Crisis."

Second place went to Larry Schwartz, whose topic was "Should the United States Reduce her Armaments?"

Howard Kenyon won third place with "How successful has Dulles been as a Secretary of State."

Other finalists were Lyle Wathler, Mary McKnight, Tom Nevotil, and Don Binder.

World Affairs Conference Slated In April

The Association of the International Relations Clubs, sponsored by the U.S. Division of Immigration and Naturalization Service, has asked the University Cosmopolitan Club to send representatives to a conference on "World Affairs in the World of Tomorrow."

The conference is to be held in Denver, Colorado on April 2-6. The conference theme will bring particular emphasis upon the forthcoming achievements to be made by science during the International Geophysical Year. Speakers at the conference will include Dr. Harrison Brown of the California Institute of Technology, Arthur Watson, President of the I.B.M. World Trade Corporation and Dr. Lawrence Gould, Director of the U.S. Antarctic program for the International Geophysical Year. The delegates will spend a day attending sessions of the "Conference on World Affairs" at the University of Colorado.

Foreign students who wish to attend the conference must pay their own expenses. Any foreign student who wishes to be a delegate to the conference should contact Miss Cyrensen in 102 Temple as soon as possible.

Haridresser To Talk At 'New You' Show

Ben Your Hairdresser will speak and give demonstrations at the "New You" show on March 17 at 2 p.m. in Parlors X Y and Z of the Union.

He will demonstrate the different hairdos on a volunteer from the audience. Also featured on the program will be an accessories style show presented by Hovland-Swanson. The girls modeling will include Lynette Richard, Evonne Einsphar, Mary Fish, Polly Downs and Marilyn Heck.

The motion to allow Spring Day one full day on the University calendar was passed by the Faculty Senate by a vote of 52 to 50 at their meeting which was held Tuesday.

In his talk before the Senate, Hagemeyer presented the plans for Spring Day on May 3 formulated by the Spring Day Committee. The plans included the combining of the Farmer's Fair, the Union Birthday Party and last year's half-day Spring Day into one full-day celebration.

"The purpose of the Spring Day is to unite the Ag and City Campuses and to unite Greeks and Independents," said Hagemeyer.

Hagemeyer then announced the schedule of events for Spring Day. The schedule is: 8:00 a big parade which will be a mass migration to the Ag Campus where the events will take place; 9:00 to 12:00 Spring Day Events such as tug-of-war; 12:00 to 1:30 a barbecue; 1:30 Rodeo; 4:30 on a carnival, and at 8:30 a street dance.

The next day, May 4, is Ivy Day and the celebration is scheduled to continue with the traditional Ivy day events.

"The express purpose of Spring Day, besides affording an opportunity for the students and faculty to have a good time, is to provide a means for nominally separated groups to become acquainted and bring about university," stated Hagemeyer.

Last year's Spring Day was a half-day event which combined with the Union's Birthday party. The celebration was held in and around the Union. A carnival and street dance were held Friday night after events in the afternoon.

"This year's Spring Day, which will be held at the Ag Campus, is designed to be on a much larger scale than last year's event," said Hagemeyer.

The addition of the Farmer's Fair has added the events of a rodeo and barbecue and has given us enough events to fill a full day's schedule," he further stated.

The subject of allowing students to vote on Senate Faculty Committees was not on the agenda of the Faculty Senate.

Further business consisted of reports by the University Studies Committee and the Committee on Student Council. Also the awarding of Honorary Degrees was discussed.

Mortar Board: Foreign Student Tour Set

The annual Mortar Board Foreign Student Tour will last three days this year instead of the usual two, according to Bev. Deepe, chairman.

The reason for the extra day, according to Linda Butman, publicity chairman, is the increased interest of foreign students in the available for it.

Scheduled for April 15, 16 and 17, the tour will attempt to give University foreign students a representative view of Nebraska.

On Monday the students will visit Boys Town, Joslyn Memorial Art Center, the Omaha Stockyards and will spend the night in Grand Island.

On Tuesday, they will see the Lexington alfalfa mills, the irrigation center and visit a cattle ranch. Then the tour will continue to Curtis, where the students will visit the high school and attend a square dance in the evening.

On Wednesday the tour will leave for Holdrege where they will visit the Tri-County Irrigation Project. From there the students will go to Hastings to see the college, the bakery and the House of Yesterday.

Last year 39 students attended the tour.

SC Representative:
Dave Keene To Present Student Views On Budget

By BOB IRELAND
News Editor

Dave Keene, sophomore in Law College, will appear before the Legislative Budget Committee hearing Wed. at 2 p.m. representing the Student Council to express support for the 5.5 million dollar university budget increase.

Keene, the co-chairman of a special Student Council committee designed to present student views concerning the University budget to the 43 state senators, stated he hopes that there will be enough time for him to address the meeting this afternoon.

"The only way we can continue to have a strong University" is to have a reasonable budget granted, he said.

"We want the young people who are behind us to have the same opportunities we have had," Keene emphasized.

"The real issue," Keene said, "is not tomorrow but the long-range future."

"What we decide to do today can hinder or help to build the strong University and state that we all want," he added.

The special Student Council committee which has been contacting senators the past week in an effort to hold "open-minded discussions on the University budget" is progressing well, Keene said.

Last semester the Student Council submitted a resolution to Gov. Victor Anderson, endorsing the 1957-58 University budget.

Keene expressed his thanks to the students who talked with senators concerning the University budget.

"Appreciation is also due the senators who took time to hear our views," Keene said.

Students who have or will talk with state senators concerning the Budget are:

Bill Bedwell, Dist. 1, Sen. Kottuk; Dwayne Rogge, Dist. 2, Sen. Aufenkamp; Joanne Bender, Dist. 3, Sen. Dooley; Dave Mossman, Dist. 4-10, Senators Syas, Adams, Klaver, Tvrdik, Mummely, Vogel and Moulton.

Tom Neff, Dist. 11, Sen. Simmons; Emmie Hemphill, Dist. 12, Sen. Beaver; Jan Schrader, Dist. 13, Sen. Bridenbaugh; Phil Robinson, Dist. 14, Sen. Burbach; Keith Bauman, Dist. 15, Sen. Tews; Dot Novotny, Dist. 16, Sen. Claussen; Caroline Williams, Dist. 17, Sen. Stryker; Dave Keene, Dist. 18, Sen. Liebers.

Sam Jensen, Dist. 19, Sen. Portschke; Bob Ireland, Dist. 20, Sen. Waggoner; Dick Reische, Dist. 21, Sen. Waldo; Bev Deepe, Dist. 22, Sen. Rubnke; Leo Damkroger, Dist. 23, Sen. Bedford; Roger Langenhelm, Dist. 24, Sen. Wood; Larry Shafer, Dist. 25, Sen. Jensen; Ron Warholoski, Dist. 26, Sen. Wagner; Bill DeWulf, Dist. 27, Sen. Donner; Elizabeth Shaffer, Dist. 28, Sen. Nelson; John Kinnier, Dist. 29, Sen. Bahensky.

Sally Carter, Dist. 30, Sen. Lautenschlager; Connie Hurst, Dist. 31, Sen. Foote; Gene Spence, Dist. 32, Sen. McHenry; Ed Stoller, Dist. 33, Sen. Thompson; Charlene Ferguson, Dist. 34, Sen. Otto; Ken Wehrman, Dist. 35, Sen. Williams; Jane Jeffrey, Dist. 36, Sen. Swanson; Evonne Einsphar, Dist. 37, Sen. Dame; Judy Douthit, Dist. 38, Sen. Pizer; Shirley Halligan, Dist. 39, Sen. McGinley; Carol Link, Dist. 40, Sen. Cole; Carol Dahl, Dist. 41, Sen. Bixler; Jeanne Elliott, Dist. 42, Sen. Carpenter; and Marv McNiece Dist. 43, Sen. Fenske.

Lincoln's Dust Bowl To See Little Relief

Students will continue to be hampered enroute to classes Wednesday by the huge cloud of dust which has been enveloping the campus of late, according to the bureau sources.

Increasing northeasterly winds, with no expected precipitation, will bring little relief to Nebraska's existing "dust bowl."

Dance Rehearsal

Barb Jelgerhuis (left) and Mary Mong (right) put the finishing touches on their dance impression which will be a part of the Orchestis Spring Concert, March 29 and 30. "The West In Modern," the theme of this year's Orchestis Concert, will be presented in the Howell Theater and will feature dance impressions, with 25 girls participating.

Orchestis Show:
'West In Modern' Chosen As Theme

"The West In Modern" has been set as the theme of the annual Orchestis Spring Concert to be presented March 29 and 30 at the Howell Memorial Theater, according to Cindy Zschau, publicity chairman.

Twenty-five Orchestis and Pre-Orchestis members will show in dance their impressions of the lives and customs of the Old West.

The program will begin with an impression of a peaceful Indian village, involving two brothers and a fire ritual. Entitled "Indian Nocturn," the dance will be performed by Jan Dworak, Jackie Koepplin, Sandra Niehus, Karen Parsons, Sally Wegert and Cindy Zschau.

The entire group will join in the next two productions, "Blizzard of '75" and "Westward Ho the Peoples". The action will depict such scenes as "Scouting Ahead", "Prairie Schooners", "Free Range and Barbed Wire" and "Forty-Niners".

The pre-Orchestis group will present "Spoon River".

The entire cast, including the pre-Orchestis, will combine again in "Harvest Time".

"Housewarming" is the title of the next dance, which will include Elaine Eggen, Joan Haas, Barbara Hyland, Barb Jelgerhuis, Mary Mong, Edythe Morrow and Sally Wengert.

Next on the program will be "Dangerous Sam McGraw", a parody on the two poems. It will be danced by Ruth Blank, Kay Nielson, Kay Deppen, Sharon Quinn, Sue Woolard, Joan Haas, Edythe Morrow, Sharon Meihus and Elaine Eggen.

"Bed Bugs" and "Alleluia" will follow.

The finale of the program, performed by the entire cast, will be entitled "A Western Ballad". The choreography was composed by Mary Mong. The dance is divided into three parts, a contest of skills, a young girl's choice and performance and tragedy.

Jerry Ramsdale, Roy Willy and Noel Scheenrock will join the girls in the all-night dances.

Junior Panhellenic

The Junior Panhellenic will hold a St. Patrick's Day party for the Lancaster Association for Retarded Children School Thursday at 1 p.m.

University Theater:
Performance Of King Lear 'Surprises Audience'

By DICK SHUGRUE
King Lear opened Tuesday night at the University Theater and surprised the audience who had probably expected a hashed out version of the Shakespearean classic.

Sidney Kaplan, playing the role of the British king did the theater an honor by taking on the tremendous part.

Sidney Kaplan, playing the role of the British king did the theater an honor by taking on the tremendous part. Although Mr. Kaplan's diction—as well trained as it was—seemed to get in the way of some of the lines, he handled the part of the king with all the charm and vigor which could have been expected.

production the insanity which went along.

The effect of one of the most well known scenes of the play—that where Lear rants to the winds and rain—was hampered by the mechanical amplification. Lear gave "tremendous shout" in the first act which, if used in the second-act scene, would have been very sufficient.

The recurrent patterns of light and the intensity of the storm sounds detracted from the entire scene, I believe.

The lighting was handled with ease. And that's a real task in a play with 18 different scenes, most of which are staged through light changes.

There were a few boners in the light department, but that can be expected in any play on any stage.

The crowds and the minor roles were, as I stated before, done well. Some of the players who doubled on roles were obvious doubles, but I don't think a person who attends the drama should be looking for the little faults with such a drama as King Lear.

Kudos go to Dr. Dallas Williams who handled the dramatic aspects of the production. He had told me about a week ago that he was unsure of the reception Lear would receive. I think that every person in the University—and out!—who has an interest in the Bard should see the play and the job the Williams-Kaplan duo has done.

One other point might be mentioned and that was the playing of Bob Wells as Edmund. Wells had the difficult job of being the "tie-up" man I don't know what else he could be called. He appeared, as it were, between the major action spots in the play and "plotted" for the audience. In his first University Theater show, he did himself proud.

From all aspects, the production of Lear was worth the long time it took to produce. I feel that the job of cutting the play—which in itself was a tricky task—was handled surely and accurately by Dr. Williams.

This week I hope other members of the University community will be able to enjoy Lear which will run through Saturday evening.

Tickets On Sale

The box office of the Howell Memorial Theater will be open every day this week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to accept reservations for the next University Theater production, King Lear. The Theater is located in the Temple Building.
