

Pint-Sized Traveler To Tour With MB's

Foreign Students Will Journey To Nebraska Farms, Industries

The annual Mortar Board Tour for International Students will take along a pint-sized traveler this year.

Five-year-old Techan will tour Nebraska along with 33 foreign students.

Techan, who was born in Tokyo, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tada Hiko Ando. His father is doing research at the University in bio-chemistry on a Fulbright grant.

The tour will be held March 31 through April 2 and is designed to acquaint foreign students with Nebraska.

Nebraska farms, industries and six towns will be included in the tour this year, according to Evonne Einspahr, tour co-chairman.

Square Dancing

Students from places like China and Egypt will be introduced to square dancing at Curtis.

The group will stay overnight at Kearney State Teachers College and will tour an alfalfa mill and cattle-feeder in Lexington.

The tour was enlarged from two-day affair to a three-day journey last year because of the enthusiasm and appreciation of the foreign students, Miss Einspahr said.

Accompanying the foreign students on the tour will be Charlene Ferguson, Karen Dryden, Marilyn Waechter and Miss Einspahr, all members of Mortar Board.

Joan Krueger of University Public Relations will go on the bus tour as chaperone.

Independents To Sponsor Council Slate

Board Interviews

Candidates Today

An Independent sponsored student council slate will be selected tonight from 4-7 p.m.

"Anyone eligible to file for student council may apply for an interview. Candidates selected may be both Greeks and Independents," according to Tom Smith of the election committee.

Students may sign for an interview appointment in the Union activities offices on both Ag and City campuses.

Interviews will be held in Parlor A of the City Union tonight between 4 and 7 p.m.

The interviewing board will consist of representatives from each of the major independent organizations on campus: Delta Sigma Phi, Love Hall, Fedde Hall, Burr Hall, RAM, Girls' Dorm, Towne Club and Co-op Council.

Selection of a slate will give independents an opportunity to support the major independent groups in running for student council," said Smith.

'Union Terrific' Distributes Top-Notch Worker Awards

'Books Exit-Sometime'

"That's the $64,000 question," said Bruce Campbell, manager of the Social Sciences and next Temple Building.

In 1950, the Regent's Bookstore moved to its present site in Temporary B.

The Bookstore acts as a price regulator for the sale of books to University students, explained Robert A. Stewart, assistant director of University services.

"Every student on campus gets some benefit whether he goes in the store or not because it affects the prices he pays," said Stewart.

In the last five years the dollar volume of sales has approximately doubled. Stewart cited this as evidence of the increased use of the store by students.

The old Ad building basement was its second home, earlier, he said—it seems that none of the KAM officers returned to school this fall.

After returning from the regional convention, the local chapter elected her president.

National Convention

The national presidency went to Miss Jacobs during the March 21-23 convention at the Southern University of Illinois.

Miss Jacobs commented that the national convention was especially interesting since the national founder of KAM, Cliff Edom and his were here.

"Trying to establish new KAM chapters will be our main job," said the new president.

The group plans to open chapters in South Dakota and other adjoining states, she said.

Two Presidencies

"This is a most unusual situation," said Prof. Morgan. It is rare for the local and national president to be the same person, he said.

Other KAM members who attended the national convention over the week-end were Fred Gibbs, Bob Blair, Lyman Cass and Charlene Gross.

Approximately 50 university KAM chapter delegates from the western three-fourths of the nation attended the convention.

Don Meaney, NBC national television news editor, gave one of the key speeches of the convention on integrating photojournalism into television newscasting.
