Band Practice

Two veteran members of the University Marching Band demonstrate a practice not usually associated with music. Jack Nyquist and Blaine McClary, both French horn players, are veteran members of the band. The band held its first practice this week, only five days before their first appearance at the Washington State game this Saturday.

Outside World

Gas Tax Petition To Fail

Unofficial sources stated Tuesday the petition drive for a state gasoline tax of seven cents has failed. However, the report went on to say that G. A. Pidel, master of the State Grange, one of the groups backing the seven cent tax, that the sponsors plan to submit the petitions to Secretary of State Frank Marsh anyway.

Disarmament

The U.N. General Assembly embarked on a crucial session expected to bring the disarmament issue to a head at last. The issue, deadlocked after five and one half months of East-West talks in London, is expected to take the spot light after the opening meeting.

Asian Flu

The Nebraska State Medical Assn., headed by Dr. H. Stewart of Pawnee City, has urged people who are sensitive to eggs, chickens or chicken feathers to run the risk of contacting Asian flu rather than subjecting themselves to the egg-product vaccine. The association also stated that the nation is almost certain to have widespread epidemics of influenza this fall and winter.

Missing Plane

The Lincoln Air Force Base reported that air rescue planes were searching for a C-47 airplane in the Nebraska City area.

Reports had been received that a possible plane crash had occurred in that area.

Ground search crews were being organized in the Nebraska City area, and boats stood ready if needed, the base said.

Price Supports

The price support rate for 1957 corn crop may be raised from two to three cents a bushel above the preliminary national average of $1.36 a bushel announced last winter.

The final rate must be announced early in October. The Agriculture Department had announced that the rate would be 77 per cent of parity if the supply were no larger than forecast last winter.

Tax Statements

City officials said personal property and real estate notices will be mailed out Oct. 1. The city will send out 37,181 statements on real estate and 45,000 on personal property bills.

New Contract

Negotiating committee members will recommend acceptance of the new contract between Western Electric's Lincoln plant and 1,000 local Communications Workers of America members, according to Joe Dear-dorff, of Omaha, Union representative.

Rag, Cornhusker Luncheon Schedule

The first Nebraskan Press Luncheon is scheduled for Friday noon in Parlors Z of the Union, according to Jack Pollock, editor.

The Luncheon will introduce the staffs of the Daily Nebraskan and the Cornhusker and the members of the Board of Publications.

Robert Cranford, new member of the School of Journalism will be the special guest at the luncheon, according to Pollock.

All members of the Cornhusker and Nebraskan staffs, reporters, columnists and members of the Board of Publications may attend the luncheon.

Tickets may be obtained at the door for $1.10.

Theater Tryouts

The last tryouts for "What Every Woman Knows" are scheduled for 3-5 p.m. today, according to Dr. Dallas Williams, director of the University Theater.

No previous experience is necessary and all regularly enrolled students may try out. Tryouts will be held in the Howell Memorial Theater in the Temple Building.

Cosmopolitan Club

The University Cosmopolitan Club will meet tonight and will hold a social program. The meeting will be held in room 31, at 7:30 p.m. All students are welcome, according to Amir Maghen, president.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

Power Of Habit

"Daily Tar Heel" North Carolina University.

A man sat in his apartment late at night and picked up peas with the hollow end of his corked-tipped cigarette.

First he lit the cigarette, fumbled around on the table, finally captured a pea in the hollow end and then ducked the cigarette in the ash tray.

For three hours he repeated the process — lighting a different cigarette, capturing a pea and ducking the cigarette in the ash tray. The tray was piled high with butts.

Finally he became an expert that with his attention averted he never failed to capture a pea in the cigarette's hollow end.

Contemporary Comment

But the man was not just playing a game.

The next day he walked into a jewelry store and asked to see the stock of unset diamonds. The clerk put a tray of sparkling gems on the table.

After lighting a cigarette, the man called the clerk's attention to an unusually large stone which he had picked up in his left hand. Automatically his right hand, with the cigarette, tapped casually upon the table until he covered a diamond with the hollow tip.

Explaining that he would have to postpone the decision of a purchase, the man ambled casually over to another counter and looked blankly at a display of watches.

Finally, heading toward the door, he looked between his fingers and found the cigarette missing. From force of habit he had ducked it in a tray on the showcase.

The store detective saw it there, but upright, with its unusual setting glistening in the light. Before the thief reached the door he felt a firm hand upon his shoulder.

People in the psychology building claim the habits are valuable to everybody because they conserve energy.

The force of habit, says William James, psychologist and philosopher, "prevents the hardest and most repulsive walks of life from being deserted by those brought to tread therein. It keeps the fisherman and the deck-hand at sea through the winter; it holds the miner in the darkness, and nails the countryman to his log cabin and his lonely farm through all the month of snow."

To everybody, then, habits are valuable because a great amount of work can be done without an equal amount of conscious effort being necessary.

But to the freshman — appearing alone for the first time in a new environment — habits become a primary consideration.

He will probably see the greatest change in his everyday living since the time his mother took him to school for matriculation in the first grade.

Into the unexplored wilderness he will build a system of little "habit-grooce" that will railroad him through each day of the coming four years.

Once a habit system has been built it takes twice as much effort to renovate it. When the constructor finds he is building in the wrong direction, he not only has to build but he must destroy the old structure.

The diamond thief forgot that part of his habit chain would have to be destroyed before he could succeed.

Exercising, eating, making friends, studying, and sleeping will soon be out of the control of the freshman. His habits will take into command his daily living and he will become a victim of himself.

No freshman can avoid habit

Activities Jobs Open In Union

Students may sign up in the Union Activities Office for Union committees, according to Don Binder.

Committees open are Talks and Topics, which sponsors the afternoon book review and lectures and helps plan the all-university convocations.

Special Activities is in charge of the Union birthday party in the spring while the Dance committee organizes and supervises dances held at the union.

Arts and Exhibits decorates the Union and makes posters advertising the other Union events.

The Music committee plans concerts and orchestral presentations while the Hospitality committee sponsors student mixers.

Recreational committee sponsors bridge tournaments and ping pong tournaments.

Public Relations committee handles all publicity for the Union.

General Entertainment committee handles pigskin parties and the fall talent show.

Prof. Returns

Richard Bourne, associate professor of Business Organization and Management, has returned to the University campus after a summer of technical assignments at Boeing Airplane Company's Wichita division. Bourne was among 35 professors and instructors from 13 colleges and universities who participated in the sixth annual faculty program. The educators carried out regular assignments in the production of B-52 Stratofortress global bomber for the Air Force.

New Methodist Pastor Named To Serve N.U.

The Rev. Mr. Darrell Patton has been appointed new pastor of Wesley Foundation, the Methodist Student House.

Patton is a native of Kansas, and was born in Kansas City. He took his undergraduate work at Baker College at Baldwin, Kansas, and his seminary work at S.M.U.

Since then he has attended Geratt Biblical Institute and has held pastorates in Iowa, Kansas and Texas.

For the past two years, Rev. Patton served as director of religious activities at Texas Wesleyan and assistant professor psychology and religion.

Patton is married and has two daughters, Connie 5 and Cynthia 1 1/2.

Patton has directed a welcome to all students to visit Wesley Foundation and invites them to come in and use its facilities.

"Students, in particular, are seeking to believe in something which becomes a thing of importance to them and around which they center their life.

"The aim, in my perspective, is to help the students to find an instructive purpose in life, something to live for, something which will give meaning to life and their activities," Patton said.

Chem Lecture

"Interrelations of folic acid compounds and formaldehyde in metabolic reactions" will be the topic of a biochemistry lecture to be presented in Room 203, Agricultural Chemistry Building, Agriculture! Camps, at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Department of Physiological Chemistry, University of California at Berkeley.

The University Research Council and the Department of Biochemistry are sponsoring the lecture.

Theatre Tryouts

Tryouts for the first set of laboratory theatre plays will be held on Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.

All University students are eligible to try out for these laboratory plays. Students should check with the University Theatre to find out where tryouts will be held.

Activities Booth

The upperclass women's activities booth will be located in the main hall of the Union on Thursday from 2:00 to 5:30 p.m.

Representatives from eight activities will be on hand to sign up anyone interested in working on the various University activities.

Upperclass women are eligible to work in activities four weeks before freshmen are eligible. The purpose of the booth is to encourage these women to participate in activities.
