Bridle Club To Select Miss McSwine

The Block and Bridle Club will hold a Holiday Ham Auction highlighted by the presentation of Miss Moonbeam McSwine of 1958, on Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Meats Lab.

Purpose of the auction is to obtain funds to transport the Junior Livestock and Meats Teams to Fort Worth, Tex. next year.

Hams can be purchased from any Block and Bridle Club member or by phoning 7149 on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday in addition to auction night. Prices will not exceed local retail prices on orders received on or before Dec. 11, Warren said.

Each organization on Ag Campus has one candidate entered in the Miss Moonbeam McSwine of 1958 contest. Three finalists will be selected at 4 p.m., Dec. 13.

Judges for the contest include Jack Goodding, assistant professor of agronomy; Jack Kuiken, instructor of dairy husbandry and Mrs. Elaine Elming, instructor in home economics.

Votes for Miss Moonbeam McSwine will be cast prior to the night of the auction. Each pound of ham purchased entitles a person to one vote.

Symphony To Feature John Johnson Tuesday

John Johnson, son of Edgar Johnson a University history professor, will be the featured performer with the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra at their concert Tuesday, at the Stuart Theater. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Johnson was invited to appear with the Symphony by its board of directors as a result of its policy of presenting exceptionally talented local musicians, according to Del Lienemann, business manager.

Johnson who will be featured at the piano, began to study his instrument when he was three as a student of Ruth Dreamer. He has been for the past five years a student of Rosina Lhevinne, famed piano teacher on the staff of the Julliard Institute, Lienemann said.

Last year, Mr. Johnson won the senior concerto competition of the Music Educator's League in New York City and won the right to appear with the Thomas Scherman Little Orchestral Society of Town Hall. With the Lincoln group, he will play Prokofieff's First Piano Concerto.

The orchestra will also present Rossini's Overture to the Silken Ladder, the Seventh Symphony by Beethoven, and a Suite from "Petrouchka" by Stravinsky including the Russian Dance, Petrouchka at Home and the Finale to Petrouchka.

Season tickets for general admission seats are still available at $5 per ticket for the remaining five concerts which include such artists as Roberta Peters, Rudolf Firkušny and Andres Segovia. Single admission reserved tickets for each concert are priced at $2.50, $3 and $3.50. Non reserved single admission tickets are $2. For the Roberta Peters concert on January 21st, all single admission tickets will be raised in price. Tickets may be obtained from the Symphony business office or by calling 5-4389.

Scripts Due

All completed scripts of skits and curtain acts for Coed Follies are due Monday, Dec. 9, at noon according to Nancy Copeland, 1958 Coed Follies chairman.

The scripts must be turned in to Miss Copeland at 400 University Terrace, along with all names of Ideal Nebraska Coed candidates, skitmasters and their addresses.

Y Fireside

The Ag Y will hold a Fireside meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Goodding, 1341 N 41st Street.

A doughnut fry and the report "Students in Industry Project" will highlight entertainment.

The Ag Y will meet other Y students at the Cluster Conference held at Wesleyan University. Registration is $2.

Crops Judging Team Honored At Luncheon

Members of the University crops judging team were honored Friday at a luncheon sponsored by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

The luncheon was held in connection with a regular meeting of the Association's board of directors, states Dean Lancaster, assistant manager.

Members of the crops team who were honored include: Thomas Schwab, Otto Schipporeit, William Spilker and Dean Ruwe, John Goodding, assistant professor of agronomy, coached the team.

Team members placed third at the Kansas City National Collegiate Crops Judging Contest and fourth at the International Collegiate Grain Judging Contest at Chicago, Ill., last month.

Singers Set Christmas Performance

The annual Christmas Carol concert, presented by the University Singers, will be held Sunday in the Union ballroom, according to David Foltz, director.

Two performances will be presented, one at 3 p.m. and the second at 4:30 p.m. The programs will feature recent and classical carols.

The University School of Fine Arts and the School of Music are sponsoring the program. Tickets can be obtained in the Union main office and at the School of Music. Myron Roberts is the organist which will also feature an interlude of carols by a brass ensemble.

Ag Union Slates Hop Friday

The second annual "Hayloft Hop" will be held Friday in the Ag Union Gym from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

There will be an admission charge of 35 cents, according to Angie Holbert, chairman of the Ag Union Dance Committee.

Music will be provided by the Rockenbach Square Dance Orchestra. Callers will be Laverne Seison and La Vern Rockenbach.

Sponsors include the Ag Union, City Union and the University Square Dance Club.

Veterans Checks

December checks are being issued veterans attending school under the Korean GI Bill (PL 550) prior to the school Christmas Holiday, announced A. H. Duxbury, Manager of the VA Regional Office.

All checks are being mailed from the U.S. Treasury Disbursing Office at Kansas City Dec. 17 and should reach all veteran students by Dec. 19, the day before vacation begins.

JOB FACTS FROM DU PONT
BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING THROUGH CHEMISTRY
DU PONT PERSONALIZED TRAINING STARTS SAME DAY YOU DO: PREPARES YOU FASTER FOR ADVANCEMENT
Your Classroom Learning Is Applied Immediately to Industrial Problems
ALL KINDS OF ENGINEERS NEEDED
by F. L. Johns, Du Pont Representative
At Du Pont, the opportunity for chemists and chemical engineers is only part of the story. There are equal opportunities for many other kinds of engineers. Of course, we can't cover all of the types of jobs available at Du Pont, but I've listed here some of the possibilities.
Civil engineers, for example, design and supervise construction of our new plants. Mechanical engineers design, lay out and plan the purchase of production equipment, and they supervise production and work in research.
Electrical engineers lay out and maintain power systems for our plants. They also design production equipment. Sales engineers in every field apply their skills to customers' problems and help find new applications and markets for our products.
Metallurgical engineers develop new metal and semi-metallic products and work on corrosion problems and the selection of materials suitable for industrial processes.
We are also interested in engineers who have specialized in petroleum, plastics, ceramics, safety, sanitation and many other fields of study.
Opportunities in most branches of engineering continue to grow at Du Pont. If you have questions on your own specialty, please see me when I visit your campus. I'll be happy to try to answer them.
Training at Du Pont is tailored to the individual. It begins the day you join the Company and continues throughout your career. Its purpose is to give you as much responsibility as you can handle at the outset, and to prepare you for future advancement.
Personalized Development
When you join Du Pont you are generally given a specific assignment at once. You learn informally in consultation with your supervisor and others assigned to the same project. This headstart on responsibility permits a new man to move ahead according to his abilities. He gets to know Du Pont and his job quickly.
Job Evaluation
This approach at Du Pont is supplemented by frequent meetings and seminars and by formal job evaluation reports. Your supervisor, for example, will evaluate your progress on the job at least once a year. The two of you will analyze your performance and outline a program for improvement. From these evaluations often come recommendations for promotion and salary increases.
On occasion, a man may decide that he is better fitted for sales or research than production work, for example. In these cases a transfer to another job may be effected without any loss in Company benefits or without a change in employer. Redirected, a man often will find himself and the work for which he is best suited.
If you have any questions about personnel development at Du Pont, stop in to see the Du Pont representative when he visits your campus.
THERE'S A BIG FUTURE IN DU PONT RESEARCH
In 1956, Du Pont spent $77 million on research. And over the past 25 years, $1 has been spent on research for every $3 invested in new production facilities. This activity promises plenty of room for the young research man to grow.
Right now, Du Pont engineers and scientists are working on hundreds of new research projects. Many work in the Experimental Station near Wilmington, Del.; others are busy in laboratories in nine more states.
SEND FOR INFORMATION BOOKLET ON JOB OPPORTUNITIES AT DU PONT
Booklets on jobs at Du Pont are yours for the asking. The subjects of particular interest to young graduates include: mechanical, civil, metallurgical, chemical, electrical, instrumentation and industrial engineers; atomic energy, technical sales, business administration, research and development. Write, mentioning the subject that interests you. The address: Du Pont, Room 2494-C Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Delaware.
