

Council Okays Teacher Evaluation

Faculty To See Proposal Next

An instruction evaluation sheet suggested by the council committee on student activities was approved by the Student Council Wednesday.

Connie Hurst, chairman of the committee explained that after being approved by the council the sheet would go to the faculty sub-committee on student affairs.

In the discussion on the suggested form, Dave Rhodes pointed out that the sheets are intended for use by the individual instructors, not by the departments.

He also emphasized that it was the total teaching effectiveness that would be rated, not the instructors personally.

The sheet includes eighteen points which the student rates 1 to 5, inferior, poor, average, good, and superior.

The points include such criteria as knowledge of subject, organization of course material, value of text assigned, value of lectures given, ability to lecture effectively, and fairness in testing and grading.

There is space for additional suggestions and criticisms at the bottom of the sheet.

The only objection to the sheet as submitted voiced by any council member concerned two rating items. Personal appearance and bearing and friendliness and pleasantness in manner.

Some council members said that since these were personal characteristics of the instructor they did not have a bearing on the teaching effectiveness.

However, it was decided to retain these items on the sheet as submitted to the faculty sub-committee.

Student Tribunal
Dave Keene, chairman of the tribunal committee reported that he had written to all major colleges and univer-

SC Filing Will Close Saturday

Filing for positions on Student Council will close Saturday noon, according to Bill Spilker, Council elections chairman.

Filings began on Monday and though about 65 forms were given out by the Office of Student Affairs, only about a dozen had been returned by Thursday afternoon.

Applications must be accompanied by a petition of 25 valid signatures of students in the college for which the applicant is filing. Representatives for organizations need not obtain these signatures.

Filing Procedure
All applications must give the students accumulated average, college and academic class and must be certified by the office of the registrar.

The registrar's office will be open today until 4:30 p.m. and Saturday until noon. Application blanks are available and must be returned to the office of Frank Hallgren, associate dean of student affairs.

Eligible are freshmen and sophomores with a cumulative average of 5.0 who are bona fide members of the college they propose to represent.

Organizational representatives must be sophomores.

Positions Open

Colleges and organizations represented are: Agriculture (2), Arts and Sciences (2), Engineering (3), Law, (1) Pharmacy, (1) Teachers (3), Dentistry, (1) Inter Co-op Council, City Campus Religious Council, Builders, Panhellenic, BABW, Corn Cobs, AWS, Coed Counselors, IFC, Cosmopolitan Club, RAM Council, (1).

Tassels Plan Initiation Dinner

The Tassels Formal Initiation Banquet will be held April 7 at 5:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom, according to Jane Savener, Tassels publicity chairman.

The new active Tassels will be announced at the banquet. Awards will be presented to the outstanding active and the outstanding pledge. The awards are judged on the basis of services contributed to the club.

Entertainment at the banquet will consist of an interpretive dance by Sally Wengert and songs by the Farmhouse Quartet and the Coeds, girls trio.

sities in the U.S. concerning their handbook, student tribunal, honor system, student code, and other phases of student government.

Nominating Committee
John Kinnier, chairman of the nominating committee explained the procedure for selecting judges for the student tribunal.

According to the constitution of the tribunal, which has not yet been approved by the board of regents, 4 seniors, 2 juniors, and one law student will sit on the tribunal.

The nominating committee proposes to select a minimum of six seniors, two law students, and three juniors from eligible applicants.

Squad Gets New Blood

Five Join Ranks Of Cheerleaders

The University acquired five new cheerleaders after tryouts Thursday night.

They are Judy Zikmund, Kay Hirschback, Bill Wells, Jim Sheldon and Al Krizelman.

Old members of the Yell Squad who will be retained include Margaret Marshall, Karen Krueger, Brent Chambers and Bill McQuistan.

McQuistan will be Yell King and Chambers will be his assistant.

The Yell Squad members were chosen by a student-faculty committee composed of Bill Orwig, athletic director; Jake Geier, yell squad advisor; Gordon Warner, president of Corn Cobs; Ed Stoller, innocents representative; Joan Heusner, Mortar Board representative; George Ann Humphrey, president of Tassels; Bill McQuistan and Brent Chambers, both of the Yell Squad.

Prior to the final tryout, the Yell Squad had an awards banquet at Tony and Luigi's.

The plaque for Yell King went to Bill McQuistan.

Ann Wade received a trophy for being on the squad for three years. Karen Krueger was presented a plaque for two years on the squad.

A megaphone necklace was presented to both Margaret Marshall and Charlene Anthony for one year of cheerleading participation.

Don Bell and Brent Chambers received sweaters for being with the squad for a year.

Love Opens Doors To Spring Studies

Vacation hours for Love Library have been announced by Frank Lundy, director.

Saturday, March 29 8 a.m.-noon
Sunday, March 30 closed
Monday, March 30-Friday, April 4 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Saturday, April 5 8 a.m.-noon

Sunday, April 6 closed
Regular library hours resume Monday, April 7.

Four Cadets Get Army Appointments

Four University of Nebraska Army ROTC cadets were selected for regular Army appointment Thursday.

In a special ceremony, Col. Vernon Rawie Army, professor of Military Science recognized the four cadets.

The cadets are Robert Baker, James Kiely Jr., Allan Irwin and Jonnie Fink.

Col. Rawie said that the ROTC is not selective enough in choosing men for the advanced course so applicants should be screened more carefully to insure getting top-notch men.

Lab Emphasizes Advertising, TV

Television and advertising will be the featured topic on the Speech 176 lab program April 7 at 3 p.m.

Roy E. Schumacker, general manager of Galen E. Broyles Co. Inc. Advertising of Lincoln will give a short talk on the subject.

The public is invited to the lab held in 103 Temple building.

the
Vol. 32, No. 89
Lincoln, Nebraska

DAILY NEBRASKAN

Friday, March 28, 1958

IFC Elects, Picks Council Slate

Independents Name Ticket

Interviewing Committee Selects Eleven

A slate of Council candidates who will receive backing from independent campus groups was drawn up last night by a committee representing the major independent organizations.

Those who will receive independent support in the May 5 Council elections are:

Arts and Sciences, Emmie Limpo, Sandy Compher and Mary Lou Valencia; Engineering, George Porter and Carroll Novicki; Pharmacy, Howard Holmquist; Business Administration, Kent Murray; Ag, Gallord Longmore and Teachers Mavis Dvorak, Carol Kucera and Sharon Houska.

The interviewing committee who chose the slate was composed of Fred Goocher, Delta Sigma Pi, Jeanne Woodside, Women's Residence Halls, Gary Cushing, Coops, Lyle Hansen, RAM and Diana Maxwell, Lincoln.

Greek and Independent
"We are interested in backing the person because of his qualifications and not merely because he is an independent," Cushing said. Several of the candidates who will receive independent backing are affiliated, he added.

Miss Limpo, an Arts and Science sophomore, is a Daily Nebraskan copy editor, a member of NUCWA and an AUF assistant. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Compher, a freshman, is on the House council at the Women's Residence Halls. She is an AWS worker, a Daily Nebraskan reporter and a member of Orchesis.

Miss Valencia, a freshman, is a board member of both WAA and AWS. She is on the House Council of the Women's Residence Halls and is a member of Aquagettes.

Porter, a chemical engineer, is secretary of Sigma Nu and a member of the Blue Print staff.

Novicki, sophomore in electrical engineering, is art editor of the Blue Print, member of AIEE, Builders, and is assistant social chairman of Theta Xi.

Holmquist, sophomore in Pharmacy, is a member of LSA, Kappa Psi and is vice president of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Murray, freshman in Business Administration, is a member of Madrigal Singers, the Union Entertainment Committee and a member of Selleck Quadrangle.

Longmore, sophomore in Ag is YMCA program chairman and is sports chairman of Ag Men Coop.

Miss Dvorak, freshman in Teachers, is a worker in AWS, BABW, and Red Cross. She is a member of Newman Club and Women's Residence Halls.

Miss Kucera, freshman, is a Coed Counselor board member, and AWS, BABW and Red Cross worker.

Miss Houska, freshman, is a worker on two Union committees, and is a member of the Residence Halls for Women.

Cadwallader, President; 10 Chosen For SC Test

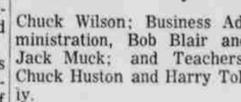

The Intrafraternity Council elected Gary Cadwallader its president for 1958-59 Wednesday night and approved a slate of men whom they would endorse in the Student Council elections May 5.

Other officers elected were John Glynn, vice president; Tom Neff, treasurer; and Bob Krumme, secretary.

Named for IFC endorsement in the council elections were: Agriculture, and Bob Paine; Arts and Sciences

Cadwallader

Glynn

Charles Wilson, Phi Delta Theta, is a sophomore in Bus Ad. He is a section editor of the Cornhusker and Co-scholarship chairman of Phi Delta Theta.

Jack Muck, Phi Delta Theta, is an AUF board member, assistant chairman of IFC community service day, and a Kosmet Klub Worker.

A member of Alpha Tau Omega, Charles Huston is a sophomore in Teachers. He is rush chairman of ATO and on the varsity baseball team.

Harry Tolly, Sigma Chi, is a sophomore in teachers. He is a member of the varsity football team, Mu Epsilon Nu teachers fraternity, Pi Epsilon Kappa, P. E. fraternity. He is corresponding secretary of Sigma Chi.

A member of Delta Upsilon, Jack Neilson is a sophomore in Engineering. He is a Kosmet Klub worker, Treasurer of the American Society of Ag. Engineers, and a copy editor of the Blueprint.

George Porter, Sigma Nu, is also a sophomore in Engineering. He is an NROTC regular and secretary of Sigma Nu.

David Godbey, a Theta Xi sophomore in Engineering is a Kosmet Klub worker and a member of Pub Board. He is publicity chairman of Theta Xi.

Jim Roman was elected president of the city campus YMCA Wednesday night at the organizational meeting for the coming year.

Harry Brace, Dennis Kendall and Denny Lockman were chosen as vice presidents. Ron Seely was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Roman, an Arts and Science sophomore, was acting as temporary president of the organization until the reorganizational meeting. He is a Cornhusker section editor, Publicity Chairman for Young Republicans, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Brace was elected vice president in charge of membership. He is a junior in Business Administration, a "most eligible bachelor" candidate, and a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Kendall, vice president in charge of projects, is a freshman in Business Administration, past chairman of the YMCA Pentzer Park project, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A senior in Business Administration, Lockman is program vice president. He is a member of Theta Chi.

Seely, a freshman in Arts and Sciences, is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Herb Probasco was named chairman of the publicity committee. This committee will work with the YM-YW fireside chats.

"I'm confident that the City Campus YM will have a successful year. Our constitution is all but approved by student council. The student council representative clause seems to be holding us up a bit; but as I see it, we will probably share a representative with YWCA, Roman commented.

Metheny Speaks On Leadership; PE Convocation Attended By 750

USC Professor Says 'Everyone Is Leader; Choice Of Responsibility Requires Courage'

An approximated 750 students, faculty members and Lincolinites attended the Women's Physical Education and Sociology department, convocation on leadership.

Dr. Eleanor Metheny, professor of physical education at the University of Southern California, spoke on "The Courage to Lead", Wednesday in the Union ballroom.

"The leadership we need most today is not big, glamorous, acclaimed, 'name' leadership, but the steady, continuous, often unrecognized leadership which is exhibited as we work one by one in our own communities," explained Dr. Metheny.

"The leader must have the courage to accept the fact that he takes the risk of being wrong," said Dr. Metheny. "Every leader will be wrong sometime."

Two Types
Dr. Metheny cited two types of leaders — the real and the 'big operator'.

The leader believes in something, while the operator wants something.

Five characteristics were noted for the effective leader. People should be seen as individuals, not as "the student body" or "the public."

Miss Metheny

A specific goal should be set.

People, facts and goals should be looked at with reality and it should be realized that there is no "easy way".

The leader should be able to accept failure and defeat and not give up.

College Life
Dr. Metheny related these characteristics to college life, saying that they applied to activities. "A person should do well in a few, rather than just belong to a great number."

"The real leaders who will determine what the world will be like are right here at the University. Everyone is a potential leader. The choice of whether you want to accept the responsibility is up to you," she concluded.

Dr. Metheny has taught at Wellesley College and the State University of Iowa in addition to the University of Southern California.

She has contributed widely to professional literature, her latest book being, "The Trouble with Women". Her papers have been translated into Japanese, Spanish and Korean.

Campus Religious Enthusiasm High

Interest Has Become Intellectually Respectable

Religious interest of University students is high, campus pastors and religious workers say.

But these religious leaders wonder if the interest is a serious inquiry into the basis of the faiths, or merely an indifferent search on the part of the individual student to place himself into the "religious intellectual" class.

Campus Survey
An Episcopalian chaplain at Penn State recently expressed his views on the religious interest subject in the March 29 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. The chaplain, Jones B. Shannon, claimed a resurgence of religion among college students.

Results of a campus survey on the subject, largely agreeing with Shannon's statements, are presented below.

Rev. Gustave Ferre, dean of the Cotner School of Religion, commented:

"We have the largest enrollment (in the Cotner School of Religion) in eleven years. There seems to be a real seriousness of interest in the ones who take the courses. They attempt to make a serious academic inquiry into the validity and adequacy of the Christian faith."

Rev. Ferre cited the increased use of library facilities of the school and the asking of more meaningful questions by students as demonstrating their seriousness.

Great Interest
The Right Rev. Msgr. George Schuster, Catholic student chaplain said, "Actually there is a great interest and participation. There always has been, judging from observation and experience. The students need religion and they want it."

"In recent years there has been an exhilarated interest in religion," said Rev. Darrell Patton, pastor of the Methodist Student House. "But this is not necessarily an interest in institutional religion."

"An open interest in religion has become intellectually respectable," he added.

Betty Wilson, executive director of the University YWCA, said that there seems to be "a speculative interest" in religion.

"We are interested in theories and concepts and trends but many fail to see how these questions apply to their own lives," she said.

Rev. Rex Knowles, University pastor for Presbyterians and Congregational students, commented:

"My own feeling is that I've never felt a lack of interest at the University," adding, "but I don't think we are the Kingdom of God."

Citing the religious observance in most living units on campus, the attendance at Church services in the community and the response of the campus to the AUF drive as evidence of religious interest, Knowles said of the students:

"I think their intentions are good."

Conformity
Pastor Alvin Petersen, National Lutheran Council pastor to students, said:

"By and large, there are two major characteristics of the Midwestern students —conformity and religious complacency. Although there is an apparent upsurge in student attendance at worship, there is too little direct application in daily life.

"There is a core of students who are committed to the church and are vitally concerned. They are a significant leaven in campus life."

Symposium Ends Today

Robert Malmo, professor of psychology at McGill University, presented his paper on "Motivation and Behavioral Arousal: A Psychological Approach" today at 9:30 p.m. in Social Sciences 201.

His talk was the last of three for the Sixth Annual Nebraska Symposium on Motivation, second session.

Professors Richard Littman and Charles Eriksen spoke Thursday at the Symposium.

The papers will be discussed today at 2 p.m.

YMCA Selects Roman

Reorganization Of Group Near

Jim Roman was elected president of the city campus YMCA Wednesday night at the organizational meeting for the coming year.

Harry Brace, Dennis Kendall and Denny Lockman were chosen as vice presidents. Ron Seely was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Roman, an Arts and Science sophomore, was acting as temporary president of the organization until the reorganizational meeting. He is a Cornhusker section editor, Publicity Chairman for Young Republicans, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Brace was elected vice president in charge of membership. He is a junior in Business Administration, a "most eligible bachelor" candidate, and a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Kendall, vice president in charge of projects, is a freshman in Business Administration, past chairman of the YMCA Pentzer Park project, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A senior in Business Administration, Lockman is program vice president. He is a member of Theta Chi.

Seely, a freshman in Arts and Sciences, is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Herb Probasco was named chairman of the publicity committee. This committee will work with the YM-YW fireside chats.

"I'm confident that the City Campus YM will have a successful year. Our constitution is all but approved by student council. The student council representative clause seems to be holding us up a bit; but as I see it, we will probably share a representative with YWCA, Roman commented.