Queen's Election

Voting for the Honorary Com-mandant will take place Thursday. The polls in the city union will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on the ag campus from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Voters must have their tickets punched and show their university identification cards, according to Don Salmon, publicity chairman.

Activities Queen Interviews Slated

An interview Tuesday will de-cide the contest for the Activities Queen title. The five finalists for the title are Rychie Van Ornam, Mary Vrba, Gretchen Saeger, Kar-en Schuester and Sue Schnable.

Miss Van Ornam is a member of Delta Delta Delta, Red Cross Board, Student Union, Coed Coun-selors and Alpha Lambda Delta.

A member of Love Hall, Miss Vrba is also a member of Ag Union, Coed Counselors, University Square Dance Club and 4-H Club.

Miss Saeger is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, AUF assistant, Builders, Red Cross, Pan Hellenic Representative and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Miss Schuester, a member of Chi Omega, Coed Counselors Board, Builders, AUF Assistant, YWCA Cabinet, is the New Student Week chairman.

Sue Schnable is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Cornhusker section head, AUF Assistant, and Builders Assistant.

Candidates were selected from the sophomore class on the basis of campus activities, scholarship and personality.

The finalists were chosen by a board including John Glynn, AUF Treasurer, Jan Shrader, AUF Board member in charge of special events, Bex Buck, AUF vice president and the Reverend Rex Knowles, AUF faculty advisor.

The board which will pick the Queen Tuesday will include Bill Spilker, president of Innocents; Karen Dryden, president of Mortar Boards; Helen Gourlay, president of the Student Council, and Jack Pollock, editor of the Daily Ne-braskan and a faculty member.

The Queen will be presented at the annual AUF Auction Dec. 12.

Judging Team Ranks High In Contests

Results of three University judg-ing teams entered in national con-ests last week have been an-nounced.

The Crops Judging team came in third in the National Collegiate Crops Judging Contest in Kansas City, Mo. The Nebraska team placed first in grain grading, third in identification and fourth in grain judging.

Crops judging team members in-clude Dean Ruwe, Thomas Schwab, Otto Schipporet, and Bill Spilker. Dr. John Gooding, as-sistant professor of agronomy, is team coach.

This same team won fourth place in the International Colleg-iate Grain Judging Contest at Chi-cago, Ill.

Fine Arts Ensemble

Above are the members of the fine arts quartet which will open its concert season Thursday evening in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. The group is sponsored by the Friends of Chamber Music according to Emanuel Wishnow, head of the group.

Chamber Music Quintet To Commence Season

The Fine Arts Ensemble will open the eighth Lincoln recital season 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union Ballroom.

Sponsored by the Friends of Chamber Music, the ensemble will play string Quartet in D Major by Haydn; Trio for Violin, Cello, and Piano, by Ravel, and Quintet in F Minor for piano and string quartet by Brahms.

This concert season is the groups' 10th in Omaha. They had already been playing here when an "informal" group of Lincoln-ites interested in bringing such a musical group to the capital city began to sponsor the concerts here, according to Emanuel Wishnow, first violin and head of the group.

Wishnow said that the term chamber music" was derived from the German phrase, "kammer Mucis," which literally means "room music." Most of the pieces played were written by such com-posers as Mozart and Haydn.

The ensemble will present the same concert they are giving in Lincoln Thursday to the Omaha Audience next Sunday.

In addition to playing first violin in the ensemble, Wishnow is also the conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra. He studied with the late Jacques Gordon and has played in concerts with the Gordon String Quartet. Formerly concert master of the Lincoln Symphony, he also played with Glenn Miller's Orchestra.

Truman Morseman of Omaha plays second violin with the ensemble. He was a student at the Juilliard Institute of Music in New York. Presently he is a member of the Omaha Symphony. He graduated from the Yale Law school and now practices in Omaha.

The Principal viola for the Omaha Symphony, Max Gilbert, plays viola for the Ensemble. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa, and is on the clerical staff of the

Journalism Group Invites NU Entrance

The University School of Jour-nalism has been invited to join the American Association of Schools and Departments of Jour-nalism, according to Dr. Robert Cranford, associate professor of journalism.

The AASDJ consists of about 40 schools selected by the American Council of Education and Jour-nalism, consisting of journalism pro-fessors and professional journal-ists.

"The AASDJ has been in opera-tion for many, many years and it is a distinct honor to be asked to join," Dr. Cranford said.

Dr. William Hall, Director of the School of Journalism, was unavail-able for comment, but Dr. Cran-ford said that, "I suspect that we (the School of Journalism) will join."
