Minority Favorable: Committee Cuts Budget Increase

The Nebraska Legislative Budget Committee Thursday slashed Governor Victor Anderson's NU budget increase recommendation by some $1 million thus leaving the figure at $2.2 million.

Two state sons, Sen. Harry Pizer and Otto Liebers, however, stated in a minority report that they favored Governor Anderson's figure of 3.2 million dollars.

Originally the University requested a 5.5 million increase in the 1957-59 appropriations.

The Budget Committee's official report confirmed rumors issued several weeks ago that the University budget would be cut to some extent.

Senator Karl Vogel, chairman of the Budget Committee, stated that Anderson's recommendations were considered carefully but that "present economic conditions were not such as to justify unwarranted liberal increases in appropriations."

University Chancellor Clifford Hardin stated that he was "greatly concerned" with "the drastic reduction," that the Budget Committee had recommended in its majority report.

"The effort has made an honest effort to indicate the financial needs of the institution for the next two years and, of course, we are greatly concerned that the majority report of the Budget Committee proposes such a drastic reduction . . ."

Governor Anderson said that he hoped that the committee would give prerogative to the University's allotments for faculty salary increases amounting to some $2.2 million.

In their minority reports Sens. Pizer and Liebers said they favored the Governor's recommendation. Both senators objected to the Committee suggestion that tuition at the University be hiked by $40 a semester.

The senators agreed with the majority report that the $2.2 million increase in faculty salaries. The majority in its majority report substituted a NU request of $1.2 million for personnel additions that they did not see reasons for such a large increase.

Unofficial reports indicate that a floor fight might result in the Legislature when the University budget report is brought to the floor.

Tribunal Proposed:

Election To Decide SC Representatives

The Student Council General Elections will be held Monday from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., according to Harry Dingman, elections chairman.

Students whose names begin with letters from A to K vote in Room 107 of Love Library and those which begin with L through Z will vote in the Union. Ag College students vote in the Ag Union.

Students must have completed at least one semester at the University and have their identification card with them before they can vote, Dingman said. They can vote only for candidates from their own college and failure to follow the exact instructions on the ballot will invalidate the ballot, he explained.

The names of fifty-four candidates for college representatives positions on Students Council will appear on the ballot.

Students will also vote on the proposed charter of the Student Tribunal, according to Marvin Breslow, Council member.

If the vote on the charter is favorable, it will be returned to the council for final drafting and approval, Breslow said.

Of the fifty-four candidates for Student Council, eleven are backed by the IFC and nine are endorsed by the Independents.

Two candidates are backed by both groups. If elected, their positions will not be credited to either party.

Thirty-six candidates have entered the race without the backing of either group.

The IFC-endorsed hopefuls include from 'Agriculture,' Gary Burke; Arts and Sciences, Bob Ireland and Tom Neff; Business Administration, Ken Freed and Larry Rctner; Engineering, Gary Frenz and Dwaine Rogge; Teachers, Dick Tempero and Dennis

Krutch: Social Critic To Lecture This Week

Joseph Krutch, drama critic and an editor of The Nation for nearly 30 years, will visit the campus Tuesday through Thursday.

Called the most distinguished drama critic of his generation, Krutch will deliver a public lecture Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Love Library auditorium. His topic will be "Wisdom versus Know-How, or Man the Maker versus Man the Thinker."

His books of social criticism, such as "The Modern Temper" (1929) and "The Measure of Man" (1954), have been widely read. His particular interests are the 18th Century, drama and American literature.

For many years, Krutch was Brander Matthews professor of dramatic literature at Columbia University. He joined the staff of The Nation in 1924.

Krutch has lived in Arizona in the past few years, becoming a naturalist. His most recent books have dealt with his observations of changing nature.

His three-day stay is being sponsored by the department of English Research Council and Convocations Committee.
