to a young man

with the world on a string

This June, the graduates of our engineering and scientific schools, pockets stuffed with job offers, have "the world on a string."

But there's another "string" attached to this fabulous situation: A man can only accept one job offer.

How can the graduate make up his mind wisely about his vital decision?

We're not going to try to tell you. And we're going to resist the temptation to point out the many advantages of working for IBM—much as our company, like every other, needs top-notch engineering and scientific talent.

We're merely going to leave you with one thought that may help you make your decision:

IBM's President has stated this policy: "... I want this company to be known as the one which has the greatest respect for the individual."
