Another Scandal The very young Air Force Academy finds itself entangled in what could be the biggest recruiting scandal of the year. The Denver Post said last Wednesday that some memebers of the Pueblo Junior College and the New Mexico Military Institute football teams are prospective Air Force Academy cadets who were turned down originally by the Academy.

The Post said the players were sent to the Pueblo and New Mexico achools for further tutoring

The full expenses for the athletes at the Pueblo school are supposedly paid for by a single check for $7,000 from "a solid and well known foundation."

Its no secret that both the Military Academy at West Point and the Naval Academy at Annapolis have agreements with prep schools where prospective cadets sharpen up before entering the service schools. I believe that when the situation is investigated, the NCAA will find that not only athletes are being subsidized by the Air Force nucleus of the bullpen staff. Wil-Academy, but the prospective candidates, who do not participate in sports are also being helped financially.

From here it looks like the fans of the other Empire Conference schools are looking for a way to stop the involved junior colleges from copping all the athletic laurels...

Here We Go Again . . .

They're out to revise the game of basketball again. The latest brain storm is that of Bruce Drake, former University of Okiahoma basketball coach and one time chairman of basketball rules committee. Drake's idea is to change the value of goals on the basis of how difficult they are to get.

"Everybody knows a home run in baseball is harder to get than a single," he said. "By the same token a tipin, the cheapest shot in basketball, is easier to get than an outside set shot. "So why not set up a zone six feet from the basket. Let a shot from outside the zone count two and let a tip-in count one point. "Not all of us can got big men, so we must have a chance to hold our own. This may be one method."

Yes, this may be one method, but why not leave the rules alone and concentrate on playing the game of basketball. There have been so many rule changes in the last couple of seasons that the fan is never quite sure of just how the game is being played.

Other starting pitchers will probably be Herm Wehmeier, Wilmer Mizell, and Lindy McDaniel.

Wehmeier, acquired from Philadelphia last year, developed into one of the Cardinals more dependable hurlers. He had a 12-11 mark with several of the losses being suffered in Philadelphia. Mizell is supposedly the No. 1 pitcher on the staff. "Vinager Bend" has always had trouble with wildness and this spring certainly is no exception. In his first three outings in camp Mixell has posted a'14.13 ERA. However, with about a month more of training to go the big guy should come around. McDaniel is showing signs of earning the large bonus the Cards paid him to sign in 1955. Only 21, McDaniel won seven and lost six last season. He was used a lot for early inning relief work and spot starts. His 3.41 ERA has earned the youngster a chance to become a regular starter.

Murry Dickson, who will be 41 before the season is over also will do some starting. The knuckle ball artist still will win the big ones for you.

The people shouldn't be disappointed as the country's top scorers will take the floor. Coach Frank McGuire of North Carolina, who will handle the East, has picked for himself ten players who would never take a back seat to anyone.

These include Grady Wallace of South Carolina and Joe Gibbon of Mississippi who averaged 31 and 30.5 points per game during the regular season.

In addition, the East will have Lennie Rosenbluth, All-American from North Carolina who led his team to the National championship, Others on McGuire's dream team include Jim Ashmore of Mississippi State, Gerry Calvert, Kentucky and Harv Schmidt, Illinois.

The West, coached by Bill Strannigan of Iowa State will be relying on three Big Seven players to carry the load. All-American Gary Thompson of Iowa State leads the array of Big Seven stars, Rex Ekwall, the Huskers leading scorer, and Gene Elstun of Kansas are the other two hoopsters who will be playing. Jim Krebs of Southern Methodist and Denver's Dick Brott will be two other big guns being counted upon by Strannigan.

He's creating America's fourth coastline

THE grades this gentleman is making have to be good because America's largest construction project, the St. Lawrence Seaway, depends on them. When it is finished in 1959, America will have a fourth coastline 8,000 miles long. Ships will sail 2,300 miles into the nation's industrial heart. Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo will be seaports.

To get the job done, 3,000 bulldozers, power shovels, draglines, dredges and trucks must rip 180 million tons of earth and rock from the valley floor. This takes machines with guts. And that's why most of these huge machines use Timken® tapered roller bearings. Timken bearings roll the terrific loads, keep wheels and shafts moving day in, day out, in steady, friction-free rhythm.

Keeping these machines rolling smoothly is just one way the Timken Company keeps America on the go. We're working hand-in-hand with all industry to make machines go faster with more precision, fewer breakdowns, minimum maintenance. We're helping to improve the machines that are improving America.

This desire for continued progress made us a leader -the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings and removable rock bits. And a leading producer of fine alloy steel.

Would you like to get in on the ground floor with a company that's on the go? If you're interested, we'll tell you more in our booklet, "Career Opportunities at the Timken Company". Drop us a card soon. The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton 6, Ohio.
