Beauty, Eligibility, Ideality Take Coed Follies Spotlight Tonite

Travel Acts, Skits 7:30 At Pershing

The annual presentation of Coed Follies featuring six skits and four traveler acts will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Pershing Memorial Auditorium, according to Nancy Coover, chairman. Tickets for "Skits-O-Frantic, sponsored by AWS, are still available, Miss Coover said.

Ideal Coed

Presentation of the Ideal Nebraska Coed, introduction of the 12 Cornhusker Beauty finalists and the six "Most Eligible Bachelors" will highlight the annual revue.

Awards will be made to the winning acts, Miss Copeland said. Acts will be judged on the basis of cleverness, originality, audience appeal and costuming, she added.

The skits are "A Veil Tale", Alpha Phi; "Hark, Hark, the Ark", Delta Delta Delta; "Nautical Neurosis", Gamma Phi Beta; "Tamale and the Bandit", Chi Omega; "Jumbledivvy", Alpha Xi Delta and "Panic in the Plaza", Delta Gamma.

Traveler acts include "Oomph Appeal", with Prudie and Edie Morrow; "Blues Medley", with Helen Hockabout, Dolly Swift, Gayle Peddie and Prudie Morrow; "More Fun than a..."; Alpha Omicron Pi skit and "Raggedy Ann and Andy", Town Club skit.

Skits Judges

Skits judges are: Earl Jenkins, assistant professor of voice; Esther Meacham, assistant professor of home economics; Dorothy Maxwell, instructor in physical education for women; Robert Hough, assistant professor of English, and Dr. John Wiley, director of the speech clinic.

Finalists for Ideal Nebraska Coed are Jan Lichtenberger, Judy Chapman, Sharon McDonald, Georgann Humphrey and Dorothy Beechner. They were selected from 33 semi-finalists after interviews held Feb. 18.

Finalists were chosen on the basis of personality, academic record and campus activities. Last year's Ideal Nebraska Coed was Joan Heusner.

Seventeen Join Med Honorary

Alpha chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha, medical college honorary society has invited sixteen students and one alumna to join its ranks. Membership is based on "scholarship and moral qualification" and a unanimous vote of the active members of the organization.

Those chosen for membership include: Jackson Bence, William Cirksema, Howard Copas, John Eule, Bill Farmer, Michael Greenbert, Richard Hill, Gordon Johnson, Guinter Kahn, Dr. Frank Klambenes (alumna), John McAndrew, Benjamin Meckel, Carl Miller, Robert Quick, Donald Skoog, Robert Tupper and Thomas Wallace.

Dr. Klambenes, a 1938 graduate of the College of Medicine is associate professor and chairman of the Otorhinolaryngology department at the College.

They Know No Seasons

Spring Is Here

It may not be spring, but many plants, greens, ferns and grasses are growing within the bounds of the University campus.

The site for this center of growing is a small, but satisfactory greenhouse operated by the Botany department and located between Burnett and Bessey Halls.

Grown For Research

Glen Drohman, the greenhouse foreman explains that plants are grown which correspond with the ones studied in the botany classes. Most of the plants are started from cuttings while a few of them are begun from seeds.

Since plants are also grown for research, the department has two projects underway at the present time. One of them is studying the Daris plant, a tropical American plant that has roots containing insect-

Hark, That Ark

Members of the Delta Delta Delta skit, "Hark, Hark the Ark of Forty Damp Days," are practicing for Coed Follies which will be Monday night at Pershing Memorial Auditorium. Pictured in the back row are Pat Arbutnot and Mary Metcalfe portraying their part as elephants in Noah's Ark. Donna Phillips and Corrine

Ekstrom are boxing kangaroos. In the front row are Janet Drescher and Janie Coe in the part of gymnastic monkeys. Besides skits and curtain acts, the Cornhusker Beauty Queen finalists, Most Eligible Bachelor and the Ideal Nebraska Coed will be presented at intermission of the performance.

Only with a handsome young Frank Butler whom she later married did she enjoy less than total victory.

Song hits from the show are "Doing What Comes Naturally," "You Can't Get A Man With A Gun" and "They Say Its Wonderful."

Koehl Studies Old German Imperialism

German documents which have only recently been declassified have been made available to the University through the efforts of Dr. Robert Koehl, associate professor of history.

Koehl, who has been doing research on German imperialism, has been obtaining microfilms of important documents as they have been made available by the U.S. Government.

"Sometimes I go after the microfilms and sometimes I can arrange to have them sent to me," said Koehl. He went to Stanford last year on his quest and is presently planning a trip to Alexandria, Va. for more materials.

Dr. Koehl has recently begun a study of the SS, a German organization roughly translated as "elite guard", which he describes as a modern form of imperialism. He hopes this work will show what kinds of Germans develop the SS and how important the SS factors are in postwar Germany.

Research linking past and modern imperialism has supplied material for Koehl's article, "Heinrich the Great", which appeared in a recent issue of History Today.

Another phase of National Socialism is examined by Dr. Koehl in his recent book, "RKFDV: German Resettlement and Population Policy, 1939-1945." The book, published last month, deals with the Nazis' resettlement plans for territories around Germany's frontiers.

"Research of this type," according to Dr. Koehl, "is important because it still has political significance for our relations with Germany today."

IFC Service Day

Intra-fraternity council community service day house chairman will meet today at 5 p.m. in Union 305, according to Dick Arneson, president.

Bushmen Hit; Geier's Flyers Win

Nebraska's amazing Cornhuskers got themselves involved in another upset Saturday night but they were on the losing end this time. In other sports action, Jake Geier's gymnasts won the All-College Tournament for the sixth time in the last seven years.

UP Staffer Tops Matrix

Fetes Best Woman

The outstanding woman journalist in the state will be presented at the annual Matrix Dinner March 22.

Headlining the dinner, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity, will be Mary Prime, featured columnist for the United Press.

Miss Prime reports on subjects ranging from screen and television celebrities to juvenile delinquents.

In addition, she assists in editing the weekly women's page for UP's mail feature service, the Red Letter.

A plaque for the outstanding woman journalist in the weekly field will be presented by Vern Scofield, executive secretary of the Nebraska Press Association.

The outstanding woman in the daily field will receive a plaque from the UP, according to Pat Coover, Theta Sigma Phi president.

Also presented at the dinner will be an award to the outstanding senior woman in journalism at the University.

Tickets to the banquet are available at the School of Journalism, Miss Coover said.

Miss Jazz Announced

Sylvia Rigg, Kappa Alpha Theta, was chosen "Miss Jazz on the University Campus" Friday night at the Turnpike Ballroom, according to Stan Kaiman, assistant business manager of the Daily Nebraskan.

Runners-up in the contest sponsored by the Daily Nebraskan business staff and the Turnpike Ballroom, were Barb Coonrad, Kappa Delta, and Ina Margolin, Sigma Delta Tau.

Pete Laughman, KNUS director, made the presentation of a Bulova "Coed" watch to the winner and records to the runners-up.

Miss Jazz will be interviewed on the first of a series of jazz programs on KNUS, Kaiman added.

Acacia Fraternity Plans New House Construction

When, Where Still Indefinite;

Board Of Regents To Confer

Acacia Fraternity is planning the construction of a new house. The fraternity recently sold its property to the University Episcopal Chapel.

Jim Minor, secretary, disclosed that, although they have definite plans, the plans will not be revealed until after a meeting with the Board of Regents.

Orval Conner, advisor to Acacia, said that no meeting has been planned as of yet and will be left up to the Board of Regents, who determine the University property program.

He continued that Acacia plans to get a site and build, but "We are waiting for the Board of Regents to make a fraternity site available. We don't anticipate anything happening for another year."

According to Minor, the house would have to be built on campus.

The Reverend Armstrong, of the Episcopal Chapel, said that no definite date of construction of the new chapel has been set.

He continued, "Acacia will be working with us, and we will be working with them."

'Temporary' Ag Union May Retire At Last

Library-Union Combination Could Solve Two Problems

The temporary Union established on Ag campus 10 years ago may at last find a permanent home.

Tentative plans for a combination Ag union and library are being made, according to Duane Lake, Union Manager.

"The plans are still in the exploring state," said Lake. The Library feels as we do, that there is a compatibility in the services that we both offer," he added.

Lake

Recent surveys made on Ag campus by the planning committee, which consists of the union board of managers, indicate service needs of more rooms, and a larger snack bar area, stated Lake.

A strong need for a study area was also indicated.

"The greatest change in student's needs has been brought about by the new residence halls on the campus. They have made quite an impact", Lake commented.

The bond issue passed in 1956 for the expanded University building program included $250,000 for a new ag union, Lake continued. This money will be available in April of this year. Money was also allotted for a library. He estimated that it would be at least two years before any effect in time for the May elections.

If the Senate disapproves some portion of the Tribunal charter, it will be sent back to the Student Council for more work.

University students approved the charter by a vote of 1,428 to 417 at an election held during spring semester registration.

Fourth Year Four years of work by the Student Council have gone into the Tribunal, according to president Helen Gourlay. During this time, the Council contacted 18 or 20 schools concerning student tribunals.

The student tribunal at Stanford University, which has been in existence for 18 years, is cited in the letter sent to Senate members as the best example of student tribunals.

Another of the scholarships is a $150 freshman grant awarded to the applicant for the Journal and Star scholarships who submits the best essay on "Freedom of Information." This scholarship is anonymously sponsored.

Former Student Downed In Korea Capt. Leon Pfeiffer, former University student, has been identified as the U. S. pilot shot down by ground fire near the demilitarized zone in Korea.

The Defense department told his parents that it had "no information on his physical status or location."

Capt. Pfeiffer was president of Kosmet Klub, a member of Kappa Sigma in 1951.

construction could get under way.

The area immediately south of the present Chemistry building on Ag campus has been chosen as a site for the new library, but a site has not yet been chosen for a union building.

"The union established on Ag campus 10 years ago was supposed to be on a temporary basis", Lake quipped. "Plans have been evolving for the last six years", he added.

Tribunal Fate Lies In Senate

Colbert To Offer Measure Tuesday

The immediate fate of the proposed Student Tribunal will rest with the Faculty Senate when it is brought up Tuesday by J. P. Colbert, Dean of Student Affairs.

"A copy of the charter and a printed history of the Tribunal plans have been distributed to all members of the Faculty Senate," Dean Colbert said.

If the Senate approves the Tribunal as is, it would then go to the Board of Regents for approval, Dean Colbert said.

In this case, he speculated that the Tribunal could go into effect in time for the May elections.

If the Senate disapproves some portion of the Tribunal charter, it will be sent back to the Student Council for more work.

University students approved the charter by a vote of 1,428 to 417 at an election held during spring semester registration.

Four years of work by the Student Council have gone into the Tribunal, according to president Helen Gourlay. During this time, the Council contacted 18 or 20 schools concerning student tribunals.

The student tribunal at Stanford University, which has been in existence for 18 years, is cited in the letter sent to Senate members as the best example of student tribunals.

Love Hall Wins Carnival Trophy

Love Hall won the first place trophy for the best booth at the Estes Carnival Friday.

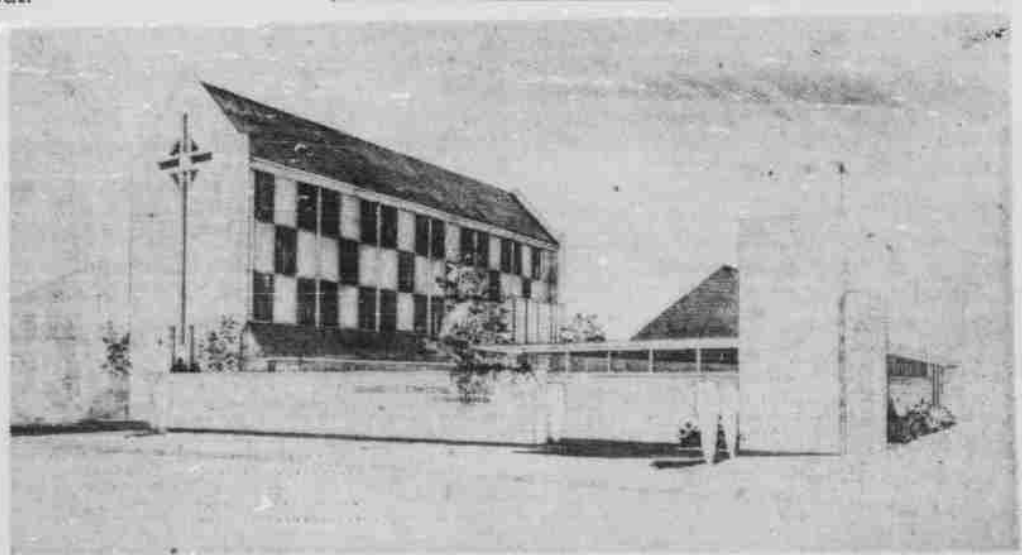

"Yo all kum to Love Patch, it'll cap'tivate you" was the theme of the booth.

Second trophy went to Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity with its booth, "Dunk Donald".

Dorothy Shallenberger and Alberta Dobry won the best costume contest.

Judges of the events were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lowenstein and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith.

Estes Carnival is an annual event sponsored by the campus YM-YWCA groups to finance delegates to the Y Estes Conference held in June.
