

Senators Discuss $30 Tuition Increase

By GEORGE MOYER

The Unicameral budget committee discussed raising tuition at the University by as much as per year as $30 at an open meeting at the statehouse Thursday.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin said, "The maximum amount" that tuition could be raised at the University without affecting enrollment would be about $30.

Senator John Beaver asked Dr. Hardin, "If some of these items like adjustment to a 40 hour week, enlargement of the agricultural extension program and so forth were cut off the budget, and the repair of facilities was added to the building levy, could you then adjust tuition to make up the difference between the $3.2 million increase the governor has offered and the remainder of the $5.5 million increase that you requested?"

Hardin said that raising the tuition by $30 would give the University a maximum of approximately a million dollars. This would bring the budget increase to a total of 4.2 million dollars.

Senator McHenry asked, "Will the regents raise tuition or will we (the legislature) have to?"

Hardin replied that "The regents have considered it but we haven't been able to nail down a figure. Previously, it has been the proper function of the regents to regulate tuition, but I certainly think the legislature has the right to instruct the regents."

When McHenry asked "You'd like to see them keep it that way wouldn't you?" the Chancellor answered, "Yes, I would."

Senator Karl Vogel, chairman of the committee, said, "This brings up the question of whether the legislature should take over this function which up to now has been an administrative one."

Hardin reviewed the priorities of the 1957-58 budget for the committee. The chancellor indicated that the budget recommended by Governor Victor Anderson will cover salary increases on a merit basis for staff members, take care of fixed costs such as increased social security contributions, increased retirement stipends, increased utilities for new buildings and additional work at the Alliance and Northeast Nebraska Experiment Stations.

Hardin also stated that if tuition was raised, the money gained from it would be utilized to hire additional faculty. Hardin said, "If a raise in tuition is going to come it should be used for the teaching program—adding to the staff."

The three areas that would be hardest hit in the proposed cut of Hardin's request for a 5.5 million dollar increase to the 3.2 million dollars suggested by the governor would be the program to add to the faculty, the medical college hospital and the agricultural extension and experiment service.

"I am terribly concerned about this hospital thing. With this cut we wouldn't be able to operate the hospital in all its wards," Hardin continued.

Hardin also told the senators that the proposed two million dollar increase in salaries is conservative. "The competition from other institutions is greater than we thought. We should really have more to compete with them on their own level."

According to evidence presented by Hardin to the committee, the University's present tuition of $180 a year is about the average tuition for this area. Colorado and Kansas charge slightly less than this figure while the University of Iowa and Iowa State College are slightly above this.

Student Council:

Rules Governing Election Campaigning Announced

Rules governing Student Council campaigning and elections were announced Wednesday by Bev Deepe, chairman of the Student Council elections committee.

According to the Student Council Constitution:

Newspaper publicity shall be limited to the Nebraskan; there shall be no campaigning on election day; the use of any form of advertising media must have prior approval of the Elections Committee.

Campaigning on Ivy Day shall be prohibited. Any individual or group violating this rule shall cause the automatic disqualification of the candidate for which the campaigning is being done. Appeals may be made to the Elections Committee.

The use of loudspeakers is prohibited; the use of printed name cards is prohibited; the use of posters, banners and other advertising materials on cars is prohibited except on May 3 (Spring Day) from noon to midnight.

Any violation of any of the above rules shall result in the automatic disqualification of the candidate for which the campaigning is being done. Appeals may be made to the Elections Committee.

Unicameral Committees Hear Bills

The NUCWA mock Unicameral Legislature is fully underway, with the committee hearings now completed. The committees met, approved and advanced to the floor or postponed indefinitely each bill.

According to Bob Krohn, NUCWA chairman of Bills, the following bills have been favorably acted upon by the committees:

Reduction of Age of Electors to 18 years, by Crawford, Hossman, Foster, Swartz; Removal of restraints against inter-racial marriage, by Huink; Dimming of vehicle lights, by Kastl; Establishing a Partisan Legislature, by Henderson, Swartz, Thompson; Pari-mutual tax, by Smith; Licensing of Psychologists, by Kastl; Sales and Corporate Income Tax, by Crawford, Henderson, Swartz, Thompson; Off Year Election, by Thompson; Creation of a Gas and Oil Conservation Commission, by Henderson; State Fair Employment Act, by Crawford; Abolition of Capital Punishment Act, by Crawford; Contracting of State Debts, by Smithberger; Legalizing Bingo, by Castner.

The legislators will meet today at 3 p.m. in room 316 of the Union for a legislative session.

Dwight Burney, Lt. Governor of Nebraska and Jack Pollock, student governor will address the senators, to be followed by the second reading of bills and discussion.

Saturday morning at 9 a.m. the session will again convene. Hugo Srb, clerk of the Nebraska Legislature, is the speaker and will give an evaluation of the Legislature, followed by the final reading of bills.

The meeting will consist of a general orientation session followed by meeting of specific committees for detailed instruction, Hagemeyer said.

Orchesis Spring Concert

Members of Orchesis, University modern dance group, practice for their annual spring concert to be held Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Howell Memorial Theater under the direction of Miss Dorothy Maxwell, instructor in women's physical education. The theme this year centers on the lives and customs of the Old West.

The University Orchesis, a modern dance group will present the impressions of the lives and customs of the Old West in creative dancing in their annual spring concert starting tonight.

Curtain time Friday and Saturday will be at 8 p.m. in Howell Memorial Theater.

Orchesis attempts to further interest in creative dancing and to raise the standard of dance as an art form, according to the Director, Miss Dorothy Maxwell, instructor in women's physical education.

The program includes:

"Indian Nocturn," impression of a peaceful Indian village, involving a fire ritual and "Westward Ho the Peoples," concerning prairie schooners, barbed wire, and Forty-Niner's.

"Blizzard of '75," with the entire group participating.

"Dangerous Dan McGrew," a parody on the two poems, and "Western Ballad," a contest of skills.

Other numbers are: "Spoon River," "Harvest Time," "Housewarming," "Bed Bugs," and "Al-leluia."

Members of Orchesis group are: Janet Dworak, Jackie Kpeppin, Sandra Niehus, Karen Parsons, Sally Wengert, Cynthia Zschau, Ruth Blank, Sharon Brown, Kay Deppen, Joan Haas, Barbara Jelgerhuis, Mary Jane Mong, Edythe Morrow, Ann Jakeman Lallman, Rose Wiggins, Sharon Quinn, Barbara Hyland, Elaine Eggen, Sue Woolard, and Kay Nielson.

Male members joining the group for the concert are: Jerry Ramsdale and Noel Schoenrock.

Pre-Orchesis members participating are: Kathy Charron, Marilyn Mass, Connie Allen, Cynthia Barber, Mary McPherson, Janice Perrenoud, Ruth Rouball, and Sally Wilson.

The festival opens on Tuesday and continues through April 8.

Included in the week's activities in which Miss Dibble will participate are luncheons, a large ball, T.V. appearances and several parades.

At the ball, the queen, who is picked from among the princesses, will be announced.

The princesses are provided escorts to all events from West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen.

While in Washington, Miss Dibble will be entertained by the Nebraska Delegation in Washington.

Miss Dibble is the recording secretary of Kappa Alpha Theta.

College Health Day: Risk Of Polio Reduced By Salk Vaccination

The importance of a Salk vaccination for every man, woman and child in Nebraska was stressed Thursday afternoon.

A medical researcher said the vaccine is effective in reducing the risk of polio, although it has no major effect in reducing the degree of transmission of the polio virus from one human to another.

Dr. Herbert Wenner, research professor at Kansas University, spoke at the University's College Health Day on "The Great Struggle: You VS. Viruses."

Discussing polio, he said that "When the infection occurs in vaccinated individuals, the antibody rise quickly provides a blockade of the virus."

But, he added, this blockade has no effect whatsoever on the capacity of the infected individual "to excrete polio virus in fecal discharges."

When this happens in a population susceptible to polio, there is a spread of the virus, Dr. Wenner said.

He said it is clear that polio vaccination, "although primarily concerned with abolishing the risk of paralysis, looks toward the occurrence of natural infections as a way to keep the immunity of the individual in the hyper-reactive state."

Dr. Wenner said there is still a division of opinion on how to most successfully immunize against polio: with inactive virus, as is found in the Salk vaccine, or with active virus.

Some believe he pointed out, that immunization based on use of active virus would be more likely to induce a more enduring, as well as a more solid immunity against polio.

"Immunity acquired naturally in such diseases as measles, mumps, and yellow fever in man appears to be more solid and enduring than induced immunity."

On the other hand, Dr. Wenner pointed out, illnesses following infection with respiratory viruses convey less solid immunity and reinfections occur.

Some medical men believe that immunity following natural infection is better than induced because of the swifter response during the course of reinfection.

Dr. Salk's answer, Dr. Wenner said, is that it is possible to induce a similar state of readiness with
