

All State To Reach Grand Climax Saturday

Three weeks of intensive work in the arts come to a climax this weekend for the 257 high school students attending the eighteenth annual session of the All-State Fine Arts Festival on the University campus.

The music division of the program will present its final chorus and band concert tonight at 7 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Friday evening the music students will perform the musical comedy "Girl Crazy" for the general public after giving a matinee performance for their fellow All-Staters. The musical is directed by Miss Margie Smith of the Council Bluffs, Iowa, public schools. She is assisted by Amer Lincoln and Bill Hatcher.

On Thursday evening at 8:30, the All-State speech students will present the play "Good-Bye, My Fancy," directed by Dr. Dallas Williams, director of University Theatre. Friday night at 7:30 "Murder In the Nunnery," directed by Max Whittaker, will be performed. Both performances will be in Howell Memorial Theatre.

The three week session will come to a close Saturday evening with a 7:30 concert in front of East Stadium. Two bands, directed by Dean Killion and Jack Snider; the orchestra, directed by David Fowler; and the All-State chorus under the direction of David Foltz, will perform at that concert. Three choral speaking groups will also be heard, directed by Jack Thurber, Diana Peters, and Richard Shugrue. An exhibition of work by All-State artists will also be shown at this concert.

The concert will be preceded by an All-State banquet in the Union Ballroom. Toastmasters will be Ann Prentice of Columbus and John Abrahamson of Elm Creek.

At this banquet the winners of the "Typical All-Stater" election will be announced. Candidates are Vicky Cullen of Hastings; Sandi Heffelfinger, Lincoln; Judy Grazier, Council Bluffs; Nickie Christie; Herbie Nore, Genoa; Nancy Rathje; Larry Cols, Plattsmouth;

Tom Cople, Hastings; Jerry Sherwood, Albion; Jim Larson, Kearney; Pete Neumann, Oakland; and Stan Baldwin, Hebron.

In addition to their other activities the All-Staters have published a weekly newspaper, "The Melting Pot." Members of the staff have included Barbara Harn, Omaha; Barbara Tanner, Lincoln; Mary Nevels, Lincoln; Herbie Nore, Genoa; Nancy Krouse; Jim West, Potter; Stu Mahlin, Lincoln; Pete Salter, Lincoln; and Sharon Felker.

Visiting Prof Chem Lecture Set Thursday

Professor C. K. Ingold, Professor of Chemistry and Head of the Department at University College, London, will visit the University on Thursday, according to Dr. Frank Sorenson, Summer Sessions Director.

During the morning hours he will be available for conferences and discussions with the staff and students on the many phases of chemistry in which he has been active. In the afternoon, he will present a lecture on some phase of his work in theoretical chemistry which all interested persons may attend.

Professor Ingold is probably best known to the organic chemist for his work on the mechanism of nucleophilic substitution of a saturated carbon atom and for the development of the general theory of electrophilic aromatic substitution. Spectroscopists and physical chemists are familiar with his pioneer work in the infrared spectra of deuterated benzenes and with his more recent contributions to an understanding of the excited state of acetylene. His current investigations on substitution processes in inorganic complex ions are of considerable interest to inorganic chemists, he said.

Mathematics Lecture Set This Afternoon

Marcel Paul Schutzenberger, chief of Research of the National Research Center in Paris, France, will deliver the third of a series of three lectures at the University Thursday at 3 p.m. in Room, 209 Burnett, according to W. G. Leavitt, chairman of the mathematics department.

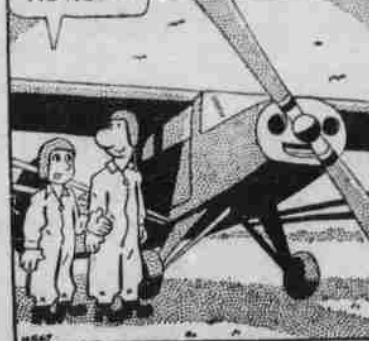

Schutzenberger will lecture on the general topic of "Information Theory."

Wednesday the professor delivered two lectures on "Semi-Groups" for the Mathematic Colloquium.

Schutzenberger is at present a visiting professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and will return to France next year.

Dr. David Foltz, who has been connected with All-State since its inception, says, "This is the best All-State yet. This is the finest group we have ever had, as it has a characteristic different from all others. All students are individually sharper than the total group last year. They are more responsive to comments and retain what they learn.

"I feel that this group is superb in spirit and the will to get things accomplished and they are the most receptive to comments."
