

On The Social Side: Davidson Wins New Title

By JAN FARRELL,
Society Editor

Jan Davidson, Chi Omega junior in Home Economics and 1957 "Homecoming Queen", has received a new honor. She was revealed as this year's "Sig Ep Sweetheart" at their formal last Friday night.

Congratulations also to Bill Krommonhoek, Delta Upsilon senior in Business Administration, who was named "Delta Dream Man" at the Tri-Delt formal last Saturday.

There are two sorority formals this Friday night, the Kappa Delta "White Rose Formal" and the

Queen Of Hearts

Jan Davidson, junior in the College of Agriculture, was named 1957 Queen of Hearts at the annual Sig Ep Queen of Hearts Ball last weekend at the Cornhusker ballroom. A Home Ec major, Jan was Homecoming Queen this fall. At the ball, she was presented a bouquet of red roses and a trophy for her sorority, Chi Omega, by the 1956 queen, Mrs. Russell Nielson. She is the pinmate of John Fink.

Charlene Anthony Wins Beauty Title

Charlene Anthony was selected winner of the Bathing Beauty Contest held during intermission of the annual Star-lite dance last Friday evening in the Ag College Activities Building.

Miss Anthony is a freshman in the College of Medicine. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Lynn Greenberg was picked as second place winner. She represented Women's Resident Halls.

The winner was awarded a loving cup and the second place winner was presented a two pound box of chocolates.

Miss Jean Stange, Milo Cox and Richard Warren, University faculty members, judged the contest.

Mock Legislature

Student officers of the Mock Legislature Saturday confer for a moment on a point of procedure.

Mock Session Kills Combined Tax Measure

The NUCWA Mock Legislature, meeting in the old senate chambers at the state capitol Saturday morning, voted down a bill for a combined state sales-income tax.

The session then passed a resolution advocating an amendment to the state's constitution calling for a conglomerate state sales tax, state property tax, and state income tax.

Other legislation passed by the mock session included a constitutional amendment to allow the state to contract an indebtedness above the present limit of $100,000.

Also receiving the approval of the senators were bills providing for the licensing of psychologists, repealing prohibitions on interracial marriage, limiting the use of bright headlights in night driving, raising the minimum standards of education in the state, and legalizing bingo for non-profit organizations.

The student Unicameral rejected bills to lower the voting age in the state to 28, to make the legislature a partisan organization, and to place a 6% tax on parimutuel betting.

The session close by adopting a motion that all legislation passed would be referred to the Nebraska Unicameral.

Hugo Srb, clerk of the legislature, Parks, chairman of the NUCWA session, confers with student-governor, Jack Pollock.

Ninety-One Schools: One Thousand Expected For 'Hospitality Day'

An estimated 1000 girls from 91 Nebraska high schools will attend the annual Hospitality Day being held today on the Ag College campus.

The girls will be conducted on tours of the campus and the home economics department.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin and Dr. Florence McKinney, chairman for the home economics department, will speak to the group.

Math Colloquium

A Mathematics Colloquium will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m., in room 209, Burnett Hall.

Dr. M. A. Basoco, professor of mathematics, will discuss "On Certain Modular Functions and Their Application to a Theorem of Hardy-Ramanujan."

Phi Sigma Iota

Colleen Ohlsund Neilsen and Wayne Almqvist will present papers at the Thursday meeting of Phi Sigma Iota, according to Shirley Holcomb, club president. Mrs. Neilsen's paper is on "Some Comic Elements in Proust" and Almqvist will discuss "The Gypsy in Spanish Literature."

Silver Tea Cancelled

The annual Home Economics Club Silver Tea has been cancelled, according to Patsy Kaufman.

Aquaettes: 'Colorama' Slated Thursday, Friday

Deadline Set For Sorority Ivy Day Sing

The deadline for submitting entries to the Annual Ivy Day Inter-sorority Sing is Thursday, Jo Devereaux, chairman, has announced.

Organized women's houses must have their applications in to Miss Devereaux, at the Pi Beta Phi house, accompanied with a $3 entrance fee. The entries should also submit the director's name, the name of the song and an alphabetized list of the singers. The fee must be made payable by check to the Associated Women Students.

The AWS, which is sponsoring the Ivy Day Sing for women students, has previously announced the rules for the contest. Any organized womens groups except honoraries may participate, but each group must have no more than 25 and no less than eight participating in the sing.

Any girl having carried 12 successful credit hours in the University the previous semester, may participate. The rules forbid assistance or direction of any professional musician but will allow non-professional alumnae help.

This year, no medleys will be permitted as well as no songs which were used last year. The songs can be no longer than five minutes.

The deadline for submitting entries for the men's division of the Ivy Day Sing will also be on Thursday, April 4. Rules will be published at a later date.
