

Madrigal Singers Schedule Concert

At 7:30 p.m. December 19th, the Madrigal Singers will take their places around tables in the Union Ballroom and present their 10th Annual Traditional Christmas Carol Concert.

The tables will be covered with white cloths and set with candles, goblets and a punch bowl in traditional 16th Century Madrigal style. Singers will be clad in formal attire.

The traditional concert will have a new aspect this year in that the singers have a new director, John Moran, and is in itself a new organization. This year the Madrigals are composed of outstanding sophomores and freshmen, who don't necessarily need to be music majors, Moran said.

Previous to this year, the concert had been held in the Union lounge, but with the cooperation of the Union Music Committee, is being held in the ballroom. The Committee, headed by Karen Petersen, is in charge of the decorations and other arrangements. The theme will be carried out in such a manner that it will take you back to old England, Miss Petersen said.

Another new aspect of this performance is that the music chosen for the program leans more toward the traditional Christmas Carols than in previous years. Parts will be directed toward the children with such selections as "Twas the Night Before Christmas," and "Jingle Bells."

Accompanists for the group are Kay Green and Bill Bush, and main soloist will be Gale Miller of Wymore.

Included in the program is: —"Song of Christmas" with Carol Ashbury and Rodney Walker as narrators.

—A group of traditional carols including "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night."

—A group of Christmas songs: "Deck the Halls," "Lullaby on Christmas Eve" featuring Gale Miller as soloist, "Patapan," and the Ray Charles arrangement of "Jingle Bells."

—"Twas the Night Before Christmas," by Fred Waring.

At the close of the concert the singers will be served a flaming fruitcake and the audience will be served eggnog by the hosts and hostesses.

Pie Thrown

Rex Knowles, AUF adviser, has just thrown a pie into the face of Art Weaver, past AUF president, at the annual AUF Auction Thursdy. Steve Schultz looks on as Knowles spatters Weaver. The Auction made over $3,000 to go for different charities.

Certification

certification those students who have completed the courses in education as required by law and who have been approved by the pertinent subject-matter departments of the various colleges.

"2) Abolish the system of dual matriculation in the University of Nebraska. This cumbersome procedure has discouraged students from selecting teaching as a career, and would be unnecessary if the above recommendation were adopted.

"3) Ask that the Nebraska State Legislature lower the number of professional education courses required for certification from 18 to 15 hours the number specified by the North Central Association. In this new era we are entering, the various fields are becoming so complex that more and more time is required for their mastery. (The Teachers College now requires 20 hours of professional courses, since the course in practice teaching was changed from three to five hours of credit.)

"4) Recognize teaching done by undergraduate and graduate assistants in the subject-matter departments as meeting the requirements for practice teaching.

"5) Grant credit toward professional education requirements for in-service teaching under approved supervision whenever university facilities are inadequate for practice teaching.

"6) As an emergency measure, encourage the certifying authority to make it possible for people qualified in subject matter, but without the requisite number of hours in professional education to teach under temporary permits."

The proposals by the professors were made "in answer to the plea made by President Eisenhower in what he cited as this nation's most critical problem—education."

The groups supporting the action cited the president's plea also.

NU Instructor Hurt In Accident

A University English instructor was hospitalized at Columbus Thursday night after the car he was driving was hit by a train.

The instructor, Danny Gustafson, suffered face cuts and bruises, according to the State Safety Patrol.

The accident occurred at a Highway 22 railroad crossing seven miles northwest of Columbus. The car driven by Gustafson was reported as belonging to the University.

Terry Young Wins Fellowship Award

Terry Young, a graduate student was announced today as the recipient of a $1,700 Texas Company Fellowship awarded in the University's department of bacteriology.

The Fellowship is given each year to an outstanding graduate student who is engaged in research on soluble oil emulsions.

Also part of the Fellowship is the granting of $800 to the bacteriology department for supplies and equipment used in the research project, directed by Dr. Hilliard Pivnick, associate professor.

Young was graduated from Omaha Central High School in 1950, graduated from Omaha University in 1956 and served in the Army Medical Corps from 1954 to 1956.

Panel Rates U.S. Missile Program High

Russia is not really ahead of the United States technologically was the general opinion after the panel discussion on the Russia vs. United States question held at the NUCWA meeting last Tuesday evening.

The panel, consisting of Major Charles Simpson of the Air Force ROTC, Biff Keyes, Jim Roman, and Jim Hyink, concluded that although Russia has recently shown us up with Sputnik and Mutnik, the United States leads the race with its missiles, atomic submarines, and other defense objects.

It was also brought out that other nations would rather have aid in economic fields than have knowledge about satellites; and, therefore, the United States will not lose any of its prestige even if Russia continues to improve technologically, as long as we continue our economic aid program.

A number of foreign students mentioned that this is true in their countries. They all felt that doing things that the people can see in their daily life is the best method of promoting good international relations.

ROTC Graduates Address Phalanx

At the monthly meeting of Phalanx, professional and honorary military fraternity, First Lieutenant Wayne Handisy and Second Lieutenant Jack Keene, past graduates of the University, addressed the group on problems that face a newly commissioned second lieutenant.

Attending the meeting besides the active members and their guests were Major John Jerming, advisor; Major Frederick Bockoven; Captain Don Barry; and First Lieutenant Robert Bentley.

Psych Honorary

A meeting of Psi Chi, psychological honorary, will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Room 316 of the Union, according to Keith Leech, secretary.

NU Book Pool To Start At Close Of Semester

The newly revised book pool added. exchange program which was accepted by Student Council last week and which will be run by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will go into operation at the end of this semester.

Tom Neff, chairman of the Student Council Book Pool exchange committee, told the Council Wednesday that he expects around 1000 books to be sold by the pool. Neff explained that a 15 cent profit would be allowed on each book sold in order to handle expenses.

This 15 cent handling charge per book will still entitle the student to a profit, Neff added, because local book stores charge anything from 20 per cent and more.

Neff stated that he figured the Alpha Phi Omegas will come out about even after expenses are paid which includes the hiring of a full time manager for several weeks to supervise book sales.

Alpha Phi Omega will be under the direct supervision of the Student Council, Neff explained. They will submit to the Council reports of tentative plans and evaluation before and after the Pool Exchange goes into effect, Neff added. Last year was the first time a Book Pool Exchange was introduced at the University. It employed a card catalogue system whereby students looked up the books they wanted in the catalogue and then contacted the owner by themselves. The Exchange never handled the books.

This year, Neff explained, the Book Exchange will actually take in and handle the books. This is to provide a greater convenience for the students.

Neff outlined the tentative procedure for students who wish to deal with the Book Exchange which will be held in Room 313 of the Union starting at a date to be announced.

Students wishing to sell books can quote their own prices. A form will be filled out when the book is brought in; one copy of which will go to the student; another going to the master file; and another for the book itself.

Students desiring to buy their books at the Exchange are requested to know the title and the author. Books will be listed by course number.

Miss Moonbeam McSwine

Prudence Morrow was revealed as Miss Moonbeam McSwine of 1958 at the Block and Bridle club's Holiday Ham Auction Friday evening. Miss Morrow is a junior in Teachers College from Omaha. She represented the Rodeo Club in the Miss McSwine contest. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Other finalists for the title were and Julie Byers. Miss Morrow was selected by votes of the club members selling hams. Each ham entitled the buyer to 10 votes for Miss Moonbeam McSwine.
