

Frosh Tankmen Score In AAU

Stocker Wins Junior Title, Swimmers Cop Five Places

Several of Nebraska's top swimmers competed in the Men's Midwestern AAU swimming meet in Omaha last Saturday and Sunday. Since the Husker's regular swimming season is over, the boys swam unattached.

Joe Stocker, a freshman, won the National Junior Indoor AAU 220 yard breast stroke. His time was 3:00.1. He also placed third in the 100 yard breast stroke.

Ron Bucklin, a sophomore, placed second to Stocker in the 220 yard breast stroke. Bucklin's time was 3:00.6.

Several other freshmen turned in outstanding performances also. Branch Walt on placed second in the Men's Midwestern AAU one-meter diving.

John Holman, a senior, came in behind Keown to place third in the 200 yard individual medley.

Roger Bosveld, also a freshman, finished second in the 100 yard freestyle.

Coach Hollie Lepley had words of praise for these boys. He said, "They should do a pretty good job next year. They are all a bunch of hard working boys. They should be able to cut down their times quite a bit."

He also stated that these fellows are doing well in their school work thus keeping them from becoming ineligible.

Golf Team Qualifies

McCustion Tops 1st Five

Roger Corn, last year's Class A backstroke champion, placed fourth in the 100 yard backstroke.

Jack Fair came in second in the Men's Midwestern AAU 100 backstroke.

Jerry Keown swam to second place in the 200 yard individual medley.

Five men have qualified for the southern golf swing beginning March 30, according to coach Bill Smith.

Mike McCustion, junior standout, led all qualifiers with scores of 75, 79, 78 for a total of 232 for the 54 qualifying holes. Tom Fulkerson and Dennis Mullins tied for second with a pair of 243; Don Waltemath, another sophomore was fourth just one stroke back at 244 and senior Tom Kissler was fifth with a 246.

Smith said he "was happy" about McCustion's qualifying rounds, but he pointed out that the southern swing is a traditional spring toughy. "We'll need luck," Smith said.

Fourteen men tried out for the trip according to Smith. Those trying out played 72 holes and their scores were computed on the basis of the best 54. Others trying out were: Larry Romjue, Bill Mohrman, Art Blackman, Jim Haberman, Ken Moore, Bill Stevens, Bill McClary, Clark Carpenter and Pete Schmitz.

The schedule for the spring tour includes: Wichita, Mar. 31; Oklahoma, Apr. 1; Oklahoma State, Apr. 2; Oklahoma Baptist, Apr. 3; Tulsa, Apr. 4.

The Huskers play another practice game Saturday against the Lincoln Talavas at Peter Pan Park. League play will open a week from Saturday.

Lois Waser, Independent, receives congratulations this week as the winner of the table tennis tournament.

She defeated Sara Colby, Tri Delt, in the final game. In the semi-finals of the ping pong contest, Lois defeated Barb Britton, Alpha Phi, and Sara defeated Jana Hruska, Chi Omega.

Basketball games scheduled this week are: Wed., Kappa vs. Pi Phi; Thurs., Chi Omega vs. Tri Delt.

Last week's basketball games had the following results: Alpha Xis defeated Pi Phis, 25-24; Kappas downed Kappa Delta, 16-11; Chi Omegas beat Alpha Phi, 26-2.

There will be one more week of basketball after vacation, during which the finals will be played.

Both Fencing and Rifle Clubs are over, but no results are available yet.

The second week after vacation, badminton, tennis singles and softball contests will begin.

Back Again

Unfortunately, after a week and a half, this column is once again appearing. It didn't go out of existence, which I know is a disappointment to you! I say it's unfortunate not because I've failed to deliver my weekly message to you, but rather because it's finally gotten in! What can you do?

Tough Darts!

A most disheartening thing (for lack of a better word) occurred in golf class last week. It became necessary for the members of my class to disband the well-known BSU, which stand, of course, for the Back Scratching Union.

The activities concerned in belonging and being a good member of this elite club unfortunately disturbed our teacher. We hope that she will accept our apologies. It was just one of those things . . . We wanted to stay awake in class, so we occupied ourselves and amused each other scratching backs! Don't laugh, it was fun while it lasted.

Needless to say, some of the BSUs were such effective workers that the members receiving treatment fell asleep anyway! I knew there was some reason for having to discontinue our little games . . . tough darts, as usual.

MY CLOSEST SHAVE by Bill Bridgeman

"My closest shave was during the first try at a speed record in the fantastic Douglas Skyrocket," says Test Pilot Bill Bridgeman, author of The Lonely Sky. "A special B-29 dropped me like a bomb at 30,000 feet . . . I turned on my rockets and climbed to 40,000 . . . when suddenly all power failed. Rocket power, cabin pressure, heat—everything went—and the window frosted over so I couldn't see. Finally I got the radio going on an emergency battery . . . and a pilot in a chase plane talked me down to a blind landing!"

Soccer Club Drops First

The University Soccer Club played a practice game against the strong Omaha Lithuanians Sunday afternoon, and came out on the short end of a 3-1 score.

The University Club, led by the strong pivot play of Les Heathcote and good defensive play by fullbacks Steve Takos and Capt. Martin Caranecado, played the Omaha team to a scoreless tie the first half.

The second half was a different story however as each side changed goals and the Lincolnites had to face the wind. The Husker defense and offense failed to click for a good part of the second half which resulted in two quick goals for Omaha.

Finally, after a spirited rally on the part of the Husker defense, Martyn Bowden kicked the ball into the nets for the Huskers only goal. The Omaha team added another goal near the end of the game to complete the scoring.

The Huskers play another practice game Saturday against the Lincoln Talavas at Peter Pan Park. League play will open a week from Saturday.

couldn't go wrong at Nebraska.

He's majoring in Business Administration, and hopes to take a government post in his country when he graduates. He likes the University, and hasn't had too much trouble with his studies, but the change in climate has been hard for him to get used to. In Jamaica, the temperature is always between 60 and 95, quite a contrast to the unpredictable and seasonless weather of the Cornhusker state.

"I'm not used to wearing a hat, and a coat, and gloves, and a scarf, and all that stuff when I go outside," Al explains. "Sometimes I forget them, and then—Brrrrr!—I catch a cold."

About the other thing he misses about his homeland is its 9:1 girl-boy ratio. He has pictures in his room of at least a dozen Jamaican girls, and writes to them all.

When the first blizzard of the season arrived last November, Al Edwards, freshman sprinter from Jamaica, and some of his friends at Selleck Quadrangle celebrated the occasion by building a huge snowman in the north courtyard. They were just putting the finishing touches on when a group of broad-shouldered, and apparently drunk, upperclassmen came by and decided that it would make a good tackling dummy.

Though the pudgy, nine-foot tall monument had little artistic value, the boys who had built it were not anxious to see it knocked down by perfect strangers. They moved in front of it and tried to talk the newcomers into building their own snowman.

The Charles Atlas boys vaguely realized that Al meant business, and deciding that their heads would be heavy enough in the morning as it was, they quietly retired.

What impressed Al most about the incident was not that the snowman was left standing, but that within a few weeks, he and the boys who had wanted to knock it down were the best of friends.

"Everyone's friendly here," says Al, "that's what I like about living in the dorm." With four other foreign students, the good-natured Jamaican has formed an international calypso combo that has played at the Military Ball and several Union banquets. An expert on the Rhumba, Cha-cha, and other Latin American dances, he is always in demand at parties.

In track, Al runs the 60, 100, and 220-yard dashes in 6.4, 9.8, and 21.9 seconds, respectively. During his high school career, climaxed when he and three other Kingston speedsters raced to the national quarter-mile relay

Where there's a Man... there's a Marlboro

The cigarette designed for men that women like.

Mild-burning Marlboro combines a prized recipe (created in Richmond, Virginia) of the world's great tobaccos with a cellulose acetate filter of consistent dependability. You get big friendly flavor with all the mildness a man could ask for.
