Spring Registration To Close Thursday

Registration for second semester classes began Monday and will continue through Thursday at the Military and Naval Science Building. Students who have not seen their advisors should see them before pulling cards, according to Mrs. Irma Laase, Assistant Registrar. Students with 65 hours or more on record as of Sept. 16, 1957 began pulling cards at 8 a.m. today. Registration for students with 60 hours began at 9 a.m., 55 hours at 10 a.m., 50 hours at 1 p.m., 45 hours at 2 p.m., and 32 hours at 3 p.m. Registration for tomorrow will be as follows: 28 hours or more, 3 a.m.; 23 hours, 9 a.m.; 15 hours, 10 a.m.; and any number of hours on record, 1 p.m. Students may register at any time after their number of hours or assignment time comes up until 5 p.m. Thursday. All students not in Junior Division must bring their worksheets with them when they come to register, or they will not be admitted. Junior Division students will leave two copies of their worksheets with their advisors and they will be able to pick them up at the Military and Naval Science Building when they come to register. Any Junior Division student whose hours come up before Tuesday afternoon will have to go to the Junior Division office in the new Administration Building to get his own worksheet. All worksheets must carry the advisor's signature. Except Teachers College students carrying from 12 to 17 hours, all students must obtain their deans signature also. Students should have arranged to have two-fifths of their classes in the afternoon or on Tuesday, Thursday, or Saturday. Students not completing registration by 5 p.m. Thursday can do so Teachers College will register from Jan. 21 to Feb. 15.

McBride To Direct ETV Show

Jack McBride, general manager of KUON-TV, University campus television station, will direct a new on-the-job training project for personnel of educational television stations at Ann Arbor, Mich., according to the news bulletin of the National Educational Television Association.

McBride will continue in his University job but will spend much time at stations and at the Educational Television and Radio Center in Ann Arbor.

Under McBride, direction specialists from commercial and educational television, and free lance will cover the costs of handling the A price list will be available and the exchange are requested to know

YM To Help 'Penzer Park' Project Plan

The University city campus YMCA is making final plans on their "Penzer Park Recreation Project," a program to provide recreation for Lincoln children of ages seven to 14, according to Jim Roman, vice president of the YM group.

Penzer Park, a community recreational center sponsored by the Salvation Army, was built in 1955 and has since failed to get completely under way due to lack of workers. The YMCA has volunteered its services to operate the project.

"Anyone interested in helping in this project, regardless of whether he is in the YM group or not, is urged to contact me or attend the regular YM meeting on Wednesday at 4 p.m. in room 313 of the Union," Jim Roman said.

Syracuse Law School Offers Scholarships

A program of tuition scholarships to the College of Law at Syracuse University are available upon application to students interested in the three year program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

A limited number of full scholarships will be awarded on the basis of ability and need. Partial tuition grants ranging from $200 to $500 per year are also available.

Application forms for grants and loans for the academic year 1958-59 must be filed on or before March 17. Forms may be obtained from Dean Ralph Kharas, College of Law, Ernest White Hall, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, New York.

Art Galleries To Exhibit New Drawings

An exhibition of drawings by a California artist, Jan Stussy, opened Sunday at the University Art Galleries and will continue through Feb. 9. Director Norman Geske announced.

A native of Missouri, Stussy is associate professor in art at UCLA, where he has taught since 1946. He spent 1956 painting in Europe.

Stussy has had eight one-man exhibitions, principally in California, and his works are in the permanent collections of San Francisco Museum of Art, California Water Color Society, and Los Angeles County Fair.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1944 from U.C.L.A. and his Master of Fine Arts degree from University of Southern California in 1953.

Pictures

Pictures from the Campus Picture Lending Library must be checked in Thursday and Friday at the Union checkstand between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Clothing Collected

2nd Lt. David Chapman, 55th M.P. company (1 corps) looks over the array of clothing collected for Korean war orphans by the pledge classes of Kappa Delta sorority and Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. Also assisting in the drive were the VFW and American Legion groups of North Bend, Nebraska. Approximately one-half ton of clothing was acquired in response to a letter from Lt. Chapman, a University graduate.

Book Pool Sales Slated Feb. 3-5

The Book Pool will offer books for sale on Feb. 3-5, the first three days of second semester classes, according to Jack King, president of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

On Jan. 24, 27 and 28, students may bring books to the exchange in room 313 of the Union to sell and may set their own prices.

Both buyers and sellers will profit from the new book exchange. Instead of the usual 20 per cent charge which is added to a book's cost by the book store, the exchange adds only 15 cents, which will cover the costs of handling the sale.

Buyers may buy the books at a lower cost than at the book store, since the profit to the exchange will not be as great as that to the bookstore.

A price list will be available and students will be advised to ask a reasonable price for their books. Ken Tempero, chairman of the Book Pool said. When books are taken to the Book Pool, the student must fill out a form for them. One copy will go to the student, another copy will go to the master file and another will be for the book itself. Students buying their books at the exchange are requested to know the title and the author of the book. Books will be listed by course number. The Student Council will supervise Alpha Phi Omega in the operation of the Book Pool. Reports and evaluations will be submitted to the Council before and after the Book Pool goes into effect. Tom Neff, chairman of the Student Council Book Pool Committee said. All unsold books and money for the books sold will be returned Feb. 10 and 11.

Four Added To List Of Award Nominees

One University administrator and three University students were nominated Monday for the bi-annual award of "Outstanding Nebraskan" which will be presented by the Daily Nebraskan.

Added to the list of nominees were Duane Lake, director of the Student Union; Dave Keene, Barbara Sharp, and Roberta Holt.

In his letter of nomination it stated that Lake, in spite of many obstacles, would not be diverted from his goal of attempting to satisfy the needs of every student faction on campus as he formulated his concept of what the ideal union should include.

"Since Lake has come to Nebraska ten years ago, he has revamped the activities program completely. He was also twice elected president of the National Association of College Unions and also past regional director of College Unions."

"Because of Lake's amazing sensitivity to student needs and tireless efforts to satisfy those needs and create a better university—for outstanding ability and admirable character—for his guidance of the entire student body, Duane Lake deserves to be an "Outstanding Nebraskan," the letter concluded.

Law College senior Dave Keene has also been nominated for the honor.

The letter nominating Keene states, "As chairman of the Student Council Tribunal Committee, Keene has provided the University with a Charter which appears to be acceptable to the entire University. Tribunal is a step forward in the effort to allow students the opportunity to govern themselves."

"Keene, who has spent many hours working with student and administration members, has provided a workable and worthwhile document and thus deserves the title of "Outstanding Nebraskan," the letter said.

Next outstanding Nebraskan nominee is Barbara Sharp. Miss Sharp was cited in her letter of nomination as a worthy candidate for the title due to her work with the Hungarian Student Project. She was the originator of the project and spent over 20 hours per week for over a semester as the project chairman, the letter said. The project was termed "the most worthwhile project ever undertaken on this campus."

Miss Sharp spent the time on the project in addition to her positions of president of the YWCA and vice-president of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. She is also an officer in the eight-state regional area of the YWCA. A member of Mortar Board, Miss Sharp also works 30 hours per week at the Lincoln Journal and has above average grades, the letter stated. For her high degree of leadership on campus, Miss Roberta Holt has been nominated for the title.

In addition to her high scholarship, the letter said, Miss Holt's service to the University can be seen in the quantity and quality of her work. She is vice-president of Mortar Board, associate editor of the Cornhusker, past vice-president of Builders, past member of Coed Counselor Board, a member of Pi Lambda Theta, Gamma Alpha Chi, Theta Sigma Phi, Newman Club, past vice-president of Chi Omega and acting activities chairman of Chi Omega.

The letter also said in part that those who have worked with Miss Holt know that she has worked as hard after receiving an office as she did to earn the position.

Despite her full and varied schedule, she always has time to think of others and place their interests before her own. Her friendliness, sincerity, and sense of humor are part-and-parcel of her work.

In addition, the nomination said, her personality, integrity, and high degree of character indeed qualify her for this honor.

Others nominated for the honor include Marilyn Heck, senior in Arts and Sciences; Gene Spence, senior in Law, students and Dr. Glen Gray, professor of history, and Miss Mary Mulvaney, faculty members.

Nominations will close Tuesday at 5 p.m. and the "Outstanding Nebraskans," one faculty member and one student, will be announced in Friday's issue.

NU Band Needs New Members

Interested students may play in the University Collegiate Band next semester and earn University credit at the same time, according to Jack Snider, assistant professor of music.

Snider said the band could especially use clarinet players, but that all musically inclined students could apply.

The class itself meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5 to 6 p.m. Those desiring to register for the course and participate in the band group should contact director Snider as soon as possible.

The next concert to be performed by the Collegiate band will be held in February.

YW Positions

Filings for YWCA cabinet and council positions began Monday at Rosa Bouton and will continue until Wednesday at 5 p.m. Interviews will begin Thursday at 3 p.m.

RE Week Student Topics Requested

The Religious Emphasis Week committee would be interested in any topics which students would like to have discussed during the period, Dave Rhoades, chairman, announced today.

Daily seminars conducted by the guest speakers are scheduled for the Feb. 9 to Feb. 14 event. Some of these will be designated "skip-the-hours"; others will discuss topics of interest to those professing religious faith.

"The Religious Emphasis Week committee is interested in any questions which students want to discuss", Rhoades explained. "We want the questions to be ones which will challenge the faith of all students and to do this we need to know the questions students are asking."

Questions can be turned in to any of the campus religious houses or to Rhoades at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

"Dynamics of Faith" has been chosen as the theme for the annual Religious Emphasis Week. The name was taken from a book by Paul Tillich, considered one of the leading contemporary theologians, Rhoades said.

Eight major speakers representing different academic fields and denominations will be featured during the week. Their names have not been revealed.

Highlighting the weeks activity will be the tentative opening program "Religion and Faith" planned for Feb. 9 at 8 p.m.

Singing, poetry reading and instrumental music will illustrate the religious nature of the arts. Organizations and organized houses will be provided with speakers during the week. Religious books will be on sale and worship services are planned throughout the week.

Engineers Course Scheduled At NU

A course for engineers and others interested in the design of reinforced concrete will be held at Ferguson Hall Thursdays, January 23 and 30.

The refresher course will also be held at Omaha on Tuesdays, January 21 and 28. The same material will be covered at both evening sessions.

The first two sessions of the course will be conducted by G. R. Swihart, associate professor of civil engineering at the University. Jack Way and Stanley Goodwin of the Portland Cement Association will conduct the last session.

The course will be sponsored by the University's College of Engineering and Architecture and Extension Division and the Portland Cement Association.

Ag Session

The Ag College short course session got underway last week with 13 persons enrolled.

The short course offers training in beef cattle feeding and range and pasture management, according to Dr. Franklin Eldridge, associate director of resident instruction.

Pi Mu Epsilon Initiates 23 New Members

Twenty-three students were recently initiated into the University chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity.

Arts, Sciences Scholarships Available Next Semester

Arts and Sciences scholarships available for next semester are the following:

The John E. Almy Scholarship is for sophomores or above in the department of Physics and is worth from $100 to $200 and the student should apply to the General Scholarship committee.

The Jane Sarah Welch Scholarship is for juniors and seniors majoring in Bacteriology or Zoology and the student should apply to the chairman of the Bacteriology or Zoology department.

Scholarships

Applications for upperclassmen scholarships may be picked up at the Office of Student Affairs during exam week and the first week of the second semester, according to Marjorie Johnston, associate dean of student affairs.

Air ROTC

The Air Force ROTC at the University named five students as Distinguished Air Force ROTC Cadets.

The students are: Wallace Adam; John Clark; Russell Steeves; Gregory Stillman; and Robert Jameson.

Orchestrals Tryouts

Orchestrals practice for the next tryouts will be Wednesday at 6 p.m. in Grant Memorial, according to Kay Nielson, publicity chairman.

The actual tryouts will be Feb. 5 at 7 p.m. in Grant Memorial, stated Miss Nielson.

Cotner Religious School Registration Underway

Registration has begun for second semester courses in Religion offered by the Cotner School of Religion. Registration for the University recognized courses will continue until Feb. 3, when the classes will begin.

Full University credit is given. The courses are accredited as elective courses and as many as twelve semester hours may be applied toward a University degree.

There is no tuition charge made for credit courses in Cotner, but a $2 registration fee is charged to cover the cost of the transcript of credits to the University. A fee of $6 is assessed students desiring to audit courses. Students may register and pay fees at the Cotner School of Religion, located at 1237 R Street.

Dr. G. A. Ferre, dean of the school said, "The School of Religion is designed to help students in an understanding of religion, in a deepening of their own spiritual awareness, and provides pre-theological training although it is not a theological seminary."

Rev. Rex Knowles, Presbyterian Student House pastor, will be the instructor, next semester, of the course "Life and Teachings of Jesus." The course will include a study of the teachings of Jesus with application to life today.

A unique course in the investigation of the significance of the Dead Sea Scrolls as related to Biblical studies will be offered. The course is taught by Rev. R. J. Peterson, Jr.

A guest professor, Rev. Gerhard Gieschen, professor of Christian Ethics at Midland College, will teach "Basic Christian Ethics."

Records Light Rays

Dr. Herbert Wetherell, assistant professor of physiology and pharmacology at the University College of Medicine in Omaha, is using an intricate instrument called the spectrophotometer. Through this machine, light waves are recorded on paper which otherwise would be invisible. Wetherell has made many tests for specific substances as part of his duties a Chemical Consultant to the Nebraska State Toxicological Laboratory located at the College of Medicine. Some of the items have been alcohol, barbiturates, household poisons of unknown ingredients and heavy metals such as arsenic.
