NU Harriers Prep Travel To K-State

By JIM COURTNEY
Staff Sports Writer

The Husker Harriers almost traveled to the wrong place this weekend as there was an error in the spring schedule.

Head coach Frank Sevine was led to believe that their was a track meet with the Iowa State Cyclones but a phone call from Kansas State shattered this weekend's plans for a trip to Iowa. The phone call set straight the fact that Nebraska was to meet Kansas State this Saturday and the Huskers were to invade Ames, Iowa for the contest with Iowa State this next Tuesday.

With everything now arranged, Sevine has been reacting his cindermen for the upcoming contest with the Wildcats of Kansas State. Goose Gausman is back after a short vacation from the squad for disregarding curfew when the Nebraska crew was in Colorado last month. The addition of Gausman once again could and should, prove an additional boost to the Husker scoring punch as the high jumper has been jumping around the 6 feet 4 inch level. A jump of that distance this Saturday should earn Gausman at least a second or third place ribbon. Dale Knotek, Nebraska representative in the Kansas and Drake Relays has been consistent this year with his 6-4 jumps. A jump of that ceiling earned Dale a third place position behind Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Don Stewart of Southern Methodist who won second and first respectively. Knotek did not earn a place in the Drake Relays.

Ken Pollard is back in the vaulting pit after a short stint for Sevine with a relay crew for the Drake events. Another thinclad that will be seeing plenty of action this weekend and Tuesday will be the Jamaican Jet, Keith Gardner. The lad from Jamaica who sped to numerous firsts for the indoor squad and was high point getter at the Big Seven indoor meet this year will be featured in the sprints for Saturday.

There are also the other members of the thinclad crew who have placed with regularity this season and will be seeing action this Saturday. Some of these are Knolly Barnes, Bob Elwood, Bill Hawkins, Bill Marten, Dick Jahr, Al Rosen and Chuck Wollaston.

Last year when the Huskers met the Wildcats in a dual meet the Nebraska crew fell to a 7 1/2-59 1/2 defeat. This year in the indoor competition, however, the Huskers blistered the Kansas State squad with a 62-42 victory.

The Huskers are rather weak in depth in shot put and javelin events but that should not be enough to hinder their chances of winning this Saturday.

The Lithuanians and Latvians defeated Gus I for the Independent Intramural Volleyball championship. The scores were 10-15, 17-15 and 15-10. Manager for the winners is Paul Kunzins. The games were played on April 11 but due to a protest, the results were delayed until now.

Golfers Lose To Wildcats By 8-4 Score

The Kansas State Wildcats downed the Nebraska linksters 8-4 Wednesday afternoon at Hillside Country Club here in Lincoln. John Butterfield was the outstanding golfer on the links as he fired a two-under par 70.

The K-Staters had enough team balance to win all the other matches.

The results:
Ron Young (KS), 75, defeated Mike McCuiston 77, 2 1/2 to 1/2.
Dave Fluettez (KS), 75, defeated Warren Christenson, 78, 3-0.
Jerry Smith (KS), 76, defeated Jerry Moore 77, 2 1/2 to 1/2.
John Butterfield (N), 70, defeated Jerry Hendricks, 82, 3-0.

Husker Infield

deck. Sharpe's crew will be idle this week but they will swing onto the road next week to meet the Missouri Tigers on May 10-11.

Southern Tradition . . .

Tomorrow, the country's best three year olds will parade to the post in the 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby.

Down through the years, this event has continued to be one of the top thrills of the sporting world. This is the race that horse owners dream about. This is the race that the country's top trainers work for. This is the race which tells whether the horse has endurance, guts and a true racing heart or is just an also ran among the greats. This is the race which stamps the winner of it a colossus among thoroughbreds whether it ever wins again or not.

What is it about the Derby that holds so much excitement? Other races have more money offered, although not much, and many of these same horses have raced against each other before and will race against each other later. The answer to this question must lie in tradition. In past years, horses that have won this race went on to more fame and immortality. Yet even in the Derby, the longshot has nipped the favorite to gain the winner's circle. Exterminator, a 39-1 shot in 1918 and Dark Star, who handed Native Dancer the only loss of its career in 1954 are two of the most notable.

This year's field appears to this writer the best that has come upon the Derby scene in quite a number of years. Wheatley Stables' Bold Ruler, Calumet's twin entry of General Duke and Iron Liege, Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, Travis Kerr's Round Table and Federal Hill all appear to be able to go the distance. But as has been seen in the past, any horse entered in the mile- and a fourth classic is liable to come away with the $125,000 first prize.

This writer's choice? BOLD RULER.

"Sugar" Ray On Top . . .

"Old boxers never die, they just try for comebacks." This can certainly be true of Sugar Ray Robinson who captured the middleweight title for an unprecedented fourth time Wednesday. He knocked out rugged Gene Fullmer in the fifth round of their scheduled fifteen rounder. A solid left hook did the job. It only goes to prove the adage that determination will in the long run pay off be it sports, school work or succeeding in life.

Late Scores

In late baseball action last night, the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Athletics 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals hit the Brooklyn Dodgers in thirteen innings 3-2 on Don Blasingame's run scoring single and the Milwaukee Braves edged Pittsburgh's Pirates 8-5 in the tenth.

Huskers Drop Game; North Cops Only Win

The Kansas State netters spanked the University of Nebraska netmen 6-1 yesterday as Bill North garnered the only win of the afternoon for the Huskers.

North lost his first match 6-4 but came back to win his next two sets 6-4 and 7-5. Bill also played a doubles match with Art Weaver but they failed the bid and were defeated 7-5 and 6-2.

The Huskers seemed to have an off day all the way around as the rest of the men lost the rest of their matches. Art Weaver was defeated 6-4 in his first match but in his second match he evened the score by downing his opponent 11-9. The effort was in vain, however, as he went down in the third match with another 6-4 loss.

Tom Stitt lost to his opponent as did George Fisk, Charles Kress, Art Weaver and the doubles team of Weaver and North. Nebraska's only point came from North's win.

Husker Baseballers Idle; Nappi Set At Third Base

Now that the baseball season has passed the halfway mark for the University of Nebraska's Cornhuskers, it appears that the Huskers are able to give any team a "battle" as long as they can control their error doirdrums.

The Huskers, holding their mistakes to a minimum on their early season swing in the west, were rewarded with five wins while losing only once.

When the travelers returned home, they hit the skids on defense and succumbed to Iowa State. They fought right back the next day and swept a doubleheader from the bewildered Cyclones, who, at the time, were leading the conference. Tight defense and a healthy hitting barrage provided the difference.

The same "teeter-totter" course of events prevailed when the Huskers entertained the Drake Bulldogs. In the series opener the Huskers fell apart at the seams and lost; however, they fought back the next day and bombed the visitors, without committing an error.

The hitting department thus far this season has shown pretty good power, with Al Newbill, Jam Kane, and Gene Toroczon providing the early season punch.

Now with the stretch drive ahead of them, the Cornhuskers first do battle with the University of Missouri. Coach Tony Sharpe will enter this important series with an infield including Frank Nappi at third base. Frank appears to have shaken his slump so will get the starting nod. Versatile Jim Kuba will open at shortstop and veteran Al Karle will continue his tenure at second-base.

University Student Nite Set For Sherman Field

Saturday night will be University night at Sherman Field home of the Western League Lincoln Chiefs baseball club.

Each spring the Chiefs reserve two nights which are designated especially for University of Nebraska students. Saturday night May 4th is one of these times with the Des Moines Bruins as the visiting team. On Saturday evening a University student needs only his ID card and 35 cents for admission to the ball game.

Lincoln won the pennant last season and they are fielding another strong team in 1957. The Pittsburgh affiliates are especially strong on the hill and have adequate batting strength.

General Manager Dick Wagner wants everyone possible to attend these games and see the Chiefs in action. They play good baseball and you cannot find better entertainment for the price anywhere, he said.

This will be the third meeting of the season between the Chiefs and Des Moines. They met twice the past week and split a two game series. Jim Duffalo the early season Lincoln ace, will probably be on the hill and everything makes it appear that the game should be a good one.

Remember that is at 8:00 Saturday evening May 4, at Sherman Field. The location of Sherman Field is at 2nd and South Street.
